EASIER CREDITS, JOHNSON AIM IN NRA WORK

Seeks Better Terms for Little Concerns.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Relaxation of credit conditions, so that big and little men can get loans to help them enlist under the NRA is the latest effort of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, as announced by him today.

The recovery administrator declared he didn't think the banks of the country were doing their part in making money available in the wide channels of general commerce. Vague as to what he will do about it, the general indicated, in today's conversation with newspaper men, that he will confer with members of the federal reserve board and with Chairman Jesse Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. He hopes to devise ways and means of inducing bankers to grant loans on classes of security which they are now not willing to accept.

Would Restore Confidence.

"Bankers ought to resume the financing of ordinary commercial operations," Gen. Johnson said. "I have studied the figures on commercial credit trends recently, and I do not think they indicate much loosening up on the part of bankers.

"We are working on that now, but listen, the ordinary banker wants sound risks. Most of them got pretty badly burnt in past years, and we've got to establish some basis for assuring them safety.

"I don't believe you can force extension of credit by fiat. The whole trouble in this country has been lack of confidence by all classes of people, and we've got to do what we can to bring confidence in business, in loans, and in the future back again."

Day's Other Developments.

Several other significant developments during the NRA day were the following:

The struggle being waged between employers on one side and union labor leaders on the other over just what the labor provisions of the national industrial recovery act may mean will be settled possibly tomorrow in a formal decision to be handed down by Gen. Johnson.

A division of the NRA was created to handle the all important issues being raised daily now on how American goods made under the increased labor costs imposed by the NRA can compete with goods made more cheaply in the foreign markets. Indications were that immediate steps will be taken to set up and organization for the raising of tariff and embargo walls to keep out the foreign manufactures, but at once this plan has struck snags of international diplomacy.

The coal and automobile codes, which a week ago were ordered speeded up by President Roosevelt, still were bogged in the NRA procedure, but Gen. Johnson said he hoped to have both codes in completed form ready for the President's signature by the end of this week.

The public hearings on a code affecting 1,500,000 retail stores with 5,000,000 workers were opened today.

Clash Over Labor Views.

Labor leaders, particularly President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, have been declaiming frequently of late that the NRA gave the blessings of the law upon organized labor, securing immediate unionization of industry. Industrial leaders, not declaiming, but grimly insistent, have asserted their intention of maintaining the open shop and of resisting the advance of organized labor's agents in guiding the efforts of workers in their bargainings.

Gen. Johnson has sought informally to settle the issue, but it has been cropping out violently in the consideration of the automobile code. The administration, it is said, has promised the auto manufacturers that they will be permitted a qualifying clause in their code, upholding their right to deal with employés on a merit system, independent of unionism, and President Green has opposed that clause.

In an effort to clear the air of this uncertainty, to assure employers and to advise union leaders definitely of their rights, Gen. Johnson said he intended, as soon as the pressure of his duties permitted, to issue "clarifying language" on the question.

It is expected that the language decided upon by the general will be in-

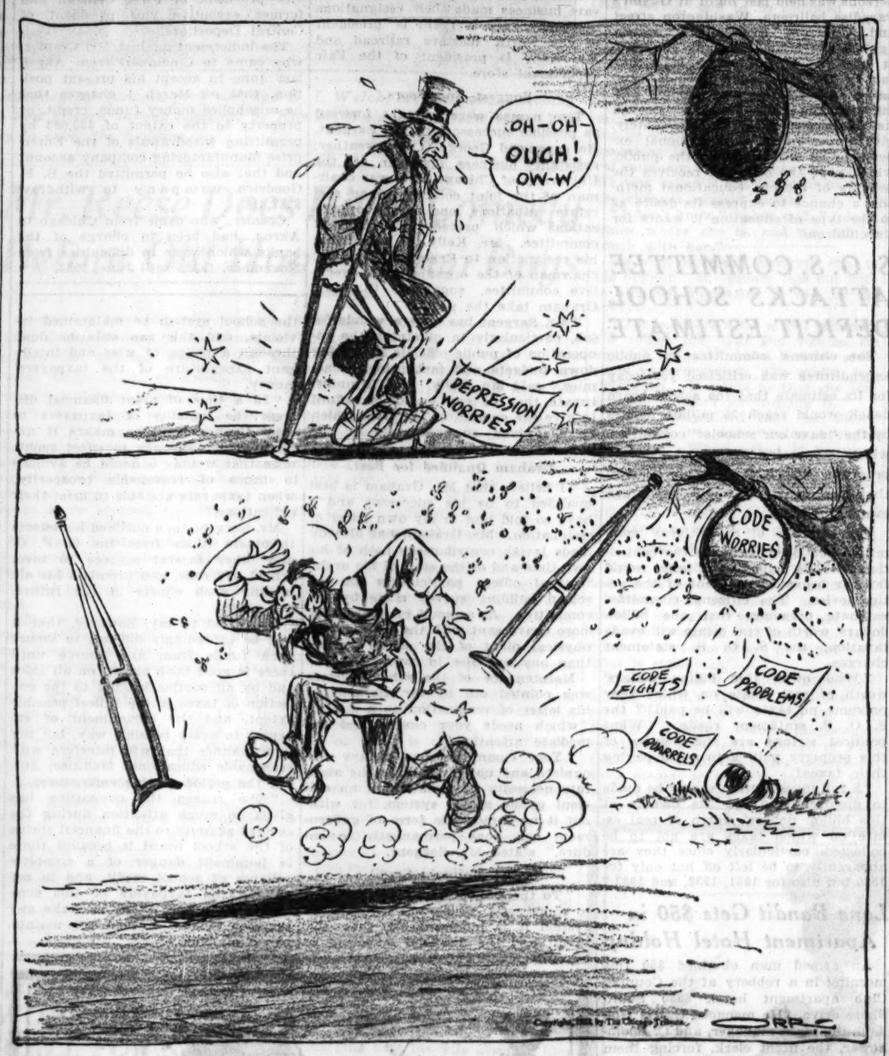
AT LAST WE'VE RUN ACROSS SOMETHING THAT TAKES OUR MINDS OFF THE DEPRESSION



BARBER TRADE ENLIVENED BY DEAL IN POLES

George Engiram, a barber supplies salesman, has go-getter ideas. This was revealed yesterday when Engiram, who is 30 years old and lives at 1614 West 15th street, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace John J. Peters, in Wilmette.

Several weeks ago Engiram called on Edward Borre, a barber at 815 Ridge road, Wilmette, and discussed lotions, lathers, razors, and other articles of the trade.

The following day Borre discovered that the barber pole which had stood for years in front of his shop was missing. The pole cost $85 new and Borre was distressed.

After a search the Wilmette police a few days ago found Borre's pole in front of Sam Faven's barbership at 3416 Irving Park boulevard, Chicago. Inside the shop, discussing articles of trade, sat Engiram. When the police asked Barber Faven where he got the barber pole he said he bought it from Engiram. So Engiram was arrested.

He was arraigned yesterday. Barber Borre told his story, and his complaint was not so much that Engiram had stolen his barber pole. It was that Engiram had afterwards sold him another pole for $20 to replace the stolen one. Engiram was held to the grand jury in bonds of $500.

FREE LUNCH HITS RESTAURANTS IN CHICAGO HEIGHTS

The free lunch which saloonkeepers serve with beer is ruining the restaurant business in Chicago Heights, according to a protest last night to commissioners of the suburb by a delegation of restaurant and hotel owners and the secretary of the chamber of commerce.

They complained that in many of the town's brew dispensaries a stein of beer entitles the purchaser to a free helping of fish, chop suey, baked ham, roast pig, or a variety of sandwiches. The old dish of pretzels has been replaced by a veritable meal that so appeases the appetite of the drinker that he scorns the regular eating establishments, they contend.

Acting Mayor William H. Freeman promised an investigation and proposed an ordinance to compel the lunch servers to buy restaurant licenses in addition to the regular beer license.

Plotter Killed; Friend in Jail for Extortion

Rhinelander, Wis., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—A pair of extortionists tried to collect $5,000 from a Mercer hotel man here this afternoon. One was shot to death and the other captured.

In a cell of the Oneida county jail here tonight the captured man identified himself as John Stokie, 38, and named his confederate as Robert Rogers, 44. Both are believed to be exconvicts from Hurley, Wis.

Demand $5,000 Ransom.

On Saturday of last week they had mailed a letter to the hotel man, George Goodroe, proprietor of the Rex hotel at Mercer, advising him to get $5,000 in small bills ready if he valued his life. They warned him against listing the numerals of the bills or informing the police.

Yesterday they sent a second letter instructing Goodroe to take the money with him in a car, drive 40 miles south from Mercer to Rhinelander, and proceed south out of Rhinelander on highway 63 toward Merrill.

Goodroe would find a white flag waving at an undisclosed spot along the road, the letter advised. He was to drop the money there without stopping and proceed on to Merrill before warning police. Otherwise, he was warned, the letter writers would finish him with a machine gun.

Starts on Decoy Trip.

About 1 p. m. today Goodroe set forth alone in his car, taking a package. Meanwhile Police Chief Morris Straub of Rhinelander, Sheriff John Farman and Undersheriff Hans Rodd, and Sheriff Jerome Erspamer of Hurley were secreted in the thickets along the road, having found the white flag.

Goodroe passed by, dropped the package, and sped on, about 3 o'clock. Some twenty minutes later a second car approached. Two occupants alighted beside the flag and began searching the weeds.

Grabs Package; Killed.

Rogers had just picked up the package when the police chief, the sheriffs, and seven other officers stepped out of the thickets and opened fire. Rogers fell dead with a rifle bullet through his chest.

Stokie, unwounded in the hail of bullets, crawled under the car, yelling for mercy. He was seized.

A search of Stokie and of Rogers' body disclosed that neither had been armed.

GOLF CADDIES MAY COME UNDER RECOVERY ACT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Golf caddies would come under a code drawn up today by officers and directors of the Club Managers Association of America for submission to the recovery administration tomorrow.

The code would forbid caddies under 16 years of age from working more than three hours a day, or during school hours, but would leave the older boys under the limitations of the blanket employment agreement.

All employés of clubs, both country and city, would come under the proposed code, with a 48 hour week for women workers and a 56 hour week for men, and wage limitations of the blanket agreement.

The club officers, headed by B. E. O'Grady, manager of the Hamilton club of Chicago, president, started work on the code after NRA officials informed them that clubs, as employers of labor, were subject to the recovery act.

The opinion expressed by the administration was contrary to a recent opinion by Livingston Platt, counsel to the United States Golf association, who interpreted the recovery act as being directed toward industrial and commercial firms and held clubs were not subject to it.

WORK OUT PLAN TO GUARANTEE BANK DEPOSITS

96 Per Cent of Them to Be Insured.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt will set up within the next week the huge federal bank deposit insurance corporation which, beginning on Jan. 1, is to guarantee the security of all deposits up to $2,500.

In announcing plans for setting up the government corporation, Controller of the Currency J. F. T. O'Connor, who will be ex-officio a director of it, declared that 96 per cent of all bank accounts will be protected in full, since that proportion of accounts, he made known, is under the $2,500 limit. The larger accounts will be protected only to the extent of $2,500.

State Bank Rules Not Ready.

Appointment of the two directors is the only step remaining before the guarantee corporation gets into full swing on its preliminary work. O'Connor said today that he had ready for the board suggestions on all the immediate problems facing the corporation.

O'Connor added, however, that he had not completely worked out the requirements which a state bank will have to meet in order to be approved as solvent and to be admitted to membership in the guarantee fund.

That the corporation will use its power to comb deadwood out of the banking system, however, was indicated by Walter J. Cummings of Chicago, executive assistant to the secretary of the treasury who has been working with O'Connor. He declared that the corporation will be strict in its examinations, will not pass unsafe banks.

Effective on Jan. 1.

The first and so-called temporary phase of the corporation's guarantee of deposits is scheduled by law to take effect on Jan. 1. The corporation will then "insure" up to $2,500 of each deposit account in banks which become members.

All open banks which are members of the federal reserve system automatically become members of the insurance fund. State banks which are not reserve members must be certified by their state banking authorities and by the board of the corporation before being admitted to the benefits of the fund.

Approximately 96 per cent of all bank accounts will be guaranteed 100 per cent by the fund, a recent survey by the federal reserve board shows. In national banks alone the amount to be guaranteed is estimated at about 8 billion 265 million dollars.

Examination of the thousands of state banks which will seek membership in the insurance corporation is the major problem confronting the body, O'Connor explained today. He already has mapped a procedure to meet this problem and has it ready for the approval of the board. Between 1,000 and 1,500 names from which the corporation can choose its examiners have been compiled. O'Connor said that he would propose two innovations in the examination of state banks which apply. The most important, he said, would be that he intends to let the state banks submit their own certified conditions statement.

Then, examiners sent out by the corporation merely will have to check the statements which will be made out on forms prescribed by the corporation. The time required for the work will be shortened by this procedure, it is expected.

The second innovation will be decentralization of the examinations. A chief examiner will be designated by the corporation for each state and sent to the state capitol to coöperate with the state officials.

7 WARS, 7 WIVES, AT 84, HE'S AT VETERANS' FETE

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Staff Sergeant John J. Van Duzen, who has "spent fifty-five of my eighty-four years in the U. S. army," is one of the notables at the convention of Spanish American war veterans here. He says "I have been in seven wars and have had seven wives, so you might say—war or peace—I've been fighting all my life."

Van Duzen in 1924, after having completed a half century of army service, was granted a special enlistment by Gen. John Pershing. He has received sixty-six service medals and decorations as a result of his many campaigns, and is looking forward to another war.

Recover Auto of Salesman Shot by Buyer

The suspected killer of Sidney Adelman, 28 years old, 5120 Chicago avenue, an automobile salesman, who was shot to death in North Riverside yesterday afternoon by a man for whom he was demonstrating a car, was trailed early this morning to the railroad yards just south of the Hawthorne race track in Cicero.

He was sighted walking hurriedly south in Cicero avenue at 35th street by Policemen J. Whynott and W. Newman of Cicero and chased into the yards, where he eluded them. A few minutes later other police found Adelman's abandoned automobile, which the murderer had stolen, at 38th street and Cicero avenue.

Find Slayer's Gun.

A snub nosed gun, containing two discharged cartridges, evidently used in slaying Adelman, was found in a pocket of the car.

The cornering of the suspected slayer in the railroad yards brought a dozen police squads to the scene, and they began a search of the area. The search also extended to the stretch of prairies immediately to the south of the Hawthorne track. Darkness prevented a thorough search, and after an hour it was decided to resume the hunt at dawn with the aid of extra squads, including several from the Brighton Park district in Chicago.

The slayer of Adelman was described as an unkempt man in cowboy attire, around 30 years old, by associates of Adelman at the Drije Motor Sales company, Cermak road and Scoville avenue, Berwyn.

Canvass Other Agencies.

Armed with that description, police made a canvass of other auto agencies along Cermak road and a Berwyn squad comprised of Sergt. Charles Trucksa and Detectives Ed Ptacek and Charles Rudderham, found a clew to a man of that description.

They learned that at the Cicero Auto Sales company, 5420 Cermak road, such a man had inquired about cars and had given his name as Joseph Swanda and his address as the Cicero Grand hotel.

The squad went to that hotel last night. A Joseph Swanda, they learned, had checked out at 3 p. m. In his room they found two cowboy hats and a cowgirl hat. Other cowboy attire was found. A search was then started for Swanda. Then late last night the Cicero squad sighted a man in Cicero avenue at 35th street carrying two suitcases. He dropped them in his flight.

Find Driver's License.

In the suitcases detectives found papers bearing the name Joseph Swanda. An automobile driver's license also was found. This was issued at Ulysses, Neb., in March, 1933, to Joseph Swanda. It described him as 25 years old and of light complexion. Police said this evidence dovetailed circumstantially with other clews.

Jack Hinzman, manager of the used car lots where Adelman worked, said the killer first appeared last week. He reappeared yesterday, according to Hinzman, and rode away with Adelman in Adelman's own car. Adelman was suspicious of the man, Hinzman said, although he finally agreed to give him a demonstration.

Killed Soon After Start.

The two men must have driven immediately to the subdivision where the killing took place. It is about a half mile east of Des Plaines avenue and five blocks south of Cermak road, in North Riverside. Lieut. William Bertels of the Riverside force found the body of Adelman lying in a street in the subdivision. Two shots had been fired into his head behind the right ear, so close that the powder had burned his hair.

Adelman was married and had a son, Jack, 7 years old.

JAIL EVANGELIST ON A CHARGE OF STEALING BIBLES

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 22.—(AP)—An evangelist, who said he was Dr. Charles Arthur de Bussy du Bugginsdale Vincent Maurice John Courtney Hetherington, was arrested here tonight on a charge of stealing Bibles.

Police took the evangelist as he was about to open an evening service at the Pentecostal Church of God on complaint of Mrs. W. F. West of Detroit.

Mrs. West told police Dr. Hetherington stole the Bibles in Detroit two weeks ago. She and her husband, she told police, were driving through Des Moines tonight, saw part of Dr. Hetherington's name on a sign on the front of the church, and called officers.

Mrs. West said there is a warrant in Detroit accusing Dr. Hetherington of the theft.

In custody of officers, Dr. Hetherington turned the service over to Mrs. Nellie Cox, pastor of the church, with the remark:

"I'll be back in the pulpit tomorrow night."

Mr. and Mrs. West also are evangelists, they said.

HOOVER AVOIDS TESTIMONY IN BANK HEARING

Palo Alto, Cal., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover today refused an invitation to appear personally at Detroit, Mich., and testify regarding the attitude of his administration toward the closing there last winter of two national banks.

In a telegram to Harry S. Toy, prosecutor at Detroit, Mr. Hoover pointed out that "detailed and competent information as to the relation of federal authorities to the events leading to the closing of these banks can be obtained only from the former officials of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, the federal reserve board, the then controller of the currency, and from the record."

Ex-President's Telegram.

The text of Mr. Hoover's telegram follows:

"I have received from the press a copy of a letter addressed to me by yourself requesting that I should come to Detroit as a witness in the inquiry you are conducting in respect to the closing of the Michigan banks last February.

"Detailed and competent information as to the relation of federal authorities to the events leading to the closing of these banks can be obtained only from the former officials of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, the federal reserve board, the then controller of the currency, and from the record.

"Other Banks Able."

"My recollection of my own connection is that on a Thursday evening in February the officials informed me that the Guardian Trust company of Detroit was in difficulties, was undergoing a run by its depositors and that should it close it would precipitate a panic run on other Detroit and Michigan banks. The impression I received from them was that the other leading banks of Detroit had not been subject to runs and were able to meet their desposit responsibilities if there was no general panic in the city, although they necessarily had a number of slow assets in Detroit real estate mortgages.

"I was informed the Guardian Trust situation was such that even with the utmost of government assistance possible under the law it would be insufficient without outside help and reorganization internally. The request of these gentlemen, and I understood of leading men in Detroit, was that I should endeavor to bring about coöperation of outside banks, private interests, and leading depositors to reorganize the trust company and thus prevent a crisis in that city. We had successfully secured such action on similar occasions in other cities and prevented enormous losses.

Sought Coöperation.

"I and the other officials devoted ourselves unceasingly during the following 48 hours in many directions to building up the coöperation necessary to save the situation and it was continued until it was brought to a halt by the determination of the governor that it was wise to close the whole of the Michigan banks.

"As I have said, the details of these plans and negotiations and those subsequently developed by officials of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, the federal reserve, and the treasury for reopening of the Michigan banks can only be had from the then officials of those organizations.

"I have no objection to furnishing any information which I properly can, but such information as I can give is only general and is mostly second hand and is insufficient to warrant a journey to Detroit and can be more effectively given by the officials mentioned. I am sure it is fully available to you."

Judge Ponders Action Today.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 22.—(AP)—The officials of Detroit's one man bank investigating jury announced tonight that they would issue a statement tomorrow regarding what further action they would take as a result of Herbert Hoover's statement that he had insufficient information to justify his coming to the city as a witness in the inquiry into the closing of the First National bank, Detroit, and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce.

Apprised of the former President's decision a few hours after they had sent him an "earnest request" for his testimony, Prosecutor Harry S. Toy and Circuit Judge Harry B. Keidan, who constitutes the one man grand jury, went into conference.

"I have nothing to say tonight in connection with Mr. Hoover's message," said Judge Keidan. "I shall study the telegram carefully and my further plans will be announced in the morning."

The "request" was sent by Prosecutor Toy in the form of a letter directed to Mr. Hoover's home at Palo Alto, Cal.

"Officials of a public judicial inquiry into banking practices in Detroit, the closing of all banks in Michigan on Feb. 14, 1933, desire earnestly your presence as a witness," said the Toy letter. "This invitation to you to testify concerning the attitude of the administrative agencies of the federal government is respectfully extended on behalf of Judge Keidan, presiding at this inquiry.

"It is the opinion of officials attendant upon this proceeding that you have in your possession certain facts which might render your testimony as a witness highly significant and essential to a thorough and true presentation of the reasons underlying the closing of the Detroit banks."

Prosecutor Toy was unable to say whether a deposition for the ex-President in California would be considered.

Couzens Appears Again.

Meanwhile before Judge Keidan, Senator James Couzens [Rep.] testifying for the fourth day, stated that there were two basic causes for Detroit's banking debacle—the one the nation-wide business depression, and the other "an attempt to make millions without really earning them through a consolidation and pyramiding of banks without the consent of the depositors."

During his testimony Senator Couzens spoke of his break with Henry Ford and the ending of a partnership which had begun with the founding of the Ford Motor Car company, voiced his criticism of the administration of Andrew H. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury, and stated that "both national political parties have favorites for whom laws are not strictly enforced."

Senator Tells His History.

Attorney General Patrick H. O'Brien took over the examination of the senator today, and the inquiry immediately changed from bristling hostility which characterized the three previous sessions. For two hours the senator talked of his childhood days as "Jim Couzens" of Chatham, Ont., and gradually recited the tale of his rise in the business world. The purpose of this testimony was to establish the qualifications of the witness to give expert testimony on banking and general finance.

The attorney general continually framed his questions to elicit from Couzens an admission that the depression was primarily responsible for the bank closings. Couzens, however, doggedly refused to admit that this was the chief reason.

The senator said that on Feb. 9 he had been informed that the Detroit banks were applying for a loan of $65,000,000 and were offering securities with a face value of $88,000,000 but with an actual value of only $37,993,000, according to officials of the R. F. C.

"Immoral and Dishonest."

Couzens said he did not discuss the question of the relative values of the securities offered, but stated that he was led to oppose the grant because Charles A. Miller, then president of the R. F. C. board, had condemned it as "immoral and dishonest."

For a time the questioner attempted to draw from the senator a direct statement that he had no resentment or ill feeling against Henry Ford or the Ford Motor Car company. It has been charged in many quarters that Couzens' opposition to the R. F. C. loan to Detroit banks was really due to his antagonism toward the Fords. It was said by some bank officials that these R. F. C. loans, if granted, would have saved both banks.

"There was a disagreement when I resigned as an active officer of the Ford company," said Senator Couzens. "That was 18 years ago and Mr. Ford has said publicly that there is no disharmony between us. Mr. Ford has shown no evidence of antagonism toward me and I have none toward him, although I was terribly angry when we had our split and perhaps showed a bad temper as I do on occasions."

Senator Couzens said his objections to the administration of the treasury under Secretary Mellon "would take volumes to relate." He said that his main objection was to the system of income tax rebates.

Not Uniformly Enforced.

"I didn't object so much to the individuals who got rebates, but to the lack of uniformity in the internal revenue department's interpretations of the law," he said. "First they would interpret it one way and then the opposite way to suit themselves.

"Both political parties have favorites and do not enforce the law with equal justice. A man with money has too much power, when he should have less than the man who earns his living by the sweat of his brow."

In referring to the administration of the two Detroit banks the senator charged that they had loaned so much of the depositors' money that they did not dare to sell out the collateral held for these loans, when the value of the collateral shrunk so enormously. He charged that these loans constituted a violation of the banking laws in that the banks were in effect loaning depositors' money on the bank's own stock, since the two banks were owned by holding companies.

The hearing may last three or four weeks. Father Coughlin, the fire eating radio priest, pastor of the Church of the Little Flower, will go on the stand tomorrow.

BLAMES MILK FOR BABY'S DEATH.

Jane Christopherson, 15 months old, 3139 Oleander avenue, died yesterday supposedly of typhoid fever which may have developed through drinking milk. Dr. Frank Nagel, 1407 Addison street, the attending physician, asked the coroner's office to make an autopsy to determine the cause of death.

COURTS REFUSE TO HALT SCHOOL ECONOMY PLANS

Judge Williams Rejects Injunction Plea.

A motion for temporary injunction to block the board of education's $5,000,000 economy program was denied yesterday by Judge Charles A. Williams in the Superior court. This action was the major development in a day of continuous legal fire through which the school retrenchment and better housing plan came unscathed.

In denying the injunction Judge Williams declared that he was "satisfied the bill is no good on its face." Another bill for an enjoining order against the school board was refused three weeks ago by Judge William V. Brothers in the Circuit court, who declared it wasn't "worth the paper it's printed on."

Asks for a Postponement.

The case in the Superior court had been brought by John E. Groves, a teacher of mathematics at Crane High school. Shortly after the teacher's argument had begun Edward G. Woods, attorney for a morning newspaper, filed a surprise appearance and took over the burden of the pleading. The attorney immediately asked for another postponement in order to amend the bill which was 72 pages long.

"Everything is in this bill even if there were forty amendments," retorted Frank S. Righeimer, special counsel for the school board. "We're entitled to a hearing now and a decision.

"The school board is being hampered in its program through threats, notices and new suits. If the matter hadn't been continued before there might have been some basis for this plea."

"There was plenty of time," said Judge Williams. "The bill was filed on Aug 17."

After Judge Williams had denied the restraining order Attorney Righeimer presented a counter motion asking that the bill be dismissed for want of equity. Attorney Woods was given leave to file an amended bill and the case went over on these points until this morning.

Cites Need of Economy.

In his argument before the court, Attorney Righeimer went over the history of the need for economy in school board financing. He pointed out that the deficit at the start of the year was $10,000,000 and called attention to the recent statement of the citizens' committee on public expenditures that this deficit might amount to $35,000,000.

"The duty imposed upon the school board by statute," said Attorney Righeimer, "makes it mandatory that the trustees bring the expenditures within the available revenue. One of the economy measures taken was to shorten the school term from ten to nine months since the reduced income made it impossible to operate the system for the longer period.

"This program was evolved under the authority of the school board, which has the responsibility of running the schools. The bill of complaint does not charge fraud or bad faith, allegations that must be set up in a case of this kind. The bill is based on conclusions and the wildest kind of speculation.

Powers of School Board.

"It is elemental that the courts will not interfere with the discretionary powers of another branch of the government. What these people are asking you to do is take over the powers of the school board."

Attorney Righeimer next discussed the conversion of junior high schools into senior high school plants. If this move had not been taken by the board, Attorney Righeimer contended, it would cost the taxpayers $25,000,000 to erect new buildings in the future. In addition the change will mean the abandonment of unhealthful, ramshackle portables and house thousands of school children in decent classrooms this fall, he added.

Attorney Woods countered with the charge that in letting the $87,655 in contracts for the conversion plan the board had not taken the lowest bidder.

"The lowest bidder was given the work in all but five of the thirty-three contracts," replied Attorney Righeimer. "The statute expressly states that the board must give a contract to the lowest responsible bidder. In these five cases the board decided that the next highest bidder was the more responsible. The difference in cost for the total is less than $1,000."

Attorney Woods indicated that his bill would be amended in regard to the letting of the contracts.

Another bill to amend a bill against the school board was made before Judge Joseph B. David in the Superior court by Attorney Gordon Leonard, who had filed a mandamus petition for Samuel Landau, father of two schoolgirls to compel the trustees to rescind their action. The school attorneys objected on the grounds that they had already filed an answer.

"I'll give them ten years to amend it if they want it," said Judge David. "This isn't an emergency matter and I won't hear it as such."

Judge David allowed Attorney Leonard ten days in which to file his amended action.

The third attempt to halt the school board economy plan came up before Judge Philip J. Finnegan in the Circuit court. This was another bill for an injunction brought by the Tax Service Association of Illinois for one George W. Nye, a taxpayer.

Rushes to Finnegan's Court.

This enjoining order was demanded on the grounds that the board had not appropriated the $87,655 for the conversion plan when the budget was adopted on Jan. 30. Attorney Righeimer rushed down two flights of stairs from Judge Williams' court to the courtroom of Judge Finnegan in time to point out that the entire economy program would many times offset this cost.

The budget law was read by Attorney Righeimer to prove that after July 1 the board of education is allowed to transfer funds for similar purposes should emergencies arise.

Judge Finegan announced he would give a decision this morning.

Five Thousand at Protest Meeting.

A mass meeting attended by 5,000 persons was held last night at Guyon's Paradise ballroom, Washington street and Crawford avenue, to protest against the school economy program. It was the largest assemblage thus far in the Save Our Schools campaign. A resolution was adopted calling upon the school board to "rescind its dangerous program immediately, give opportunity to educational experts to be heard, and to the public, which pays the cost and receives the benefits of modern educational methods, a chance to express its desire as to the type of education it wants for its children."

BOSTON EX-BANKER, MAYOR WALKER CASE WITNESS, ARRESTED

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Daniel C. Mulloney, former president of the closed Federal National bank of Boston, was arrested today after he left the room of the federal grand jury which is inquiring into the income of former Mayor James J. Walker. Mr. Mulloney had been summoned as a witness.

Under two indictments he is charged with causing a false entry to be made in the records of the Federal National bank on Sept. 2, 1930, concerning $29,458; that he misapplied the funds to his own use, although they were represented as a loan to one John B. O'Leary, described as "a dummy note maker"; that a false entry was made on Nov. 24, 1931, as to $38,700, which amount was allegedly misapplied to his own use by Mulloney, although the entry purported to represent an indebtedness on notes of the Inman Realty Trust, by J. B. O'Leary, and that on July 7, 1931, Mulloney attempted to defraud the Federal National bank by causing a false entry to be made in a report on the condition of the bank as of the close of business on June 30, 1931.

This false entry allegedly represented Mulloney's liabilities to the bank as totaling $250,742, when in fact they amounted to $309,660.

S. O. S. COMMITTEE ATTACKS SCHOOL DEFICIT ESTIMATE

The citizens' committee on public expenditures was criticized yesterday for its estimate that the school board deficit would reach 35 million dollars by the "save our schools" committee, which is opposing the school economy program. The S. O. S. group charged that the estimate would encourage evasion of taxes.

The estimate of the citizens' committee had been based on the contention that the collection of taxes would fall far below 90 per cent of the entire levies. The citizens' committee estimate presumes that one billion dollars' worth of real estate will evade taxation, the S. O. S. statement charges.

"Who owns this billion dollars' worth of real estate on which they presume no taxes will be paid?" the S. O. S. statement reads. "What political strings are the owners of this property pulling to avoid paying their taxes?

"A full investigation should be made to discover who are the owners of this billion dollars' worth of real estate on which taxes are not to be collected, particularly since they are apparently to be left off not only for 1930 but also for 1931, 1932, and 1933."

FRED W. SARGENT AND KELLY QUIT ECONOMY POSTS

Plead Press of Business; Suggest Successors.

Fred W. Sargent, chairman of the committee on public expenditures and its leader in the campaign of the last eighteen months to bring Chicago governmental expenses back within the limits of tax revenue, resigned his post yesterday. At the same time D. F. Kelly offered his resignation as chairman of the committee's advisory board.

Both stated that the press of private business made their resignations necessary. Mr. Sargent is president of the North Western railroad and Mr. Kelly is president of the Fair department store.

Suggest Successors.

Two names were brought forward as possible successors to Mr. Sargent. He suggested George O. Fairweather, assistant business manager of the University of Chicago, who was chairman of the joint commission on real estate valuations, one of the organizations which preceded the Sargent committee. Mr. Kelly, in submitting his resignation to Ernest R. Graham, chairman of the organization's executive committee, suggested that Mr. Graham take the post.

"Mr. Sargent has done a wonderful job, particularly in obtaining the cooperation of public officials in cutting down budgets and instituting economies," said Mr. Kelly. "It is unfortunate that he can no longer afford to give the committee the time which he has given so generously in the past.

Graham Qualified for Post.

"I believe that Mr. Graham is best qualified to be his successor and I have so told him in my own letter of resignation. Mr. Graham has already made lavish contributions both of his own time and of the staff of his architectural office, particularly in the school building survey made by the committee. As a result he is probably more conversant with the problems of physical plant of the school system than ony one else in town."

Maintenance of the school system was pointed out by Mr. Sargent in his letter of resignation as a subject "which needs your closest and immediate attention."

"Your committee has always recognized and now recognizes the absolute necessity of maintaining an efficient public school system, for without it no democratic form of government can hope permanently to endure," stated Mr. Sargent.

Must Maintain Credit.

"To the end, however, of providing a sound and wholesome educational system it is indispensable that the credit and the financial structure of the school system be maintained inviolate, and this can only be done through a policy of wise and intelligent expenditure of the taxpayers' money.

"In a time of great financial distress the inability of taxpayers to meet their obligations makes it unfortunately necessary to effect economies that would no doubt be avoided in times of reasonable prosperity, when taxpayers are able to meet their obligations."

Mr. Sargent then outlined his efforts to obtain funds from the R. F. C. and other federal sources to meet school pay rolls, and promises his aid in any such efforts in the future, but added:

"I regret to say, however, that it will be exceedingly difficult to secure such funds from any source until there is good faith shown on all sides and by all parties looking to the collection of taxes to the fullest possible extent, and the curtailment of expenses in every possible way, but not in a manner that will interfere with reasonable educational facilities, during the period of this emergency.

"The reason the committee has given so much attention during the current summer to the financial status of the school board is because there is imminent danger of a complete collapse of school credit, and in my opinion the taxpayers of this community can well afford to make any sacrifice looking toward the maintenance of such credit."

SIX FORMER OFFICERS OF CLOSED BANK AT AKRON ARE INDICTED

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Sterling B. Cramer, executive vice president of the Fifth-Third Union Trust company, one of the largest banks in this part of the country, was indicted by grand jury at Akron, O., today on charges of banking law violations during the time he was president of the First Central Trust company, Akron, and Central Depositors bank, its predecessors.

Five other former senior officers and directors of the banks were indicted. They are George W. Merz, former vice president of the First Central and former president of the Akron Clearing House association; George H. Dunn, former vice president of the First Central board and former president of the Central Depositors bank; Charles Herberich, former director of First Central and former vice president of Central Depositors; Walter Herberich, former director of Central Depositors; William J. Rouf, former vice president of First Central, and former executive vice president of Central Depositors.

The indictment against Mr. Cramer, who came to Cincinnati from Akron last June to accept his present position, that on March 1 charges that he misapplied money funds, credit, or property to the extent of $60,093 by permitting withdrawals of the Enterprise Manufacturing company account and that also he permitted the B. F. Goodrich company to withdraw $287,316.

Cramer, who came from Chicago to Akron, had been in charge of the banks which were in difficulties from November, 1932, until June, 1933.

REAL ESTATE MEN CHEER TAX CUT TALK BY NIXON

Appeals Board Members Defend Slash Order.

Hundreds of members of the Chicago Real Estate board yesterday applauded addresses by George F. Nixon and Fred W. Brummel, members of the board of appeals, in which they expressed defiance of efforts to nullify the appeal board's 15 per cent horizontal cut in 1931 assessments on small flats and homes. They announced that a further 20 per cent reduction would be made on all 1932 real estate tax valuations.

"Some one's got to talk for the inarticulate taxpayers," shouted Nixon at the meeting held in the clubrooms of the real estate board. "If we real estate men don't protect property from ruination by taxation, who will?

Assails Foes of Rate Slash.

"The assessor asked us recently for a recommendation on 1932 assessments as compared to 1931 assessments. We recommended that after the 15 per cent cut had been applied to various classes of property then there should be a further 20 per cent cut on those classes and all other classes of real estate."

Nixon said that the 15 per cent slash order had been "kicked around," and then launched into an attack upon the property owners and lawyers who have obtained a rehearing on the order in the state Supreme court. A decision has not yet been reached by the high court.

"Unfortunately the clique interested in special privileges had the temerity to appeal the the Supreme court for a rehearing after filling their own bread baskets," declared Nixon. "The inarticulate mob can't afford high priced lawyers, but we will see that they are protected, anyway. We are going to continue to use every effort to see that the 15 per cent cut is carried out."

Hear 100,000 Complaints.

This assertion was greeted with cheers by the assembled real estate dealers and Nixon continued with a description of the work done by himself and his colleagues in hearing 100,000 tax complaints in the last few months.

"There were those who said it shouldn't and couldn't be done," he declared, "but it has been done."

Nixon also pleaded with the realtors to join in a campaign of agitation for a 1 per cent tax limitation on real estate.

This store will close Saturday at 1 p. m.

KELLY ANSWERS FOES DEMANDING THAT HE RESIGN

Never Has Given Thought to Quitting, He Says.

Mayor Kelly issued a short reply yesterday to the demands for his resignation made by opponents of the school board's economy program and others as the result of charges which have been circulated regarding his payment of an income tax settlement eighteen months ago.

"I have never given a thought to resigning and there is no reason for me to do so," said the mayor.

The deficiency income tax assessment was made against him, he said, some days ago, because in his original returns he had not listed as income payments made to him to reimburse advances which he had previously made to political campaign funds. Mayor Kelly added that he still does not believe those payments should rightly have been regarded as income, but that after submitting the facts in the case to the income tax division he accepted its decision and paid.

Recall $27,000 Paid to E. J. Davis.

The campaign fund advances which Mayor Kelly made were on behalf of the late George E. Brennan, whose campaign for the senate he managed in 1926. One of the demands for his resignation came yesterday from Elmer J. Davis, superintendent of the Better Government association, who, friends of the mayor pointed out yesterday, achieved some notoriety in the year of the senatorial campaign when Brennan disclosed that he had given Davis $27,000.

Davis got the $27,000 two years before during the 1924 campaign for state's attorney. Michael L. Igoe was the Democratic nominee against Robert E. Crowe, Republican, and Hope Thompson was running as an independent. Brennan, the Democratic leader, said Davis had approached him and obtained the money in currency, after refusing a check, on the representation that support of Thompson would weaken Crowe and help Igoe. Thompson stated, however, that Davis never gave him an accounting of the money.

In June Davis appeared in a budget session of the city council finance committee and attempted to read a statement on the city budget which the committee was drafting. Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the commission, brought out the fact that while offering advice on the expenditure of city revenue Davis had not paid his taxes for three years and then had him ejected from the committee room.

Bare Two Other Settlements.

As part of the byplay in the attacks on Mayor Kelly it was brought out yesterday that Ald. Jacob Arvey [24th] and Barnet Hodes, member of the state tax commission and former alderman, had made settlements with the government following investigation of their income tax returns by the treasury department.

Ald. Arvey said he accepted a compromise offer by the government on his 1929 income tax and paid between $1,800 and $2,000 in added tax and penalties at the rate of $100 a month. Commissioner Hodes said that he did not remember the exact details of his settlement, except that he paid about $1,600 on his 1928 or 1929 tax.

Small Boys' Testimony Saves Their Pup in Court

Donald Bgalle, 6 years old, and his brother, Raymond, 4, saved their month old puppy yesterday when they appeared before Municipal Judge Harold J. O'Connell on the complaint of a neighbor that the puppy howled at nights and kept her boarders awake. The complainant was Mrs. Martha Koehn, 1641 Waveland avenue, just around the corner from the Bgalle home at 3561 North Mansfield avenue. When the boys pleaded for the dog and their mother, Mrs. J. B. Bgalle, assured the judge that it is kept indoors at night, he dismissed Mrs. Koehn's complaint.

BARBER HANGS HIMSELF.

Announce Resignation of Scudder.

The storm which broke Saturday night when Arthur Cleveland King, vice president of the Citrus Products company, saw Eric Scudder, president of the company, kissing Mrs. King, seemed to have quieted last night.

A business associate predicted that the Kings would become reconciled and that Mrs. King will drop the charge of assault with a deadly weapon which she preferred against her husband after, she charges, he fired a shot at her early Sunday. And the Knollwood Country club, where Scudder kissed Mrs. King at a party given in celebration of his election to membership there, announced that he is no longer a member.

Resignation Is Accepted.

"The executive committee of the Knollwood club," stated E. C. Newhart, club manager, "has authorized me to say that the resignation of Mr. Scudder has been accepted."

Neither King, at his duplex apartment at 534 Stratford place, where the shooting took place, nor Scudder, when reached at the Lake Shore Drive hotel, where he lives, made any statement yesterday. But an official of their company predicted that a reconciliation between Mr. and Mrs. King is in sight.

"I wouldn't be surprised if they've made up already," he said. "But if they haven't they're certainly going to. They've been married a long time and have a couple of children, and besides, they love each other."

"Mrs. King didn't really want to sign that complaint charging her husband with assault with a deadly weapon. She was talked into it by some one who didn't like Mr. King. You'll see. The court action will be dropped and the whole thing settled all around."

Hearing Set for Monday.

The Scudders and Kings and several other couples had gone to the country club after a cocktail party in the Scudder apartment, to celebrate Mr. Scudder's election to membership in Knollwood. After the kissing episode, which King witnessed and interrupted, Mrs. King went home, and there, she charged to police, her husband fired a shot from a revolver and then held the weapon against her head, threatening her life.

When the case against her husband was called for hearing last Monday before Municipal Judge Joseph H. McGarry, her attorneys obtained a continuance until Friday on the plea that Mrs. King was too nervous to appear in court. Before the case was postponed, King's attorney told the court that his client had not threatened Mrs. King, and that the revolver was fired accidentally.

Among the prisoners who were paraded at the showup in the detective bureau last evening was Arthur J. Reese, 43 years old, of Anoka, Minn. Reese is a federal prisoner, held since last Friday when he was seized in Ladd, Ill., as an alleged member of the Touhy gang. In his possession when he was arrested were $1,080 and a score of rifles, pistols, and shotguns, most of them rusty pieces such as might have aroused the interest of a weapon collector.

Mr. Reese blushed when, as he trod the raised platform in the glare of the flood lights, a woman rose from her seat and pointed him out to a policeman.

"That's my husband," the woman, who identified herself as Mrs. Townsend Reese, told detectives. "I want to know what he is doing here. He is no gangster, he is an insurance salesman. Why, in 1931 he was the star salesman for the New York Life Insurance company. He got a medal from Calvin Coolidge a few years ago for his ability at selling insurance."

Concedes He May Be at Fault.

Mr. Reese's blush deepened. He wiped his brow with a handkerchief none too clean after his days and nights in a prison cell.

"Er, my dear," mumbled Reese, "perhaps it was all my fault," after all."

"You see, I visited a saloon when I went back to Ladd. Ladd is my birthplace which I had not visited for 37 years," he explained, more to the policemen than to his wife. "I saw some old friends and I bought a few rounds of drinks. Then the town constable—who looked just like a town constable—began to question me.

"I thought I'd have some fun, just a little innocent fun—and now look where I am. But don't let me digress. I told the constable that he ought to recognize me. 'Why I'm one of the hooey gangsters,' I said."

Faces Posse and Machine Gun.

The remark, said Reese, lead to his seizure. The constable had departed from the saloon, but had returned an hour later with Sheriff E. J. Welter of La Salle county, who carried a machine gun and had at his back a posse of hastily sworn deputies. When the policemen searched him, Reese said, they found the money in his pockets, $700 of which was in $100 bills, and they thought that they had found a kidnaper.

"Why, that is the money I gave you to take care of that business for mother," interrupted Mrs. Reese.

Reese nodded and continued his tale, telling of how the policemen found his collection of guns and thus were convinced that they had arrested a desperate character.

"I've been shipped about ever since," Reese said, forlornly, "and the government men tell me that I'm still to be held for several days. I don't think I'll ever make a joke again."

4,500 MILLINERY WORKERS ISSUE CALL FOR STRIKE

A strike of 4,500 milliners was called last night for Monday unless demands for unionized shops, a minimum wage and shorter hours are met at a conference set for tomorrow with representatives of the Chicago Manufacturers' association.

The strike order was announced at a massmeeting attended by 2,500 milliners at Masonic hall, 32 West Randolph street. Mrs. Carolyn Wolfe, an organizer for the Chicago Millinery Workers union, told the assemblage that unless the workers' terms are met they will be notified to walk out Monday morning.

Max Zaritsky, president of the Millinery Workers' International union, declared that subjects to be settled at the conference are the right of workers to deal with employers through their association and the hundred per cent unionizing of millinery shops in Chicago.

Girl Still in Seclusion as Hearing Nears.

Efforts were made yesterday to verify reports that Miss Eugenia Rose, 2. year old nurse of Evanston, would not appear against Cecil Smith, America's second ranking polo player, at 1 o'clock Friday before Police Magistrate Willis R. Brightmire in Evanston, when he is scheduled to be arraigned on a charge of rape. Miss Rose brought the charge against Smith last Saturday.

Since she signed a warrant for his arrest Miss Rose has remained in virtual hiding, said to be secluded in a downtown hotel with her parents, who arrived Monday from Cooperstown, N. D.

Physician Is Interviewed.

Gary M. Baker, an optometrist, who appeared with Miss Rose when she made her charges against Smith, stating he was her fiance, was interviewed yesterday in his office, the Mart Optical company, in the Merchandise Mart. He was asked if she intended to drop the charges against Smith.

"I don't know," Baker said. "I don't know where she is, and am not in touch with her."

He went on to say, however, that in his opinion "the sooner this publicity is stopped the better it will be for everyone."

"The morning after a girl is raped, she might feel that she wanted revenge," he said. "But a week after such an occurrence, she might feel differently. It might be that she just felt she couldn't go through it."

Baker complained that he didn't know why he was "being brought into this." When asked if he were her fiancé he said:

"I've been close to her for four years. She's one of the very nicest girls I ever knew. I don't say I am her fiancé or that I am not."

Surprised by Publicity.

Baker declared that Miss Rose had not expected nation-wide publicity.

"Many false statements have been made," he said, "such as that she said she struggled with Smith for two hours in a ravine before he raped her. That is ridiculous."

There seemed to be little disposition among Smith's friends yesterday to press their request to have the preliminary hearing before Magistrate Brightmire held today instead of Friday. "We want the young woman to have plenty of time to prepare her case," said Attorney Silas Strawn, who signed Smith's $5,000 bond. "We are not worried about the outcome and expect Mr. Smith to be cleared quickly." Mr. Strawn has arranged to have Attorney John D. Black, president of the Chicago Bar association, defend Smith.

Miss Rose has not yet consulted with the state's attorney's office, but it was reported yesterday that Dr. William C. Danforth, head of the department of gynecology and obstetrics in Evanston hospital, would testify in her behalf. Dr. Danforth refused to answer a query as to whether he had made an examination of Miss Rose subsequent to the alleged rape, but he did say he would be a witness if called at the hearing.

Smith's teammates on the all-star West team, which defeated the Eastern team in a series at the Onwentsia County club in Lake Forest, have determined to remain in town until the case is concluded and testify if necessary in behalf of their captain, it was learned.

SEEKS TO LINK U. S. BANK EXAMINER TO KANSAS BOND SCANDAL

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon alleged in a letter today to the federal controller of currency that a national bank examiner "apparently" had "participated in a transaction" under which $150,000 in forged municipal bonds were removed from among the assets of the National Bank of Topeka and replaced by a like amount of state of Kansas funds.

The charge was the latest development in the investigation into an alleged million dollar Kansas municipal bond swindle.

Gov. Landon said it appeared the examiner, E. F. Allen, had become aware of the presence of the forged bonds among the bank's assets in the course of an examination as of June 21.

Bank Examiner Denies Charge.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 22.—(AP)—E. F. Allen, a national bank examiner, denied here today that he became aware of the presence of $150,000 in forged bonds when he examined assets of the National Bank of Topeka last June, as Gov. Landon of Kansas alleged in a letter to the federal controller of currency.

At the time of the examination, Allen said, he was led to believe "the bonds had been stolen from the Kansas school land department."

The forgeries were not discovered until the federal department of justice began its investigation, Allen said.

U. S. TELLS HOW TO WIN EAGLE IN NRA APPEAL

Purposes of Campaign Are Explained.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator, yesterday broadcast an appeal to the newspapers to give further publicity to the President's reëmployment agreement and accompanied it by a detailed explanation of the purpose of the program, a résumé of its provisions, and a set of rules to guide employers in obtaining the Blue Eagle.

"The reëmployment program is advancing to complete success," the statement began. "No such sweeping demonstration of the unity of a whole people against a national danger has ever been made. In this vast surge of patriotism it is necessary to keep our common purpose always clear.

"When 125,000,000 people attempt to act as one man there are sure to be some misunderstandings. It is time to restate as clearly as possible the aim of the whole endeavor and the duty of each individual.

Rules for Guidance.

"That is the purpose of this message—to state officially, briefly, and clearly the simple rules for common guidance. This plan depends wholly on united action. That unity is almost complete. In the next few days let us close up every gap in the ranks and nail the flag of the Blue Eagle on the door of every man who works another man."

Under the heading "How to Earn the Blue Eagle" the statement listed the following rules:

1. Sign the President's Reëmployment agreement.
2. Shorten hours of factory workers to 35 hours per week and of all other employés to 40 hours per week.
3. Raise wages.
4. Don't employ child labor.
5. Coöperate with the President. To do this:
   a. Live up to the agreement.
   b. Don't profiteer.

How to Get the Eagle.

Under the heading "How to Get the Blue Eagle," the statement instructed employers to mail the signed agreement to the district office of the department of commerce; put the agreement into effect; sign a certificate of compliance which certifies that hours of labor and wages of employés have been adjusted, and deliver the certificate of compliance to the local postoffice where the postmaster will give the employer the Blue Eagle flag.

Then an official explanation of the reëmployment agreement was given. The various provisions of the agreement, couched in the sometimes technical phrases of the law, were translated into layman's language.

Paragraphs 8 and 9 of the agreement, dealing with "anti-subterfuge" and "anti-profiteering," were termed among the most important sections of the program. Paragraph 8 binds the signer not to use any subterfuge to frustrate the spirit and intent of the agreement.

Heart of Agreement.

"This is the heart of the whole agreement," Gen. Johnson's statement read. "The President's plan is to cure this depression by increasing purchasing power. You can help him put this plan over by voluntarily signing this agreement to shorten hours and raise wages.

"There is no force to compel you to sign this agreement. It is not law. It is a personal agreement between you and the President. The President expects you to do everything in your power to carry out the spirit of the agreement after you sign it. This means whole hearted coöperation by really earning the Blue Eagle—not by just getting it and then not doing your part.

"It should be a subterfuge to frustrate the spirit and intent of this agreement to sign it and then put all of your employes on a straight commission basis—or any other trick to avoid doing what you promise to do."

Paragraph 9 of the agreement, referring to anti-profiteering, binds the employer not to increase the price of any merchandises, sold after the date of signing, over the price on July 1, 1933, by more than is made necessary by actual increases in production, replacement, or other costs and in setting such price increases, "to give full weight to probable increases in sales volume, and to refrain from taking profiteering advantage of the consuming public."

To Prevent Profiteering.

"The object of this paragraph," the statement explained, "is to prevent profiteering or speculation, so that prices will not rise faster than purchasing power and destroy the President's plan. The danger to be avoided was pointed out by the President on June 16, 1933, when he said:

"'If we now inflate prices as fast and as far as we increase wages, the whole project will be seat at naught. We cannot hope for the full effect of this plan unless, in these first critical months, and even at the expense of full initial profits, we defer price increases as long as possible.'"

Going on to explain the "maximum hours and minimum wages" provisions of the reëmployment agreement, the statement declared:

"The paragraph on maximum hours means that you (the employer) agree not to work any of the kinds of employés listed in this paragraph (accounting, clerical, banking, office, service, or sales employés, except outside salesmen) for more than 40 hours a week. This paragraph covers all employés except factory workers, mechanical workers, and artisans.

Exceptions Are Listed.

"However, no limit on hours and no minimum wages applies to purely agricultural labor, domestic servants, or persons working for you solely on a commission basis.

"The agreement sets no maximum on the number of hours you may keep your business open. You agree not to keep your wholesale, retail, or service establishment open less than 52 hours a week unless it was open less than 52 hours a week before July 1, 1933.

"Paragraph 3, referring to the maximum working hours of factory or mechanical workers or artisans, binds you not to work these classes of workers more than 35 hours a week and not more than eight hours in any one day.

"When you have more than the usual amount of work to do and can't get additional workers, you may employ this class of employés up to 40 hours a week in any six weeks, but even in this case you must not work them more than 8 hours a day."

The statement explained that minimum wages for all employés, except factory workers, must be $15 a week in cities over 500,000 population such as Chicago and slightly less in smaller localities. If hourly schedules are used, the minimum pay in Chicago must be 37½ cents an hour, it was explained.

Minimum Wage Scale.

Concerning factory workers, they are to receive a minimum of 40 cents an hour if the rate for the same kind of work in the same community was more than 40 cents an hour on July 15, 1929, and not less than 30 cents an hour if the rate was less than 40 cents, it was explained in the statement.

These maximum hour and minimum wage requirements are included in the agreement only because the agreement is a temporary measure to tide over the time until employers and employés can agree upon a code under the national industrial recovery act, it was explained. All codes must be submitted for approval to the national administrator before Sept. 1, 1933, it was pointed out.

The success of the reëmployment agreement program depends upon the success with which paragraph 10 on "coöperation" is enforced, it was declared. The paragraph binds the employer "to support and patronize establishments which also have signed this agreement and are listed as members of NRA."

Support for Coöperation.

"Public support must go to those who raise wages and shorten hours in accordance with the agreement," the statement read, "in order to repay them for the extra expense which they have incurred in doing their part."

Explanations of the paragraphs on child labor and other paragraphs of the reëmployment agreement were also included in the lengthy statement. The employer promises under the agreement not to employ any children under 14 years of age in any kind of business. Children between 14 and 16 years old may be employed for three hours a day but not so as to interfere with school, it was explained.

Exceptions and substitutions are also explained at length in the statement. Under "exceptional cases" were listed cases where codes have been submitted but not approved, cases of "individual hardship" and cases where union contracts exist. In all cases where the employer or employé or both are in doubt, the NRA administration will gladly issue an interpretation, it was announced.

SOUTH PARKS PRESS PLEA FOR $13,000,000 TO FINISH PROJECTS

The applications of the south park board and of Springfield and Pekin for federal funds for public improvements were heard yesterday by the United States advisory board of public works. The board for Illinois conducting hearings in the United States courthouse has as chairman Carter H. Harrison, who Monday took office as collector of internal revenue.

Commissioner William McDonnell and Superintendent George T. Donoghue of the south parks requested $13,000,000 of the total of $100,000,000 available for the state. Mr. Donoghue estimated that 2,080 men would be employed if this amount were expended for the Outer drive link bridge and approach, the Randolph street viaduct approach, and several other projects. He said the request was to ascertain whether the attitude of the loan board is "sympathetic."

Springfield asked for $2,000,000 and Pekin for $600,000.

EASIER CREDITS, JOHNSON'S AIM IN NRA PLANS

Foreign Goods Under Inquiry.

The agency to investigate the perils of foreign competition was placed in charge of Frank C. Billings, who has been an expert with the federal tariff commission. Mr. Billings has recommended to Gen. Johnson that the President delegate to the NRA his authority to investigate tariff schedules, and the extent to which the rising costs of NRA expose American manufacturers to foreign competition.

Complaints have been received from industries under codes whose prices have risen with the shorter work hours and increased wages. When the effect of the new program, which is slow to be reflected in trade conditions, is really made felt, hundreds of manufacturers are expected to lodge complaints.

Call for Embargo.

The American pottery makers have demanded an embargo against Japanese and Chinese potteryware. Newsprint manufacturers in this country have also insisted that before they can institute shorter hours and higher wages they must have a tariff to protect them against paper shipped in from Canadian mills.

Ward W. Pickard, deputy administrator, who is in charge of the newsprint code, said today that no consideration can be given to the manufacturers' request for tariff protection until the code is approved and in force.

Coal and Auto Codes.

The administration's own code for the bituminous coal industry was under further discussion today with various groups of coal operators. It was learned that a tentative decision has been made to put a scale of minimum wages and working hours into effect in the various mining districts for a trial period of ninety days. At the end of that period, if the scale does not work out well in particular districts, changes will be made.

Deputy Administrator Robert W. Lea, in charge of the automobile code, said today he hoped to complete the code "before the end of the week," but it was learned that members of the code committee of the Automobile Chamber of Commerce have gone over the code today and that their hope is to see it in Gen. Johnson's hands for delivery to the President by tomorrow or Thursday night.

The county board voted yesterday to negotiate its contracts and purchases only with companies which comply with the NRA. President Emmett Whealan introduced the resolution. The vote was uanimous.

Whealan appointed a committee of four and himself to represent the county in the national plan for road building planned in the recovery program. The committee will oversee the spending of federal money which the county will be given for the road building. The other members of the committee are George Quinlan, superintendent of the county highway department, and John Crane, Emmett Flavin, and Lowell Weber, employés of the department.

AL SMITH ASKS NATION LOYALLY TO SUPPORT NRA

Likens Roosevelt to Luke, Great Physician.

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The accomplishment of the national recovery administration thus far in increasing wages and employment alone "entitles the plan to further trial and full coöperation," former Governor Alfred E. Smith declared tonight in an address.

"No matter how much we may differ in principle and detail with those who are responsible for the recovery program," Mr. Smith, who himself was a critic of the act two months ago, said, "we must recognize that they have no other object and purpose than the restoration of the happiness and welfare of the American people who are always in my thought."

Mr. Smith reassured "those who fear the experiment." He said the President has only a limited congressional mandate and the NRA machinery has less than two years to run and the licensing power has less than a year of life.

Asks for a Fair Trial.

"I speak to you in an hour of bewilderment and in a great national emergency," Mr. Smith said. "I plead for the loyal coöperation of every man, woman, and child in an effort of our President to lead us out of the wilderness of economic disaster into the bright sunlight of prosperity. I ask for universal coöperation in a fair trial for an acknowledged experiment, an experiment certainly much nobler and more sincere than others which the American people have cheerfully undergone.

"There are many who honestly believe in other remedies. That is not the point. There can be only one cure tried at a time, and the President must, like Luke in the Bible, be the great physician. He has prescribed a remedy which is embodied in the national industrial recovery act. Support of the President's plan is the only course for good citizens in a democracy when there is sickness in the body politic.

"The President has frankly stated that this is an experiment and that he will be the first to acknowledge its failure if it does not work. He asks only for loyal coöperation in trying out a plan which gives reasonable promise of success. This coöperation he certainly should receive.

Tells of Excessive Enthusiasm.

"Support of the President in this course of action commits no one to a blanket approval of objectionable methods employed here and there in this campaign. Do not take too seriously the excessive enthusiasm of some of those supporting the national industrial recovery act.

"Threats, intimidation, compulsion, boycotts, blacklists and suppression of opinion were never contemplated by the national industrial recovery act, and, therefore, have no rightful place in this picture. The American people can be persuaded by a patriotic appeal; they can be led so long as it is clear that those who lead them are in the last analysis public servants and not dictators; but they cannot be driven.

"After all, this is not the first time our people have responded to a national appeal for concerted voluntary action. The nation responded to the last man to the appeal of the national food administration for pledges of cooperation at the time of the great war, and the fact that this appeal was to cut down consumption while the present one is to increase it has nothing to do with the case. The American people should respond as patriotically to the appeal for the blue eagle as they did to the appeal of the federal food administrator.

No Reason to Fear Experiment.

"To those who fear the experiment, I have this to say. Do not forget that the President has only a limited congressional mandate, that the whole machinery of the national recovery act has less than two years to operate under the law, that the licensing power has less than a year of life before it, and, as a matter of fact, up to this time has not been used at all, and that the blanket code which is known as the President's reëmployment agreement, has no statutory authority but only the sanction of an executive appeal to the generous instincts of a free people, an appeal which no decent, fair minded person has a right to ignore.

"The slightest reflection on these facts should dispose of the claim, from whatever source it may come, that the national industrial recovery act shakes the firm foundation of our constitution or marks a revolution in our government and in the conduct of our every day life.

"Let us see whether by shorter hours, higher wages, and increased employment we can avoid the dole, called home relief, and the disguised dole popularly known as relief work, the evil consequences of which we all know. It is infinitely better to pay the bill by the methods proposed in the national industrial recovery act than to pay it in the form of public or private charitable relief.

"The plan must not fail through lack of individual coöperation, but if it should fail, then we must dig in for a long siege and make up our minds that recovery will be slow and painful. We can do this, too, like good citizens, but before we settle down to a long siege in which nothing but individual and national character will save us, let us try every reasonable plan proposed by those into whose hands we must put the responsibility of high office.

"No matter how much we may differ in principle and detail with those who are responsible for the recovery program, we must recognize that they have no other object and purpose than the restoration of the happiness and welfare of the American people, who are always in my thought. For this reason I ask all those within the sound of my voice, and all who may read or otherwise hear what I say and who look to me for advice and guidance, to support the President in this campaign."

DROP ANTI-TRUST CASE TO COMPLY WITH NRA CODE

Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley yesterday modified a permanent consent decree restraining the Tanner-Products company from violating the Sherman anti-trust law in order that the company might comply with the NRA code provisions.

Two assistant United States attorneys general, who came from Washington for the hearing, said the decision would pave the way for some 113 industries and businesses, such as furniture and candy jobbers, to come under NRA codes.

Attorney Don K. Jones asked for the modification to permit the submission of a code. The attorneys general and United States Attorney Dwight H. Green consented to the modification, explaining that the national recovery act supersedes certain anti-trust regulations.

RETAIL STORES, LARGE, SMALL, SEEKING CODE

Great Cities and Villages Are Affected.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The nation's merchant princes met the corner store proprietor in open forum today to seek a solution of kindred problems in a national recovery code for the retail trade.

No sooner had they met than the old issue, "big fellow versus little fellow," split the meeting wide open on the question of establishing a fixed working week which would be equitable to all. As rapidly as the open hearing progressed the issue became more clear.

Hours Big Problem.

In closing the day's session Deputy Recovery Administrator A. D. Whiteside, who presided, pointed to the problem as the most acute to be solved if the proposed code for the retail trade is to be completed.

Only about one-fourth of the witnesses whose names are filed had been heard today when the hearing adjourned. The large department store owners and spokesmen for the retail chains are to present their side of the controversy tomorrow and probably on Thursday.

The code as presented by six large associations of retailers—representing the furniture, hardware, mail order men's clothing, shoes, and dry goods stores—calls for a maximum 44 hour week with certain exceptions, depending upon the size of a town, and a minimum wage ranging from $10 to $14 a week.

Not represented in the hearing were the food retailers and the drug retailers, who are submitting separate codes asking a maximum of 48 hours a week with certain exceptions.

Drug Store Clothing.

It remained, however, for Gerald Grosner, Washington, D. C., men's clothing dealer, to provide the day's most interesting exhibition. To the stage with him Mr. Grosner carried an armful of mysterious packages. Opened, they were found to be a pair of men's trousers, a pair of socks, a necktie, an umbrella, a pair of underdrawers.

"These," said Mr. Grosner, impressively, "were purchased personally by me in a Washington drug store last Sunday evening at five minutes past 11 o'clock p. m."

The assembled retailers, especially the men's clothing retailers, shouted and applauded.

Six Groups Seek Code.

The six groups in today's code employ an estimated five million persons in normal times, it was stated at the hearing, and more than a million and a half retail trade concerns are involved in the proposed code.

Their code proposes a 44 hour week for employés in stores in towns of less than 10,000 population which are not a part of a larger trade area. In towns of less than 10,000 a maximum of 48 hours is permitted.

The big city merchants were amenable to this exception. But they registered strong protest against having to compete with the small corner store in the city, owned and operated by one man, where the boss is also the employé and therefore does not come under the provisions of the code. These neighborhood establishments, they contended, will be able to operate with no change in cost, whereas larger stores, hiring employés, will be forced to raise expenditures considerably.

On the other side of the question were the neighborhood shoe stores, variety stores, hardware stores and the like, which employ from two to five or six workers. In most cases, their spokesmen insisted, these "little fellows" are scarcely making a profit, even by operating ten and twelve hours a day.

To insist that they work their employés only 40 hours a week, it was charged, would bring ruin to thousands of such neighborhood stores.

2 DIE IN CELLULOID BLAST.

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—An explosion in the novelty department of the Celluloid Corporation of America plant, in Newark, killed a man and a woman and burned six other workers today.

CODE COMMITTEE TO WAGE WAR ON CHEATERS HERE

Complaints Pour In of Violations.

With complaints continuing to pour in that some employers who display the NRA standard have not fulfilled their pledges to coöperate in President Roosevelt's reëmployment agreement, the Chicago recovery council, the department of commerce, and the Chicago Federation of Labor prepared yesterday to wage warfare against "cheaters."

Selection of the code committee of the recovery council was announced by George W. Rossetter, general chairman and president of the Chicago Association of Commerce. The committee is headed by J. H. Fall Jr., chairman of the board of the Benjamin Electric company.

Johnson Sends Message.

F. L. Roberts, district manager of the department of commerce, received a bulletin from Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, which stated that the NRA administration will deal "effectively and suddenly" with violators of the program, and which indicated that the department was about to set up the machinery necessary to investigate complaints and punish cheaters.

"It is believed that 99 out of every 100 Americans will play the game and that the fringe that won't will have pronounced over them the sentence of economic death," the bulletin read. "Let no one entertain a fear that any man who walks on legs can with impunity trifle with the blue eagle and survive."

Meanwhile, the strike of more than 7,500 women garment workers continued with picketers in front of the 184 shops affected and thirty policemen detailed to patrol the manufacturing district between Van Buren and Monroe streets and South Wells street and the river.

Hearing Today in Washington.

The dress manufacturers will make no effort to deal with the strikers, who ask a 35 hour week with a minimum wage of $18 until the proposed code for the industry has been approved at Washington. A hearing on the code is due in Washington today. A similar strike in New York, involving 60,000 garment workers, was settled last night when the NRA agreement on wages and working conditions was accepted by the association of employers.

Representatives of 500 manufacturers' associations meeting in the Palmer house yesterday, organized a new industrial body, which is to be known as the Council of American Industries. The conference, which represented every section of the country, was called by the national American plan open shop committee.

The principal purpose of the council, it was stated, is to present "the employers' side of the picture" before the national recovery administration. Although not specifically stated, another purpose, it was said, is to strengthen sentiment among industrial groups favoring the open shop.

Utah Man Made Chairman.

A. C. Rees, manager of the Utah Associated Industries, who was made permanent chairman, asserted that the council intends to see that the employers are fully represented at every code hearing.

Mr. Rees said he would soon appoint a committee to go to Washington. This committee will suggest the names of industrial heads best fitted to present the problems of particular industries before the recovery administration. Mr. Rees denied that the council in Washington would fight union labor activities.

The Illinois Bell Telephone company, with 23,309 employés, headed the list of Chicago firms who yesterday were listed as having accepted the NRA code. More than 600 other Chicago firms joined the code during the day, making a total of 25,094 employers with 729,216 employés who have been placed on the Chicago honor roll.

A code was adopted yesterday by the National Market and Packers' Supply association meeting at the Hotel La Salle, proposing a maximum forty hour week for all classes of labor and guaranteeing factory and repair shop workers a minimum of forty cents an hour.

SEN. DICKINSON DEPLORES USE OF FORCE UNDER NRA

Observers See Campaign Signs in Speech.

Friction is bound to develop in the sort of new deal in progress in America, Senator L. J. Dickinson, Iowa's senior member of the United States senate and a Republican, declared yesterday before the Midland club forum.

"There are continually creeping into the press signs of government force," Mr. Dickinson declared. "This recovery program depends on the coöperation of the public. In all cases of grants of excessive power we see indications of the 'big stick.' Such expressions as 'giving them a sock on the nose' or predicting 'their economic death' and suggestions of public boycott are unfortunate. To surround business places with walking delegates is ill-advised."

Sees Campaign Sign.

The senator's declarations constitute one of the first major criticisms of the Democratic administration's recovery plan made in the middle west. Some political observers saw in the address signs of the coming campaign in 1934 when the Republican party will attempt to regain control of the national house of representatives.

Of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's program to purchase surplus hogs and small pigs and thus boost the price of pork Senator Dickinson said:

"Regardless of the suggestion that this program is temporary and required by the emergency, any administration extending its powers along this line will run into difficulties. Demands on the government are constantly increasing, not decreasing.

"I hope we may go forward with the emergency program at once, and with complete success, but I also shall insist on reminding the corn belt that such a program will in the end bring disaster unless it is coupled with a soundly conceived long time effort.

Return to Old Channels.

"Open criticism will soon appear on the general program of government direction of private enterprise. Soon it will be claimed that recovery in industry will be more certain and business more stable if permitted to return to its old channels of activity. It is my belief that the best business minds are of that opinion now.

"It is expected that the national recovery program will materially assist the individual intiative to bring about economic stability. We are then confronted with the query of to who will pay? Can the government continually extend its credit to every interest in our country without breaking?"

Senator Dickinson was in high favor with the Hoover administration. He served as keynoter in the Republican national convention at the Chicago Stadium last summer.

TEACHERS ASKING FOR CODE REFUSED AS EMPLOYES OF PUBLIC

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The executive council of the American Federation of Teachers, through Henry R. Linville, president, and Florence Curtis Hanson, secretary-treasurer, has applied to the national recovery administration for approval of a code for public schools and public school teachers. That was announced today.

The code, however, was not accepted by the administration, being returned to the federation for two reasons. It was explained that the teachers of the country were mostly government employés, so fell outside the jurisdiction of the NRA, and that the administration is acting only on proposed codes that are received from employers and not from employés.

U. S. EMPLOYES DENIED A SHARE IN NEW DEAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The few low salaried workers on Uncle Sam's pay roll were denied a hand in the new deal today by Controller J. R. McCarl.

Henry Morgenthau, governor of the farm credit administration, who asked permission to raise the pay of 37 workers getting less than $14 a week, was told by Controller McCarl that he had no right to do so.

McCarl ruled that because the economy act prohibits administrative promotions these raises in pay, which he held to be promotions, could not be made.

Although no one outside of Washington has authority to take an NRA blue eagle away from a merchant even if he is violating the presidential agreement, officials here are anxious that local agencies should act to correct abuses without reference to Washington.

This was made definitely clear tonight by Thomas S. Hammond, executive director of the NRA's blue eagle division, in an official statement which also censured severely groups of local merchants who seek to punish competitors for keeping their stores open longer hours than most.

NEW ZEALANDERS TOUR FAIR, LED BY PRIME MINISTER

Reports Heard in London Lure Them Here.

G. W. Forbes, prime minister of New Zealand, and his party of prominent New Zealanders arrived in Chicago yesterday morning and spent the day touring the World's Fair grounds. After the first two hours the prime minister pronounced the Exposition "marvelous" and announced he would remain two more days.

Prime Minister Forbes said his country had heard little of the Fair, but when he went to London as a delegate to the world economic conference the marvels of A Century of Progress were under so much favorable discussion that he decided to visit it. He is accompanied by Mrs. Forbes.

The party was met at the Dearborn street station early in the day and accompanied to the Palmer house by a motorcycle police escort. From there the Antipodean visitors were piloted to the Exposition grounds, where they were given a 19 gun salute by the troops of Camp Whistler. They were then welcomed by President Rufus C. Dawes, taken for a ride on the lagoon, and provided with guides for the Exposition tour.

In the party were Robert Masters, New Zealand minister of education, and Mrs. Masters; C. A. Jeffery, the prime minister's secretary; G. C. Rodda, assistant secretary of the treasury; Prof. A. H. Picker, and Dr. R. M. Campbell, economists; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Collins of the New Zealand trade commission in Canada; W. J. Stevenson, New Zealand customs representative in New York. With them on the Fair tour was Lewis Bernays, British consul general here.

Helen Jeffries, Member of Fair Queen's Court, Wed

Miss Helen Jeffries, who came from Davenport, Ia., to join the Queen's court at A Century of Progress, was married on Friday at Waukegan to David Roads of Chicago. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Jeffries of 2412 Carey avenue, Davenport. Roads is a sales director on the World's Fair ground. They plan to drive to Florida on a honeymoon trip when the Exposition closes.

More than 29,000 members of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, representing clubs from all sections of the state, have visited the exhibit of the federation in the Horticultural building at the Fair, officials announced yesterday. ST. CHARLES WILL GIVE PAGEANT ON 100TH BIRTHDAY

A historical pageant celebrating the centennial of St. Charles will open a gala week-end for the Fox river town tomorrow night. It will be the main event on a four day program.

The thousands of spectators will sit on the hills of Pottawatomie park and watch the eight episodes of "A Hundred Years and More" unfold before them in a natural amphitheater facing on the river. From 1823, when Maj. Stephen Long and his United States soldiers established a temporary camp there, the colorful episodes will pass to the home making of the first real settlers in 1834.

The scene will shift to the first school, established by Miss Prudence Ward in 1837, and Richard's riot of 1849, when several persons were killed in a grave robbery scandal. Inauguration of railroad service in 1849 will be celebrated.

The pageant is the product of the Little Theater of St. Charles, of which William Fisher Jr. is president. Coöperating are the Kiwanis, Pottowatomie, and Garden clubs and the American Legion auxiliary.

During the centennial there will be a special display by the St. Charles Historical society in the Colson building. On Friday "Miss Charleston" will be selected. Homecoming festivities and a canoe regatta on the Fox river will close the celebration Sunday. The St. Charles Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the celebration.

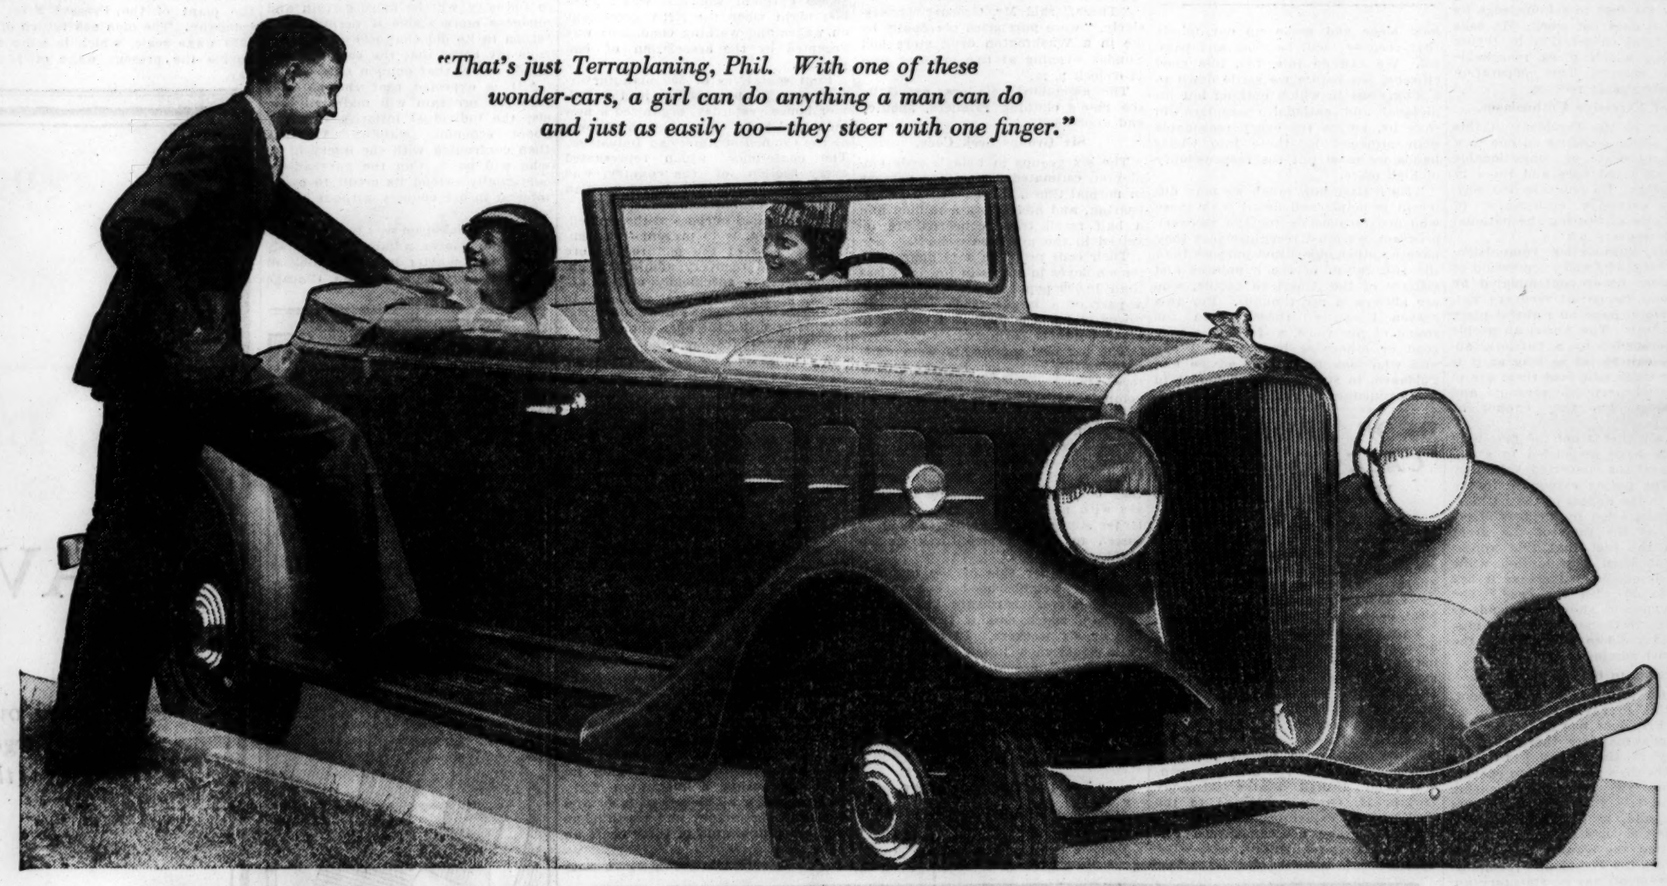
"That was the neatest parking job I've ever seen a girl do. I'll say you're some driver, Claire."

"That's just Terraplaning, Phil. With one of these wonder-cars, a girl can do anything a man can do and just as easily too—they steer with one finger."



What's this? 'Men drive better than women?' Not when women go Terraplaning!

THE SIX $425 AND UP F. O. B. FACTORY

Curb-parking, rounding sharp turns, braking at sudden stops, constant gear-shifting on hills and in traffic—these are hard, exhausting work for anyone with cars built in the old fashioned way.

But never with a Terraplane.

Watch a woman the first time she drives a Terraplane. Watch her face light up with pleasure at the ease with which she steers it, the slight pressure she needs to stop it, the small amount of effort required for smooth safe turns around street corners, the complete freedom from gearshifting on hills.

"Why, I'm absolutely spoiled for any other car," said a slim girl the other day after her first Terraplane ride. "I've never driven anything like this Terraplane. I feel so completely in charge of it, so safe and confident. This is the kind of car I've been looking for all my life."

Terraplaning and ordinary "automobiling" are so different that driving a Terraplane for the first time is an entirely new experience. Won't you try it?

4,000 GEORGIANS ATTEND STATE'S PROGRAM AT FAIR

Senator and Governor Trace Growth.

Monday, Aug. 21, 1933.....	201,615
Monday, Aug. 21, 1893.....	130,393
Total, including Aug. 21, 1933 [87 days].....	10,618,980
Total, including Aug. 21, 1893 [113 days].....	8,554,312

The Columbian Exposition opened May 1; A Century of Progress opened May 27.

BY EARL MULLIN.

Georgians, some four thousand strong, poured into Chicago yesterday by special train, motor bus and private automobile to take possession of the Fair with a program of songs, music and speeches. The contingent from the southern commonwealth had a twofold purpose in the trek to Chicago—to present a colorful program for Georgia day at the Fair and to do honor to their state as a portion of the celebration taking place in Georgia to commemorate the 200th anniversary of the founding of Savannah by James Edward Oglethorpe.

Included in the state delegation were the 122d infantry band of the Georgia National Guard, Gov. Eugene Talmadge, his wife and two daughters, his official family, and more than a hundred distinguished citizens. Another special guest of the day was Richard B. Russell Jr., United States senator from Georgia and a former governor.

Repays Sherman's Visit.

"We of the Cracker state are proud to be here," Roy Lecraw, vice president of the Georgia commission to the Fair, said in introducing the speakers. "Kentucky has her colonels, and we have our lieutenant colonels [every member of the staff bore this title]. We brought the military to repay the visit Sherman made us."

Gov. Talmadge told the seven thousand visitors in the Court of States, more than half of whom wore the insignia of Georgia, of the glorious history of their state and pointed out to Chicagoans that while Chicago celebrated its hundredth anniversary Georgia celebrated its bicentennial.

"It's a great thing to be here in Chicago with all these Crackers," the governor said. "You know you were a howling wilderness when we were a hundred years old down in Georgia. I wish every one of you would get down our way to visit the land of 'milk and honey.'"

Senator Traces State's Growth.

Senator Russell also dwelt on the history of the state, tracing its culture and industrial progress from Feb. 12, 1733, when Oglethorpe founded the commonwealth, to its present position in the Union.

Other speakers included Dr. Allen D. Albert, executive assistant to President Rufus C. Dawes of the Fair; Hugh Howell, chairman of the Democratic executive committee of Georgia; John S. Wood, congressman from the 9th district of Georgia; Lindley W. Camp, adjutant general of Georgia, who was master of ceremonies.

After the formal program in the Court of States the party paid an official visit to the Georgia exhibit, where a reception was held. In the evening a ball was given at the Morrison hotel in honor of Governor Talmadge and his family.

Expect 11,000,000th Visitor Today.

With the Georgia program as the principal event of the day, attendance again soared, continuing the second week of record breaking days. The total at 11:30 o'clock was 217,048, exceeding Tuesday of last week by some 38,000. The 11,000,000th visitor is expected to be admitted today, just four days after the welcoming of the 10,000,000th.

The attendance for the first 20 days of August totalled 3,541,268, exceeding by some 26,000 the total for the entire month of August for the Columbian Exposition. Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, general manager of the Fair, recalling the 1893 Exposition's grand total of 21,000,000, remarked that the August comparison seemed to be a good basis for his prediction that visitors to A Century of Progress will attain a total of 30,000,000.

Highlights of today's program at the Fair will be the observance of Texas day and Civil Service day. A majority of the offices in the city hall and county building will be reduced to skeleton organizations for the day to permit employés to attend the Fair. Formal programs will be staged by the civil service group at 2:30 p. m. in the court of the Hall of Science.

DEDICATE STONE FROM HISTORIC ALAMO TODAY

Texans to Aid Ceremony in Tribune Tower.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

A stone from the historic Alamo, one of the shrines of American liberty, will be dedicated at 11 o'clock this morning as one of the main events of Texas day at the World's Fair.

More than 14,000 Texans are in Chicago for their special day at A Century of Progress and all of them have been urged to attend the Alamo stone dedication by the Texas society of Chicago. Augustine de Zavala of Chicago, whose grandfather, Lorenzo de Zavala, was a famous Texas patriot and first [provisional] vice president of the Texas republic, will participate in the program.

It was the overthrow of the Mexican constitution of 1824 by the rebel Santa Anna which led De Zavala, who previously had been appointed minister to Spain, to join with the Texans in overthrowing Santa Anna.

Miss Burleson Presents Stone.

The stone from the Alamo, a Spanish mission fort in which 171 Texans under Col. William B. Travis lost their lives after a heroic stand against 4,000 Mexicans, was presented to THE TRIBUNE by Miss Emma Kyle Burleson, with the approval of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas.

Miss Burleson's brother, Albert Sidney Burleson, was Woodrow Wilson's postmaster general, and her grandfather, Gen. Edward Burleson of the Texas revolutionary army, is credited with the famous phrase, "Thermopylæ had its messenger of defeat; the Alamo had none."

Mayor Edward J. Kelly will welcome the guests at the ceremony and L. E. Snavely, chairman of the Texas World's Fair commission, will preside. The placing of the Alamo stone in Tribune Tower, as a companion piece to stones from the other historic structures of the world, will be acknowledged on behalf of the state of Texas by Peter Molyneaux, prominent editor of Dallas.

Texas Progr.m Opens.

The two day Texas World's Fair program began yesterday afternoon with a musical recital in the Illinois Host building and there was a Texas dinner dance, attended by several thousand, at the Pabst Blue Ribbon casino last night.

Today there will be a luncheon at the Stevens hotel and at 2:30 p. m. Mayor Kelly will welcome the Texans in the Court of States. Mr. Snavely will present the Texas exhibit to A Century of Progress and there will be speeches by Rufus C. Dawes and Claude Carter, representing Gov. Ferguson. The Texas Grand Opera association will present "Aïda," with a cast of 1,500, in Soldiers' field tonight.

DETECTIVE FINED FOR PETTING HIS WOMAN CLIENT

Harry P. McKee, a private detective with offices at 6 North Clark street, was fined $50 for disorderly conduct yesterday by Municipal Judge Joseph H. McGarry after Thomas J. Burke, business agent of the janitors' union, had testified that he watched McKee and Mrs. Burke in a petting party in a vacant lot.

The incident took place on July 29. Mrs. Burke is suing her husband for divorce, and it was her contention and McKee's that their meeting was a conference on evidence which McKee was gathering for her suit. She did not appear in court yesterday. Her husband testified that he had followed her and McKee from a loop hotel to a prairie at 78th street and Hermitage avenue.

"They drove right into the prairie among the weeds," said Burke. "I left my car and crawled near them. My wife said, 'You had better be careful or my husband might see us.' McKee answered, 'O, I'm not afraid of him. If he comes, I'll shoot him.' I stayed and watched them. Finally I couldn't stand it any longer, so I forgot the danger and ran up to the machine and poked McKee in the face."

LIBERALS OUST TORY REGIME IN NOVA SCOTIA VOTE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 22.—Premier Gordon S. Harrington's Conservative government was swept from office in today's provincial election and the Liberal party, headed by 43 year old Angus MacDonald, returned to power.

Liberals will have 21 seats in the next legislature, the Conservatives eight. In the last legislature the Conservatives had 20 members.

Six of seven former Conservative cabinet ministers went down to defeat in the deluge of Liberal ballots. Premier Harrington, however, was elected in his own riding in Cape Breton.

HOST BUILDING HAVEN FOR 10,000 WOMEN EACH DAY

Entertainment Given to Fair Visitors.

More than 10,000 women daily visit the Illinois Host building at A Century of Progress, according to an estimate of Mrs. Herbert L. Stern, secretary of the Illinois Hostess committee, one of a number of Illinois women who are actively engaged in dispensing hospitality to visitors at the building.

The broad verandas from which tired visitors may watch the crowds moving along the Avenue of Flags, the famed Lincoln rooms in the north wing of the Illinois Host building and the spacious lounge in the south wing where luxurious modern furniture invites the weary to rest, help explain the building's popularity.

Free Entertainment Provided.

Free entertainment and educational lectures sponsored by the hostesses are provided for those visitors who desire instruction or amusement while they rest. These programs and receptions are given in the air cooled auditorium in the Host building, where decorative murals are a part of the modern interior.

At 3 o'clock today the Pantomime dancers, a group of Lake Forest girls who dance as interpretations to readings, will give one of a series of programs. They are Helene Heman, Joan York and Dorothy Wilkins. Thomas McDermot will be the narrator, reading excerpts from Edna St. Vincent Millay, A. A. Milne and Lawrence Hope's "Less than the Dust."

At 4:30 today Miss Lucille Foster McMillin of the United States civil service commission, will give a short address, to be followed by a reception given her by the Illinois Hostess committee.

Today's Hostesses Listed.

Hostesses for the day, in addition to Mrs. Stern, will be: Mrs. Elizabeth Conkey, Miss Agnes Nester, Mrs. William L. O'Connell, Mrs. Frank Logan, Mrs. Hannah Solomon, Mrs. Maurice Horner Sr., Mrs. Edward J. Hughes, and Mrs. Arthur J. O'Brien of Springfield, and Mrs. Paul Steinbrecher.

At 8:30 o'clock tonight a program of American Indian dances will be given, when the Comanche dance, the war, the buffalo and the rain dances will be presented. Chief Silvertongue of the Winnebago tribe will be master of ceremonies.

A special program for children will be given Friday afternoon, when Miss Georgene Faulkner will tell "The Children's Story of Lincoln."

FOUND WITH RAIL TICKETS; FINED.

Judge Joseph H. McGarry in South State street court yesterday fined Heyman Bischon, 32 years old, 922 North Clark street, $100 and costs on a charge of illegally possessing twenty Chicago and North Western railroad commutation tickets.

DAVIS GETS FINAL INSTRUCTIONS ON POLICY AT GENEVA

Is Optimistic in Hyde Park Visit to Roosevelt.

BY JOHN HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Final instructions for the future conduct of the American policy at the disarmament conference were given here today by President Roosevelt to Norman H. Davis, head of the United States delegation at Geneva.

Mr. Davis expects to sail for Europe within a week or two, to assist in preparing for the resumption of the conference Oct. 16. The ambassador at large visited the summer White House for luncheon, and following luncheon conferred at length with the President.

It was a characteristically hopeful envoy with whom President Roosevelt talked. Mr. Davis disclaimed optimism, but believed that there was still an excellent chance that the conference would result in something worthwhile for the peace of the world.

Optimistic Messages.

His opinion, he said, was supported by messages from Arthur Henderson of Great Britain, the council's president, who has continued conversations with the other powers during the summer and who believes that the obstacles in the way of achievement may yet be overcome.

Rather than being alarmed at disturbances and threats of controversy in Europe, Mr. Davis is sanguine enough to hold that only through the imminence of war can disarmament and peace be achieved. He believes that the more tense the situation the better the chance to agree; that fear of the consequences of failure must be greater than the fear of disarmament. He is inclined to minimize the Japanese threat in the far east.

It was explained that the administration favors in general terms the formula which the French laid down at the previous session of the conference for control and supervision of armaments.

Basis of Negotiations Unchanged.

The basis of negotiations is to remain the same—that is, to limit or abolish offensive weapons, but to permit nations to secure themselves with purely defensive weapons such as fortifications and other means of warfare incapable of use on the offensive.

To one or two of the provisions of the French plan the President cannot agree, it was explained, but on the whole he is favorable to some such system.

Mr. Davis will return to the conference with no new proposal from this country and with the American policy concerning consultative pacts unaltered. That policy supposes American willingness to consult with other nations in case of any threatened outbreak, but it is dependent primarily upon a state of disarmament, and it rejects any agreement under which this country's actions might be determined by the votes of foreign nations.

MUSSOLINI LEADS ARMY IN ANNUAL WAR MANEUVERS

'Invasion' Begins from the North.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Aug. 22.—Over in the mountainous region to the north, between Asti and Albenga, where Napoleon first won fame as a young general, War Minister Mussolini today wore his iron hat and watched the beginning of the annual summer military maneuvers, which will last until the end of the week.

This year's games apparently are to study the strategy of invasion from Nice along the Liguarian coast toward Genoa. Mussolini, driving his own car, crossed Italy following his conference with Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss of Austria and took up his headquarters at the town of Garessio, which is also the headquarters of the blue, or invading, forces.

Planes to Take Part.

Other forces are up in the hills around Alba. The movements to be worked out are an advance toward Savona and toward Asti.

The entire region where this year's games are being carried out is heavily populated and covered with vines. All foreign military attachés have been invited to attend and special missions have been sent from Russia, Switzerland, and Germany.

Aviation experiments will be specially studied by Mussolini's war experts this year. Planes flying at low altitudes will be used to reconnoiter enemy troops and also to attack them directly with machine gun fire.

Plans One Fghting Unit.

Il duce's special interest in this year's games is reported to be to complete his scheme for amalgamating all branches of Italy's war making units, and particularly to fuse the Black Shirt militia with the regular army. Mussolini would thus be chief of all the military forces, with the reliable Black Shirt militia outfits forming the backbone and the regular army the shock troops.

TWO HELD IN RAPE CASE.

Leo Lawrence, 22 years old, 13431 Baltimore avenue, and Michael Bilich, 21 years old, 13433 Baltimore avenue, were held to the grand jury in $10,000 bonds by Judge Edelman yesterday on a rape charge.

UNIFORMED NAZIS OFFER APOLOGY TO U. S. ENVOY

Germany Ordered to Halt Attacks on Foreigners.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—In an effort to end acts of violence against foreigners who fail to comply with the Nazi ritual, Rudolf Hess, deputy leader of the Nazi party, tonight issued an order to the German people stipulating that foreigners are not expected to raise their arms in the Nazi salute to greet the colors. The order mentioned, however, that "it is international courtesy to doff the hat when flags are passing."

This statement was issued in fulfillment of a promise given American diplomats last week when they demanded that measures be taken to prevent a repetition of the attack by a Nazi storm trooper on Dr. Daniel Mulvihill, Brooklyn surgeon, for failing to extend the Hitler salute.

Nazis Apologize for Attack.

A few hours before the order was issued, Karl Ernst, commander of the Berlin storm troopers, called at the American embassy to extend an apology to Dr. William E. Dodd, the American ambassador, for the attack on Dr. Mulvihill. Escorted by aides, all in uniform, Ernst spent three minutes with Dr. Dodd. The ambassador accepted the apology. At a late hour tonight the German press had not recorded the visit and the apology.

A Catholic priest at Schonach, Baden, was arrested today because he objected to Nazis bringing swastika flags into the church.

In Neckarsulm the chief of the Wuerttemberg political police warned the Catholic clergy against attempting to disseminate propaganda against the Nazi government. Such propaganda, he warned, "would amount to sabotage of the concordat with the Vatican and lead to its annulment."

The chief also warned business men "who have failed to free themselves of capitalistic ideas."

Gets Two Years for "Insults."

Because a letter in which he made insulting statements about the government was found in his home, Harry Diament, 60, a Rumanian teacher of languages, was sentenced to two years in prison and expulsion from Germany after his sentence is completed.

Diamant, who lived in the United States for several years, was naturalized and then lost his citizenship. The letter for which he was imprisoned was addressed to a Jewish philanthropic society in New York. The authorities charged that in it he made false statements on the Jewish question. The letter was never mailed, but was discovered by police among Diamant's papers.

The government decreed today that the national Nazi anthem, the Horst Wessel song, must be reserved for moments of patriotic communion. The decree provides that it must not be played in bars, restaurants and other places of refreshment and entertainment.

Charge Nazis Mass on Border.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Reports from Austria today said that 6,000 or 8,000 exiles from Austria, many with shotguns and rifles, were strung along the Austro-German frontier, creating a menace of guerilla warfare and even organized invasion of Austria. When the fast growing Austrian Nazi party, agitating for union with Germany and declaring allegiance to Chancellor Hitler, was ordered outlawed by the Dollfuss government recently, many were exiled or fled to Germany to escape arrest.

To meet this new crisis, France has approved the plan of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss of Austria to increase his present army of 22,000 to 30,000, the limit authorized by the Saint Germain peace treaty. It is believed Great Britain and Italy likewise will sanction the increase.

If Austria is adequately guarded against such a threat as is reported on the frontier, the French believe the recent League of Nations' loan to Austria of $47,400,000 and the lifting of some French quota restrictions on Austrian exports will revive commerce in that country.

It was learned on high authority that Great Britain also is considering aiding Austria by lifting tariff restrictions and that Italy may take similar action.

ASK 50 PER CENT CUT IN DUTY ON FOREIGN BEER

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Importers cited the poetry of the "Stein Song of Old Heidelberg" and the pathos of the man who wants English ale for his stomach's sake in pleas before the tariff commission today for a 50 per cent cut in the duty on foreign brew.

They asked that the United States make a "friendly gesture toward 25 beer producing nations" by reducing the tariff on imported beer from $1 to 50 cents per gallon, or from $31 to $15.50 per barrel.

The commission, which had ordered the inquiry, gravely received the testimony, which eventually will go before President Roosevelt for final decision under the flexible provision of the 1930 tariff act.

Harry S. Radcliffe, young New York expert on the beer tariff, waxed lyrical on what a man quaffs from his stein.

"To one who has tasted Pilsen beer in Bohemia, nothing else appeals," he said. "Or a man may have had the sentimental experience of drinking beer at Heidelberg.

"Another, who has not cultivated the taste for the foreign tang, may much prefer a domestic brand. He may like it light, he may like it dark, or half-and-half."

According to "the mood of the moment," Radcliffe contended, the "beer quaffer" should be allowed his drink. Neither should he have to pay, Radcliffe said, "the present intolerable rate" for his imported brew, even if he "wants it to drown a welsh rarebit, or to make a frosted design on a mirror."

Charles H. Taylor, New York, also painted the pre-prohibition glories of his English ale importing firm.

"In all the years previous to prohibition," he said, "the medicinal value of ale as a tonic was recognized. The high rate prevents many people using it for a tonic."

Under oath, a tall blond Texan—Dyke Cullum—today told the commission the Lone Star state will vote for repeal of the eighteenth amendment on Aug. 26.

Urging a 50 per cent reduction in the tariff on Mexican beer, Cullum said:

"Texas will vote upon repeal and beer Aug. 26 and they will carry by a large majority: the breweries in this state will not be in a position to make 10 per cent of what we can consume."

BILLY SUNDAY DROPS PROHIBITION TALKS; GIVES TIME TO GOSPEL

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 22—(AP)—Billy Sunday is going to give up the preaching of prohibition, he said today as he went through Omaha en route to his ranch at Hood River, Ore. He was stricken with hay fever recently at the end of an eight-weeks' evangelistic campaign.

"I can't continue to preach prohibition and preach the gospel," Sunday said. "I'm not as young as I used to be and the load is too heavy. So I'm returning to my first love—preaching the gospel."

OPEN PALESTINE TO NAZI VICTIMS, APPEAL OF JEWS

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 22.—[Jewish Telegraphic Agency.]—Dr. Selig Brodetzky of Great Britain told the eighteenth world Zionist congress today that the doors of Palestine should be opened to "tens of thousands of German Jews" who have left Germany since the Hitler government came into power.

"At one stroke of the pen hundreds of thousands of Jews, who were good patriots for generations and were loyal citizens, have been reduced to a condition unparalleled in history for hundreds of years," Dr. Brodetzky said.

This statement was included in the political report of the world Zionist organization. After the report had been submitted to the congress a special committee went into executive session to make another attempt to formulate a declaration regarding Germany.

Dr. Nahum Sokolow, president of the congress, conducted the session in Hebrew instead of the hitherto customary German.

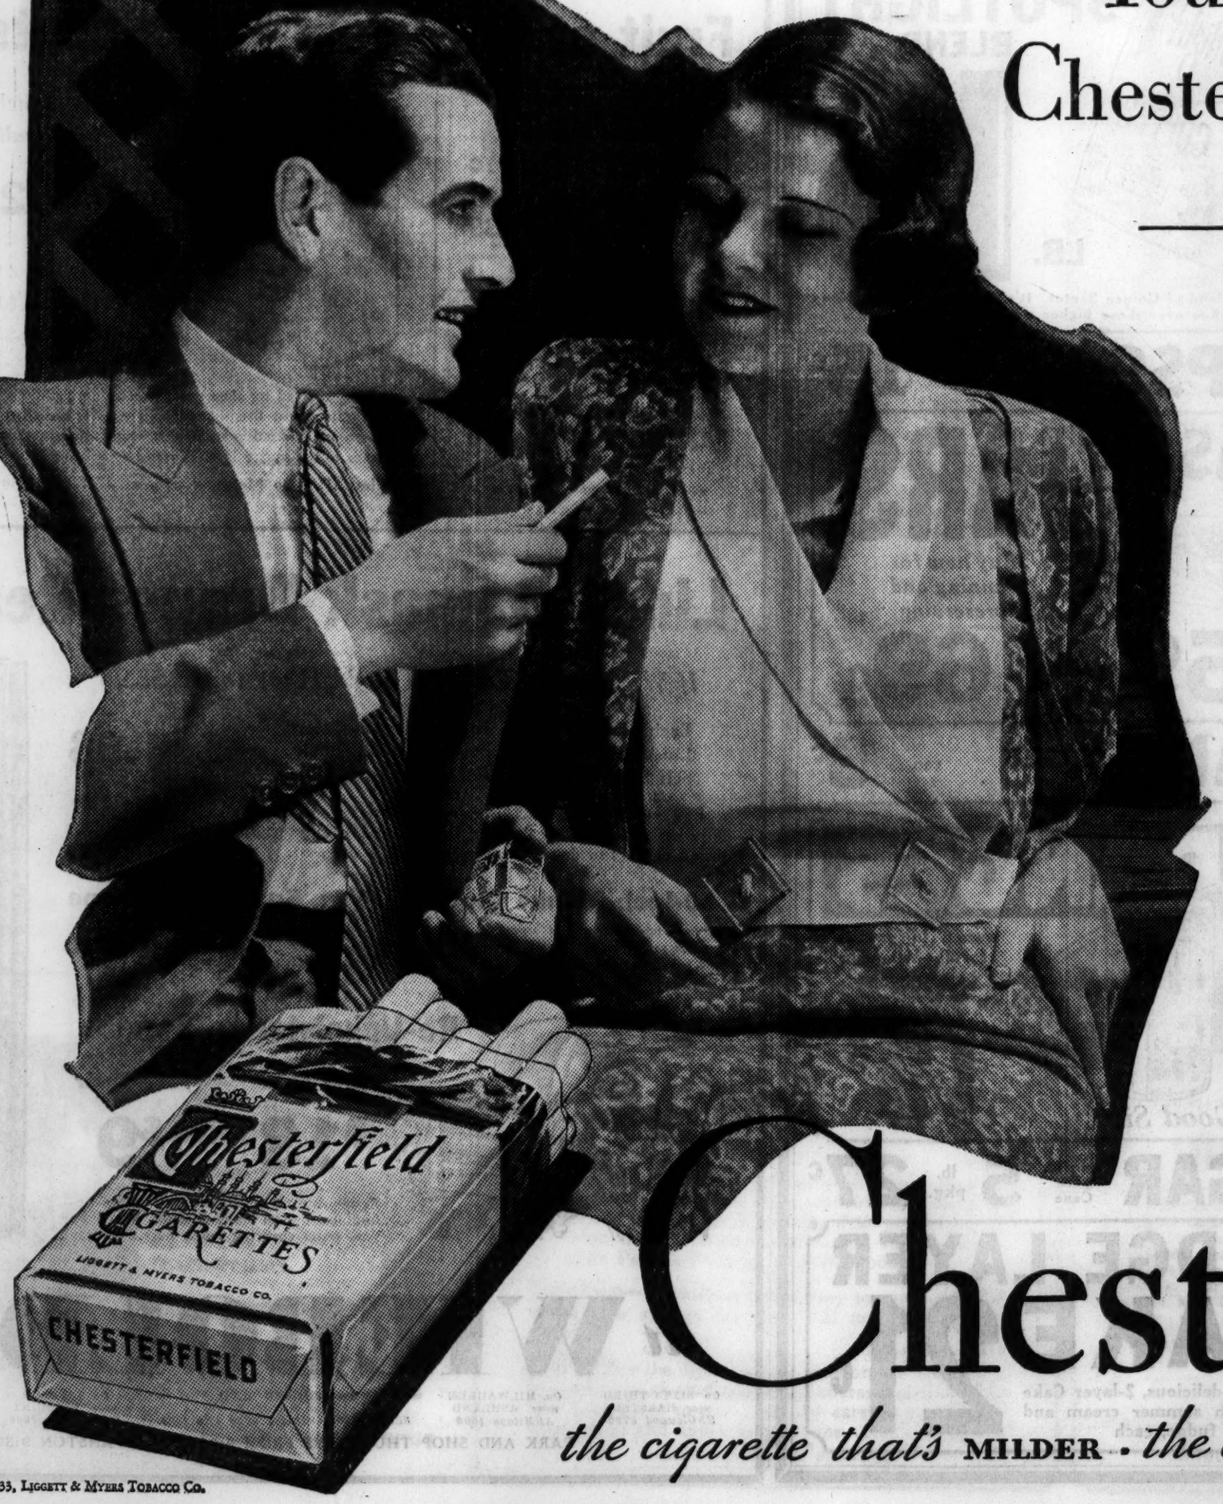
Why—

You're always saying Chesterfields taste better

— I wish you'd tell me why



Well, I've worked in tobacco; I've manufactured cigarettes . . . and I'll tell you why Chesterfields taste better.

For a cigarette to have a good taste, it must have first the right kind of Domestic tobacco. This means ripe, mellow, sweet tobacco, filled with Southern sunshine. Then, blended and cross-blended with this tobacco there must be the right quantity of the right kinds of aromatic Turkish tobacco... tobacco that has a pleasing flavor and aroma.

Aroma, as you know, adds to the taste. It's just like the pleasing aroma from certain foods. It's appetizing. It makes the food taste better. It makes the cigarette taste better.

Then again, for a cigarette to have a good taste, it must be made right. The size, the cigarette paper, everything about it must be right.

Just try Chesterfields.

EXILED MACHADO FOE BACK HOME; CUBANS GO WILD

Thousands Cry Welcome to Col. Mendieta.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 22.—A triumphal entry was given by Havana today to Col. Carlos Mendieta, leader of the Nationalist Union, upon his return from exile in the United States. Col. Mendieta is expected to be a candidate for president of Cuba at the November elections next year.

The waterfront was a seething mass of Cuban humanity when the liner Morro Castle arrived from New York this morning. The reception for Col. Mendieta and his companion, Col. Mendez Penate, is said to have exceeded anything in the line of receptions the island ever witnessed. Col. Mendieta and Col. Penate were exiled for leading the abortive revolt against the Machado government in August, 1931.

Thousands Roar Greeting.

Cubans in trucks and on foot turned out with stringed orchestras, rhumba gourds, and trumpets to welcome the returning leaders. The crowds jammed the Prado from the new capitol building to the navy fortress at the harbor mouth.

Thousands rode in on mules and horses from communities in Pinar del Rio province, where they still plow with oxen. Many had guns strapped to their waists and they filled the air with shots as the returning exiles passed down the Prado to the Hotel Inglaterra.

Central park was packed as Col. Mendieta appeared on the balcony of the hotel. Later the exiles visited the presidential palace, where they were greeted by President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes and high officials of the new government.

No Casualties Reported.

Field workers on small Cuban ponies, straw hats hanging down to their shoulders, pranced in from miles around to join the fiesta. Some traveled most of the night to get here, and when the celebration got going they pulled out the artillery and the Prado sounded like a wild west cowboy town on a rampage.

For a time authorities feared the spirit of the crowds might get out of bounds and that the temperamental Latin-Americans might turn to blood letting. Up to a late hour, however, despite the patter of spent bullets which descended for a time like a hailstorm, the day of rejoicing resulted in no casualties.

President de Cespedes, meeting American press representatives, said the settlement of the waterfront strike last night removed the last major labor controversy obstructing industrial peace. Smaller labor controversies remain to be ironed out, among them the railroad strike.

Plans Negotiations With U. S.

De Cespedes said he will announce plans for economic negotiations with the United States later. He said their nature is already well known. They include refinancing of the governmental debt on longer terms, lowering of duties on Cuban sugar, and a new reciprocity treaty to replace the present retaliatory tariffs.

The president said that in reestablishing liberty under the new administration he was carrying out the work started by his father, whose achievements in the war for Cuban liberation from Spain gained him the title of "father of his country."

Guillermo Urrutia, pseudo labor leader appointed by Machado as commissioner of the central district of Havana, committed suicide today when a group of soldiers and members of the A B C (secret anti-Machado society) sought his arrest. He was accused of several crimes.

Hearing on Machado Tomorrow.

A call was isued by the supreme court today for a hearing Thursday of charges against Machado and a group of his principal adherents. Accusations of murder, homicide, embezzlement and other crimes were specified. The charges were made by Dr. Garcilaso de Lavega, a criminal lawyer, and they include Octavio Zubizarreta, Orestes Ferrara, José Izquierdo, three Machado cabinet members, and Manuel Crespo, former captain of the palace guard.

Most of the accused men have fled Cuba and in view of this the supreme court, if it finds that sufficient evidence exists against them, may ask their extradition from the countries in which they have taken refuge.

OIL HEIRESS WEDS IN HASTE; CHANGES MIND

Janet Snowden Quits Italian Prince.

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The whirlwind romance of Janet Snowden, oil heiress, and Prince Don Caravita of Italy, whom she met for the first time two weeks ago and married less than a week ago, came to an abrupt end today. That was learned tonight, five days after the honeymoon began.

The marriage, it seems, was all a mistake. Janet agreed to it in a moment of pique, due to jealousy when she learned that the man she really loves had been going places with another girl. She also blamed misjudgment of the potency of the wine she had had at dinner at the home of her sister, the Princess Rospigliosi, before she accompanied Prince Don Caravita to the municipal building here and became his bride.

Leaves Sister's Home.

She explained today after she and her maid, lugging their baggage between them, departed from the Rospigliosi home in East 72d street and took a suite at a hotel.

Mrs. Walter Davidson, who was reached at her summer home in Poland Springs, Me., by long distance telephone tonight, admitted that Janet had telephoned earlier to announce the end of the romance.

"But that's all I know about it," Mrs. Davidson added.

Janet, however, weeping, had told her stories to friends.

"The truth is I love another man," she had said. "I have loved him for years. But last Thursday I learned his affections had turned to another. I became jealous.

Gets Lawyers' Advice.

"My sister and her husband, Prince Rospigliosi, with whom I dined that night, urged me to marry. I had taken wine with dinner—I'm not used to it. So, between that and my jealousy, I consented to marriage."

After conferring with White & Case, attorneys for the Bankers' Trust company, where her fortune is held in trust, the oil heiress indicated she would seek an annulment or, failing in that, a divorce.

"Our marriage license," she explained, "contained false entries. I said I was 25. Actually I am a minor, only 19."

At the Rospigliosi home, where Prince Caravita stayed tonight, he denied there had been a serious quarrel and said he expected his bride to return to him.

VICTIM TRAPS THREE YOUTHS ACCUSED OF RAPE

Three youths who are alleged to have raped and robbed two girls Saturday night were arrested last night when they sought to return a stolen watch to one of the girls. A fourth youth who accompanied the trio into the trap was also seized.

The girls were picked up Saturday night by the three youths at Cleaver street and Milwaukee avenue, and later driven, despite their protests, to Hillside. There they were attacked, according to their stories. One was robbed of a watch.

Last evening she received a telephone call advising her that her watch would be returned if she would go to Divison street and Elston avenue. She agreed, then notified police.

Four youths drove up in a car and were arrested. Three of them, Martin Lo Presto, 17 years old, 1031 Orleans street; John Cusmito, 19, 409 North avenue, and Joseph Bantise, 17, 934 Milwaukee avenue, were identified as the rapists. The fourth one, Steve Ippolito, 24, 1132 Townsend street, was not involved.

ELEVATOR MAN, 78, SUICIDE.

Thomas Bradley, 78 years old, 101 South Halsted street, shot and killed himself yesterday in the American Type Founders company building at 517 West Monroe street, where he was an elevator operator. Earlier in the day he had remarked he was "tired of it all."

JURY BLAMES MRS. HANSON IN TORCH MURDER

Crowd Tries to Attend Rockford Inquest.

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Recommendation that Mrs. May Hanson, 38, be held to the grand jury on a charge of murder was made today by a coroner's jury at the conclusion of an inquest into the death of Earl Hanson, 42, an industrial executive. He was burned to death in his automobile outside of Mrs. Hanson's home on Sunday night, Aug. 13.

The jury said Hanson met his death "by gasoline burning," when the fluid was presumably tossed on him as he sat in his car after bringing his 12 year old daughter June home to her mother. The Hansons were divorced. The father, through the terms of the decree, was allowed to have the child on Sundays.

Widow Held in Jail.

Neither Mrs. Hanson, who is being held in the county jail on charges of murder, nor the daughter June appeared at the inquest. That inquiry was conducted by Coroner Walter Julian. The daughter, physicians said, was on the verge of nervous collapse before the inquest.

Following the inquest the state's attorney's office announced that Mrs. Hanson would be arraigned before John R. Snively, justice of the peace, on the murder charge. A request will be made that she be bound over to the October grand jury.

A crowd, eager to hear the inquest testimony, filled the coroner's undertaking rooms and blocked the sidewalk outside.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Stockburger testified there was no explosion of the gasoline tank on Hanson's car. He added that the burns were chiefly on Hanson's face and the upper part of his body. He said he saw the top of Hanson's car burning. Deputy Sheriff Ernest L. Smith supported Stockburger.

Bruce Thompson, 18, a neighbor, said he found Mrs. Hanson standing outside the house near the flaming body of her husband. There were burns on Mrs. Hanson's neck and lips, he said. Thompson added Mrs. Hanson expressed no concern over her husband, who was dying nearby.

SENTENCED FOR $150 FRAUD.

Charles Feldman, 60 years old, 1903 Berwyn avenue, was sentenced to serve a year in the house of correction and fined $100 yesterday by Judge Harold P. O'Connell in Town Hall court on a charge of obtaining $150 by false pretenses from Mrs. Olga Glozan, 5621 Kenmore avenue.

TWO ARMY OFFICERS EXCHANGE WIVES BY DIVORCE COURT ROUTE

Fort Leavenworth, Kas., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Capt. William B. Bradford, cavalry, U. S. A., was introducing to associates at Fort Leavenworth today a new Mrs. Bradford whom they had known as Mrs. Katherine McDonald, wife of Maj. Stuart C. McDonald, infantry, U. S. A.

And it was revealed that the first Mrs. Bradford, who had gone on vacation in Arkansas several months ago with Mrs. McDonald, is now herself the second Mrs. McDonald.

Two army wives had traded husbands on a perfectly friendly basis and their "vacation" turned out to have been a matter of establishing a 90 day residence under the Arkansas divorce law, then got divorces on incompatability. They had roomed together at Bentonville, Ark., while waiting to get the divorces.

Far from considering it a matter of gossip or even of much outside interest, Capt. Bradley was quoted as having said today, before he stopped answering telephone calls at his quarters, that nothing could stop people from falling in love.

Maj. McDonald and his new bride did not return to Fort Leavenworth. The major has been assigned to civilian conservations corps work in Pennsylvania. But both the McDonald and Bradford families were well known here, the major and captain having been fellow students in the command and general staff school last year when the dual romances began.

PICKING JURY TO TRY LAMSON DIFFICULT TASK

On Trial as Slayer of His Wife in Campus Home.

San Jose, Cal., Aug. 22.—(AP)—David A. Lamson stared eagerly today at a black and gold box from which the names of prospective jurors were drawn to hear the murder charge against him, but at the close of court the jury still was incomplete.

The Stanford university press representative, on trial on a charge of slaying his wife, Allen Thorpe Lamson, secretary of the campus Y. W. C. A., leaned forward, tense, each time the court clerk spun the box to withdraw the name of a juror.

Numerous prospective jurors walked into the jury box in Judge R. R. Syer's court. Each in turn was put through the same formula of questioning, and in most cases left the jury box on challenges or for prejudicial cause.

At the close of the day each side had used seven of the allotted 20 challenges, and on that basis alone at least two more days would be required to select the jury.

In the box were the names of the jury which will pass on Lamson's fate—condemning him to die on the gallows, to life imprisonment, or vindicate him of charges that last Memorial day in their flower bedecked cottage on the Stanford campus he slugged to death his wife.

Nearly 20 prospective jurors were called for questioning today, and of the original six men and six women tentatively accepted last night but six remained.

MISSING EDITOR'S BODY FOUND IN RIVER, HEAVILY WEIGHTED

Coshocton, O., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Bearing cuts over the right eye and right ear and weighted down with a plow share and a hammer stuck under the belt, the body of Fred S. Wallace, 61, editor and publisher of the Coshocton Tribune, who has been missing since early last Sunday, was found in the Muskingum river about two miles south of here tonight.

The last person known to have seen Wallace alive was the circulation manager of the Tribune, who said he saw him sitting at his desk about 1:30 a. m. Sunday. Wallace had been ill for some time and had been under the care of specialists. He did not, however, permit this to interfere with his active management of the paper.

CRIME JUDGES SENTENCE 15 IN DAY, 3 FOR LIFE

Appeal for More Help Goes Unanswered.

Three life imprisonment terms under the habitual criminal act were among fifteen sentences imposed yesterday by the Criminal court judges in their war on crime. This brings to 175 the total penitentiary sentences imposed since the campaign was launched by Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court following the murder three weeks ago of Policeman John Sevick in the courtroom of Judge Charles P. Molthrop.

A jury in Judge Ross A. Hall's court needed only fifteen minutes to reach a guilty verdict and order life imprisonment for Mike Parker, 45 years old; Robert M. Sullivan, 37, and Frank Dale, 42, all ex-convicts, who staged a series of robberies shortly after they had been released from the penitentiary a month and a half ago.

The former convicts were found guilty of robbing an automobile party made up of Raymond Grant, Broadview, Ill.; Gilbert Pauley, Evelyn Perry, and Marian Olson. The crime occurred on July 23 at Twentieth avenue and Roosevelt road, Maywood. Grant was robbed of $2.25 and a $1 watch.

Crime Career Starts in 1907.

The records show that Parker started his criminal career in 1907. He served several terms in the penitentiary and was last paroled on June 5, 1933. Dale first appears on the crime records in 1909. He was paroled a few days before Parker. Sullivan started on his criminal activities in 1913.

Judge Kickham Scanlan, one of the two judges to answer the latest call for volunteers, cleaned up the affairs in his court yesterday preparatory to starting this morning on the trial of Morris Cohen, who shot and killed Policeman Joseph Hastings two weeks ago in the robbery of a city street department office on Navy pier. The prosecution is demanding the death penalty in this case.

Plan to Speed Trial.

The trial of Cohen will be the quickest murder trial in the history of the Criminal court where the death penalty has been demanded. Public Defender Benjamin Bachrach, who said he would be ready for trial, refused to disclose what, if any, defense Cohen will make. Police said that Cohen confessed the murder after his arrest.

Arrangements were completed yesterday to start the trial of John Scheck for the murder of Policeman Sevick on Monday morning before Judge Harry B. Miller. Scheck killed Sevick in an attempt to escape from Judge Molthrop's courtroom. He was being held for a bank robbery in which a cashier was slain. Mrs. Rose Scheck, mother of the defendant, who is charged with supplying the revolver which her son used to shoot Sevick, was granted a separate trial. The prosecution announced that it did not want to take any chances of creating sympathy for the killer by trying him with his mother.

Call Special Venire.

With Cohen and Chester Gallus and James Kuratko, the latter two killers of Jacob C. Pederson, a street car conductor, a week ago, going to trial this week, Judge Miller feared that there would not be enough jurors in court to start the Scheck trial this week. He therefore issued a call for 100 prospective jurors to be present Monday to prevent any possible delay in the Scheck trial.

Chief Justice Prystalski, who had asked for two or three more volunteer judges to take the places of jurists who are to be occupied with murder trials, said yesterday he had received no response to his call. The grand jury last week passed a resolution asking the judges to volunteer and keep the drive going at top speed. The judges who have not served any time during the campaign are as follows:

THE SUPERIOR COURT.

Denis E. Sullivan	Walter P. Steffen
Francis B. Allegretti	Joseph H. Fitch
E. I. Frankhauser	Robert E. Gentzel
Martin M. Gridley	Oscar Hebel
James J. Kelly	William J. Lindsay
John P. McGoorty	Michael L. McKinley
William H. McSurely	John M. O'Connor
Peter H. Schwaba	Walter T. Stanton
John J. Sullivan	Charles A. Williams

THE CIRCUIT COURT.

Frank H. Bicek	W. V. Brothers
Joseph Burke	John R. Caverly
Harry M. Fisher	Hugo M. Friend
Stanley H. Klarkowski	David F. Matchett
George Fred Rush	Francis S. Wilson

The murder cases in which Judges Miller, Scanlan, and Kavanagh are to be engaged will probably occupy their times for the remainder of this court term, which expires a week from Saturday. Judges are wanted by the chief justice to fill in for these men during this period.

Sentences imposed yesterday in addition to the three life terms were as follows:

WILLIAM JACOBEN, sentenced to 1 to 20 years; JOSEPH SKOBEN, sentenced to 1 to 10 years, and JOHN CYBULL, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell by Judge Prystalski for the robbery of Frank Beunes, 1635 Lombard avenue, Cicero, a truck driver, on July 29. The punishments were graduated by the judge according to the defendants' past records.

FRANK MERTES, 19, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge Benjamin P. Epstein for automobile larceny.

LEROY SMITH, 18, colored, sentenced to 1 to 20 years by Judge Prystalski for robbery without a gun. He robbed Coleman H. Taylor, also colored, of $4.19 on July 10 in Washington park.

GILBERT PATTON, 32, colored, sentenced to 1 to 14 years by Judge Scanlan for assult with intent to commit murder. He shot and wounded Kenneth Spellman at a party at 1307 Throop street.

LEO SMITH and JOSEPH GOLEMBIESKI, who obtained 19 continuances of their cases before they were forced to trial Monday, were each sentenced to 1 year to life by Judge Miller after a jury found them guilty. They robbed John Daniel, 2100 West 50th place, last fall.

SAM BANKS, 26, colored, sentenced to 1 to 14 years by Judge Prystalski after a jury found him guilty of assault to murder. He shot at Frank Dade, a watchman in a garage at 1342 South Racine avenue, during an attempted robbery on July 31.

ARTHUR LANIER, 48, colored, sentenced to 1 to 20 years by Judge Donald S. McKinlay for stealing an automobile on July 10 from a garage at 1043 Fulton street.

Charles Pfananschmidt, 37, a veteran criminal, who begged not to be tried at this time for fear he would be convicted under the habitual criminal act, was found guilty of robbery with a gun by a jury in Judge Kavanagh's court. He was sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary.

Slayer Found Guilty.

John Pavelczyk, 41 years old, an ex-convict with a record dating back to 1909, was found guilty of manslaughter last evening by a jury in Judge Molthrop's Criminal court. The prosecution has asked for the death penalty. Pavelczyk was charged with beating to death Mrs. Lorraine McDonald, 70 years old, on April 4. A motion for a new trial by Defense Attorneys James M. Burke and George Crane will be heard on Aug. 25.

Pavelczyk and Mrs. Elizabeth Wallert, mother of a 10 year old daughter, were co-defendants in the case. Mrs. Wallert turned state's evidence and was granted a separate trial. She charged that Pavelczyk killed Mrs. McDonald with a hammer because she refused to allow him to continue a drinking bout in her home at 1221 West Adams street.

EASTERN WOMAN AIDS POLICE HERO FUND AND LAUDS WAR ON CRIME

A TRIBUNE reader who lives in Richmond Hill, N. Y., sent a $1 contribution to the Police Hero fund yesterday. In an accompanying letter the writer, Mrs. Ethel Bessey, expressed appreciation of the TRIBUNE front page cartoon on July 25, dealing with the problem of protected crime and voiced her praise of Chicago's campaign to rid the city of gunmen.

"Would that some group of resolute American citizens would determine to strangle the criminal element which threatens to strangle America," she wrote. "I vision a determined, united group of two fisted men in every community fired with Decatur's words: 'not one cent for tribute,' and led by a man of zeal. Often it seems to me that only drastic vigilante methods will rid us of the criminal element that seems to flourish unmolested."

Another gift of $1 from V. H. gives the Police Hero fund a grand total of $4,901.30

The fund was started by the TRIBUNE several weeks ago for the benefit of destitute families of police heroes slain by gunmen. Eleven policemen have been slain while on duty since Jan. 1.

WARDEN OUSTS GUARD, AVERTS A PRISON STRIKE

McAlester, Okla., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—A threatened convict strike at the state penitentiary was thwarted today when Warden Sam Brown yielded to the demands of the rebelling prisoners and discharged R. J. Ritchie, veteran guard, who on Monday accidentally killed Rufus Ridling, a 56 year old Osage county convict, while trying to enforce a command upon another prisoner.

Warden Brown's decision to dismiss Ritchie was made at a massmeeting of the convicts in the mess hall immediately following his return from Oklahoma City, where he was reported to have gone to get machine guns in preparation for possible violence.

Prisoners who had previously declared they would not return to work until Ritchie was discharged cheered the warden's announcement and agreed to return to their normal routine. Warden Brown then ordered a holiday for the remainder of the day and the prisoners were returned to the prison yard for a band concert and athletic contests.

Frank Watson, prosecuting attorney of Pittsburgh county, in his investigation into the convict's death, found that Ridling was killed by a ricochet bullet which Ritchie had fired in the direction of another convict. He held the shooting to be accidental.

Warden Brown said he told the assembled convicts that he was not in favor with Ritchie's act and had decided to dismiss him after rebellious convicts had cut off the gas in the prison power plant.

SECRET 6 AGENT HELD IN KILLING CASE CONFESSES

Witnesses Contradict Plea of Self-Defense.

Capt. James Fleming of the Town Hall police expressed confidence last night that he had a first degree murder case against George [Chief] Redston, 31 years old, 731 Belmont avenue, following Redston's confession of the killing of James Spencer, 35 years old, 721 Roscoe street, a minor hoodlum.

Redston in his confession asserts that he killed Spencer in self-defense, but this is disputed by witnesses who assert that Spencer was murdered in cold blood as he pleaded with Redston for his life. Redston is said to have been an informer for the defunct Secret Six organization.

Three Witness Killing.

Spencer had three companions at the time of the shooting, which occurred in front of 3208 Sheffield avenue shortly after midnight yesterday morning. Of them, Danny Wagner, alias Wescitt, 36 years old, 3160 Sheffield avenue, was arrested and found to be wounded. He named the others as Buddy Alderdice an Marty Hoffman, 1020 Belmont avenue. Hoffman and Wagner's brother, Samuel, were arrested last night and all were taken to the showup in the police building.

In the dead man's pocket was found a card of the "United Brew Distributers." Redston said Spencer and the others were going to kill him because he had given his former employer, Alexander Jamie, information that they had participated in a kidnaping.

Advises Girl to Go Home.

Miss Ethel Turnquist, 22 years old, who lived with Redston, was unable to tell how Redston earned a living. Capt. Fleming advised her to return to her former home in Michigan after the inquest and stay there.

The police were unable to establish any connection between the Spencer shooting and the murder on Monday of Leo Mule, 47 years old, 1448 Cleveland avenue, a minor bootlegger.

POLICE PREDICT EARLY CAPTURE OF JAIL FUGITIVE

Meyering Plans Steps to Halt Escapes.

Mike Rogulich, 17 years old, awaiting trial on three charges of robbery and two of larceny, who casually walked out of the county jail Saturday afternoon by posing as a discharged prisoner, will be captured within a day or two, police predicted last night.

Every known hangout of the juvenile hoodlum is under surveillance and the homes of relatives and friends are being watched. Aiding police in the search are sheriff's deputies and state's attorney's men. According to David Moneypenny, warden of the county jail, Rogulich cannot avoid capture long and will be arrested any time now."

Just Walks Out of Jail.

Rogulich's escape is being investigated in every detail. Already two jail employés—James Maroney, a clerk, and P. J. Murphy, a guard, have been suspended. They deny guilty knowledge of the escape. Rogulish walked to freedom simply by using the name of another young prisoner, Julius Ciechny, 17 years old, who had completed a four months' sentence for petit larceny and was to be released. Ciechny disclaimed any knowledge of the trickery, asserting he was asleep when Rogulich impersonated him.

Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan, in charge of the investigation, said yesterday he doubted Ciechny's explanation.

"There's no doubt in my mind that Ciechny aided Rogulich by giving him the information he needed to get by the guards," said Coghlan. "If I can prove this I'll charge Ciechny with aiding a prisoner to escape."

Meyering Sees Warden.

Although Sheriff Meyering, who has charge of the county jail, had no comment to make yesterday on Gogulich's escape, his assistants said the sheriff had spent hours in conference with Warden Moneypenny not only in trying to find out how the youth had arranged the escape, but in trying to devise means to prevent other prisoners from getting away.

The sheirff, according to Joseph Hannan, is considering establishing a finger print bureau in the jail. If this does not work out a picture gallery will be established.

Rogulich is the fourth prisoner to escape from jail in recent years. Another prisoner killed a guard and himself with a smuggled gun. Although only 17 years old, Rogulich has a man sized crime record.

Young Fugitive's Record.

On March 1, 1930, he was found not guilty in the Juvenile court on a charge of attempted burglary. On the last day of the same month he was placed on probation by Judge Francis B. Alligretti in the Municipal Boys' court for larceny of an automobile. On Sept. 8 the same year Criminal Court Judge Philip Finnegan sentenced him to one year in the House of Correction when he was found guilty of petit larceny, to which a robbery charge had been reduced. On June 7, 1932, Judge John F. O'Connell, then on the Municipal court bench, fined him $200 and costs on a charge of disorderly conduct, and on March 17, 1933, he was found not guilty by Criminal Court Judge Philip L. Sullivan on a charge of larceny of an automobile.

QUICK TRUE BILL VOTED AGAINST A TAX SWINDLER

Real Estate Owners Tell of Two Rackets.

Virgil Hovarka, 25 years old, 6234 South Green street, was indicted yesterday just three hours after he had been held to the grand jury on ten charges of larceny and embezzlement arising from his operation of the "Property Owners' Counselor Service."

Hovarka, who is accused of defrauding a number of property owners of amounts running as high as $320 in a tax fixing racket, was arrested after he used a CHICAGO TRIBUNE want ad in an attempt to swindle several other realty owners.

Capt. William Stapleton of the Brighton Park station took the complainants before the grand jury immediately after Judge Thomas A. Green in the Felony court fixed Hovarka's bonds at $50,000, and the indictment quickly followed.

Property Title Racket.

Hovarka's latest racket, according to the complaints, was to tell property owners that he would make first and second mortgages if they would give him $30 to "search the title." He had previously made greater amounts, it was said, promising to have tax bills reduced, and then pocketing the money given him to pay taxes. Hovarka is said to have employed several solicitors in the latter scheme.

Mrs. Julia Sulkunas, 3125 West Pershing road, the widowed mother of four children, told Judge Green yesterday that she paid Hovarka $350 on Oct. 25, 1932, and none of it had been applied on her tax bill. Mrs. Katherine Siedlinski, 4108 South Francisco avenue, said she lost $350 in the same way in August of 1932.

Has Police Record.

Hovarka was arrested on Aug. 18 by police under Capt. Stapleton. He has been twice placed on probation on charges arising from similar rackets. Municipal Judge Matthew D. Hartigan placed him on probation for one year May 22, 1931, and before that period had expired he was convicted again. Judge Joseph B. David in the Criminal court then granted him probation on a charge of grand larceny on Dec. 16, 1931.

Police said Hovarka used the name William Montgomery and had a suite at the Reo hotel, 6258 Stewart avenue, and an office in the Engineers building, Wacker drive and La Salle street.

NAB 2 SUSPECTS IN $131,000 BOND THEFT ABOARD LEVIATHAN

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Postoffice inspectors announced today that two men were arrested in Kansas City on charges of complicity in the theft of $131,000 in Kingdom of Italy bonds from the United States mail. The robbery, it was said, occurred aboard the steamer Leviathan, or just before the mail was placed aboard that liner, last February.

The men under arrest gave their names as James Mitchell and Al Harris, but these were believed to be fictitious. Postoffice inspectors, it was stated here, brought the men from Kansas City, where they were arrested by police, to Chicago by airplane today. Later they will be brought to New York.

Six of the stolen bonds, valued at $1,000 each, were recovered three weeks ago at the office of Carlos J. Avila, dealer in securities, at 29 Broadway, and Avila was held in bond of $15,000 on a charge of unlawfully possessing them.

FIVE ARRESTED FOR HIJACKING OF LIVE STOCK

Trucks Seized on Roads; Find Farm "Fence."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Four men and a girl were under arrest here tonight as the alleged operators of a stock farm in Walworth county which was used as a blind for hog hijacking activities. Officials charged that farm animals stolen from trucks on the way to market were taken to this farm and later sent out to market by the hijackers. Farmers of northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin were the victims.

One of the prisoners, Leo Lyman Pierce, 20 years old, of St. Charles, Ill., confessed tonight, police said. They said he admitted taking part in eleven robberies of stock farm trucks, the latest robbery being in Mannheim road, west of Chicago, last night. This hijacking netted him and four other men nearly thirty hogs. Pierce was seized today while trucking fourteen of these animals to the Milwaukee stock yards.

Two Brothers Held.

The prisoners besides Pierce are Sam and Charles Pizzo, brothers of North Riverside, Ill.; James Bagley, a local farmer, employed as a hired man, and a girl, dressed in overalls, who said she was Allen Dean and lived in Chicago. Information from Chicago is that the Pizzos are known in Cicero and Berwyn as saloon operators and alcohol peddlers.

The break-up of the stock farm blind resulted from the investigations of District Attorney B. O. Reynolds and Sheriff George O'Brien of Walworth county.

Their suspicions were aroused several weeks ago by two anomalous circumstances: that the Pizzo farm raised no live stock, yet shipped more stock to market than neighboring farms, and that the farm raised no feed for its stock.

Makes Eleventh Delivery.

A watchful waiting policy followed. This morning young Pierce was seized with fourteen hogs as he drove up to the J. B. Van Norman firm. It was his eleventh delivery. At first he denied knowing the operations of the farm. Then he confessed. He said he was hired on July 15 by Sam Pizzo and since then had figured in eleven hijackings.

Pierce said that he was driven to Chicago yesterday by a man he knew as Smith; that Smith took him to 22d street and Harlem avenue and told him to wait for some other men. At midnight Smith returned with four men and all went to the Mannheim road section, where later the men halted a Shore brothers hog truck from Shannon, Ill. Pierce drove the hijacked load to the Pizzo farm.

Find Shotgun.

Police, after nabbing the St. Charles youth, hurried to the farm and seized Charles Pizzo, Bagley, and the Dean girl. Bagley insisted he knew nothing about the farm operations other than that he tended stock. Pizzo refused to talk, as did the girl. Sam Pizzo was grabbed this evening when he returned to the farm. In his car detectives found a loaded sawed-off shotgun.

Sheriff O'Brien said the gang has enriched itself by its hijackings. To one firm alone it sold $2,400 in stolen hogs, he said. Records of sales found in the farmhouse showed $4,000 in sales. The gang specialized in hogs because they were easier to handle, O'Brien said, and not so easy to identify. It is likely the federal government will be called into the case because some of the thefts violated the interstate interference by theft act.

EXPERT WOMAN SWIMMER DROWNS.

Quincy, Ill., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Miss Bee Vosse, 27, was drowned in the Mississippi river near Martindale summer resort camp early today. Her body was recovered by fishermen shortly before noon today. Miss Vosse, an expert swimmer, was seized with cramps and sank before members of her party knew she was in danger.

U. S. WILL MOVE 4,260 BODIES FROM GRAVES

Power Project to Flood Cove Creek Area.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Preliminary to the flooding of the Cove creek area, near Knoxville, Tenn., the Tennessee valley authority soon will begin the disinterment of 4,260 bodies now resting in 92 historic east Tennessee cemeteries.

In these ancient burial grounds are interred the bones of many revolutionary soldiers who lost their lives in the battle of King's mountain, as well as those who were the kin of Daniel Boone, Davy Crockett, Sam Houston, Andrew Johnson, and John Sevier. Many of the graves are of those who were among the first pioneers to cross the Allegheny mountains.

Special Cemetery Planned.

The removal of the bodies will be to a new memorial cemetery, the site of which will be selected by the Tennessee valley authority. The country in which these ancient grave yards are located is in the center of the area to be flooded by the great Norris dam, one of the main power units in the Muscle Shoals system. The bodies will be removed at government expense.

"The task of transferring the bodies," the authority announced today, "will be performed with signal honor to the dead and with due deference to the living."

A portion of the famous Daniel Boone trail will be obliterated by the reservoir, which will cover nearly 55,000 acres with a maximum storage of 3,200,000 acre feet.

To Make Artificial Lake.

Located within the basins of the Clinch and Powell rivers, tributaries of the Tennessee river, an artificial lake will be created in Anderson, Union, Grainger, Claiborne, and Campbell counties that will extend up the Clinch river forty-five miles from the Norris dam and twenty-five miles up the Powell river. This reservoir, 1,050 feet above sea level, will have an area of nearly 83 square miles and a normal shore line of 800 miles.

ROBBERY VICTIM JAILED; RETRACTS IDENTIFICATION

Milton Aloss, 28 years old, 1607 North Humboldt boulevard, operator of a gasoline station, was ordered into police custody yesterday by Judge Thomas A. Green in the Felony court after he had retracted his identification of Frank Sliz, 24, and Fred Grok, 22, charged with robbing him on July 8. Police said Aloss had identified the men as bandits at a detective bureau showup.

"Take this man in custody," said Judge Green. "I'll continue this case until tomorrow. Any witness who retracts his identification of robbery suspects at the trial will be held in contempt of this court."

Sliz and Grok, the police say, were arrested on July 24 riding in an automobile which had been stolen from L. Batesole of Marshalltown, Ia. Aloss in reporting the holdup said the robbers were riding in a car with an Iowa license.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday totaled $478,860. A total of $36,257,752 has been collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act was started on April 28. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for the last four years follow:

Aug. 22.....	$ 25,111	$ 50,790
Uncollected ..	$18,161,862	$ 48,642,180
	1930.	1931.
Aug. 22.....	$ 175,917	$ 227,042

The day's collections of 1931 personal property taxes totaled $12,204.

County Judge Jarecki yesterday ordered an investigation by the state's attorney's office of tax delinquent properties where he said he suspected the owners were falsifying their income figures. The judge said he believed more than a dozen property owners whose cases are pending in his court had minimized their revenues to prevent the appointment of County Treasurer McDonough as receiver for the properties to collect the back taxes under the Kerner-Skarda act.

"These people have asked me not to appoint the treasurer as receiver," Judge Jarecki said, "and have requested that they be allowed to make tax payments in monthly installments. But the income figures, on which they base their ability to pay the taxes, have been ridiculously low."

Demands Grand Jury Action.

The judge said he suspected fraud in many of the cases and would ask the state's attorney to institute grand jury action in the instances where his suspicions are verified.

He disclosed that he has a private auditor who is also investigating the cases where the income appears insufficient for the property. The auditor has discovered evidences of fraud in two cases, Judge Jarecki said.

"People must be made to realize that the taxes are a prior lien," Judge Jarecki declared, "and take precedence over all mortgage liens. Money realized from the properties must be applied on taxes before it is used for any other purpose. In one case, an owner reported a net income of $150 a month and only wished to pay $50 a month on his taxes. He probably wanted to deposit the remainder in his bank account. How does a person like that expect the police and fire departments, dependent on taxes, to operate and safeguard his property? That is one of the cases I want investigated. I think the net income is higher."

Orders 27 More Receiverships.

Judge Jarecki appointed the treasurer as receiver for 27 more tax delinquent properties to enable him to collect taxes aggregating $119,702 under the Kerner-Skarda act. The following list shows the properties ordered into receivership and the amount of taxes owed by each

PLANES RACING TO STOP EPIDEMIC BALKED BY FOG

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Aug. 22.—Two planes carrying doctors and medical supplies in an effort to stop the spread of an epidemic of diphtheria in the isolated town of Santa Isabel were reported forced down by fog today. The population is threatened with virtual extinction, since no medical aid is available there. Land communications with Santa Isabel, which is situated on the border of the pampas and the province of Mendoza, have been crippled by floods.

FIVE LOSE LIVES AS FAST TRAIN SMASHES AUTO

Five persons were killed when their automobile was demolished by a New York Central mail train two miles west of Chesterton in Porter county, Indiana, yesterday afternoon.

The victims were three sisters and two children of one of them. All were from the province of Alberta, Canada. The women were identified from cards and papers as Miss Christine MacDonald, 33 years old; Miss Mary MacDonald, and Mrs. A. F. Masson of Ponoka, Alta. The children were Marie Masson, 10 years old, and Kenneth Masson, 8. The Misses MacDonald had contracts to teach in schools at Ponoka and Edson in the province.

The automobile, driven by Mrs. Masson, was struck by the express train and strewn along the tracks for a quarter of a mile. Witnesses said the train had a speed of about 75 miles an hour at the crossing, which is in oper. countryside.

Dr. Carl Davis, coroner of Porter county, ordered the bodies taken to two undertaking rooms at Chesterton, where efforts were being made to establish conclusive identification.

The railroad runs between two parts of U. S. Highway 20, which are to be connected by a viaduct running above the tracks. The project has been uncompleted for two years while highway officials have negotiated with the railroad authorities.

Two fatalities yesterday increased the 1933 motor toll in Cook county to 638. The victims:

Frank Hull, 38 years old, 520 Herron avenue, Pittsburgh. Died in Holy Cross hospital of injuries incurred when three automobiles collied yesterday noon at Harlem avenue and 79th street, near Willow Springs.

Charles Hunt, colored, 43 years old 459 East 31st street. Died in Michael Reese hospital after he was struck by a truck while crossing South Park way at 30th street. Jack Hisle, 113 Germania place, the driver of the truck, was held for the inquest.

Miss Sarah Purcell, 50 years old, 836 East 55th street, was seriously injured last night when she was struck by a hit and run automobile at Stony Island avenue and 83d street.

5,000 EMPLOYES PAID IN COUNTY TAX WARRANTS

Five thousand county employés have been seizing the opportunity to obtain 1933 tax anticipation warrants in payment of salaries earned between Feb. 1 and July 1 of this year, it was revealed yesterday by Emmett Whealan, president of the county board.

The employés, he said, are getting practically par value for the warrants by using them to pay rent and bills. He estimated that 75 per cent of the ten two week pay roll periods involved will be met in tax warrants.

Whealan added that few of the employés who convert the warrants into cash are losing more than seven or eight per cent. He explained that the warrants were considered so desirable because their issuance will be restricted to 50 per cent of the 1933 county corporate tax levy.

The total county pay roll in the period from Feb. 1 to July 1 of this year is approximately $4,000,000. Whealan expects it will be possible to meet with cash the pay rolls for July, August and probably September, before Christmas.

Approximately 8,500 warrants ranging from $10 to $250 for the bi-monthly pay roll periods have been issued to date.

PILOT LEAPS OUT; EMPTY PLANE HITS UNOCCUPIED HOUSE

San Gabriel, Cal., Aug. 22.—(AP)—A pilotless airplane roared over rooftops and terrorized several hundred residents here today before it crashed in the back yard of an untenanted house without injuring any one.

The plane was flown to Los Angeles from San Diego by Kenneth Chastain and A. Saul Alpert. Shortly after they landed the ship was taken up by Morrie Gordon, a pilot at Alhambra airport, for a pleasure ride. At a height of 3,000 feet the left rudder cable broke and Gordon bailed out in his parachute.

While Gordon was floating safely to earth the plane went into a steep dive. At 1,000 feet it suddenly leveled off and headed for the San Gabriel business district.

Frequently zigzagging, it appeared about to crash atop the railroad station when it veered and dived to the left of that building. In an instant, however, it encountered a line of telegraph wires, turned over on its back, and crashed in the yard.

Body of Chicago Boy, 5, Taken from Lake Geneva

A two day search for Bruce Winge, 5 years old, 1113 Austin boulevard, Chicago, ended yesterday when his body was taken from Lake Geneva at Fontana by the water safety patrol. The boy had disappeared early Monday and it was feared for a time he had been kidnaped. He was found fully clothed, and it is believed he fell from a pier into the lake while playing. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Winge.

HALT WHOLESALE GAS RATE SLASH, U. S. COURT ASKED

A petition for an injunction to restrain the Illinois commerce commission from enforcing its order of June 16 reducing the rates on gas supplied by the Chicago District Pipe Line company to the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois and the Western United Gas company, was filed in the federal District court yesterday.

Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley set the matter down for a hearing on Sept. 25 before a rate court consisting of himself, Judge George T. Page, and Judge John P. Barnes.

The petition contends that the rates, as ordered by the commerce commission, are confiscatory. The injunction, if granted, would have no bearing on the small voluntary reductions to consumers recently granted by the distributing companies, according to the law firm of Cooke, Sullivan & Ricks. It would, however, prevent further reductions which may be ordered by the commerce commission upon completion of its present investigation.

Drastic reductions in rates charged domestic users of electricity in East St. Louis and Alton were announced yesterday by Chairman Benjamin F. Lindheimer of the commerce commission. The Alton reduction of 23 per cent and the East St. Louis slash of 16 per cent, in addition to the companies' assuming the 3 per cent federal tax, will become effective Oct. 1, Chairman Lindheimer said.

GANDHI GROWING WEAKER; PASSES 7TH DAY OF FAST

POONA, India, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi, Indian nationalist leader, grew weaker during his seventh day without food today, but the legislative council was told that his condition had not yet become critical.

The remark was made in reply to a question as to why his wife is compelled to leave her husband's bedside at 8 a'clock each evening.

When Gandhi's condition warrants, it was said, his wife and relatives will be allowed to remain with him.

Gandhi is engaged in a "fast unto death" because authorities refuse to grant him concessions in Yeravda jail to conduct his campaign in behalf of the untouchable class. He was recently removed to the civil hospital.

JAPANESE ORDER AMERICAN YOUTH TO QUIT COUNTRY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Aug. 22.—For the second time in a month an American has been told to leave Japan because of his alleged communist activities. Alexander Buchman, 24, of Cleveland, was ordered by metropolitan police to take the first ship out. Last month Langston Hughes, a colored writer, was ordered to depart.

Buchman, who is an engineer, was charged with propagating parlor bolshevism among young men and women while residing at the Y. M. C. A. here. He later moved to the home of Hanzo Tomiya, leftist leader, where he was visited by police yesterday and told to depart.

Buchman was graduated from the Case School of Applied Science in Cleveland last May. He left for the orient shortly afterwards to attend an international conference against war scheduled to meet in Shanghai.

BRITISH SEARCH ALL VISITORS IN SMUGGLING DRIVE

Takes Drastic Action to End Petty Rackets.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Petty smuggling, chiefly by women, has driven British customs authorities to the decision that all luggage of incoming passengers must be thoroughly searched.

Hereafter no visitor to Great Britain, nor the homecoming national, will escape with the perfunctory examination which he formerly met. The old procedure was simplicity itself. The customs official handed the passenger a card. On it was printed a list of dutiable articles. The customs officer then asked if any of the objects named on the card were being brought into the country.

Baggage Now Searched.

If the answer was negative, then nine times out of ten the officer chalked his initials on the baggage and the customs had been cleared. Few passengers were asked to open more than one piece of luggage, and this was usually examined hurriedly, chiefly for such things as cigars or bottles of perfume.

Now, under the new order, every bag is opened and the contents carefully examined.

A number of salutary fines, imposed chiefly upon women who believed they could smuggle hat models or new gowns into Britain, have been without effect. Cosmetics form another commodity which women concentrate upon, for powder, lip stick, and phials of perfume are easily concealed.

Vacation Smugglers Hit.

A big source of such smuggling has been the innumerable summer cruises on which half the country now spends its vacations. Two week trips at sea touching at a number of Mediterranean or northern ports, with considerable time spent ashore, provide many opportunities for vacationists to obtain bargains in foreign produce. Passengers landing from these ships now occupy the bulk of attention from customs officers.

The amateur smuggler is the person sought by the authorities. Beyond the usual lookout for drug trafficking, government officers usually have good information concerning the professional runner of dutiable goods. For their own protection, for instance, Paris dress designers advise the authorities of all particulars about their clients, who as reputable customers declare their purchases when they return home.

But the model thief and the casual purchaser who believes a model hat or gown can be slipped through is often caught through such coöperation.

Ship Visitors Searched.

The campaign in Liverpool has been tightened to the extent that passes to meet passengers aboard docking ships are severely limited. Friends desiring to board ship are now submitted to the closest examination and afterwards they, too, are compelled to go through the customs examination.

The result has been slower times for boat trains to London, due to longer delays at customs, but on the other hand many articles which would have gotten into the country duty free have been taxed.

IRISH BLUE SHIRTS BANNED; ARMY TO TRY MEMBERS

Death Penalty Faces Foes of De Valera.

BY HUGH CURRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Aug. 22.—The Free State government of President de Valera tonight proclaimed Gen. Owen O'Duffy's national guard [blue shirts] an illegal organization. It simultaneously issued an order setting up a military tribunal under the public safety act. Members of the blue shirts who are arraigned before the tribunal will be liable to death sentences. Hearings may be held in secret. There is no appeal.

The government's action followed a three hour meeting of the executive council, at which Patrick J. Ruttledge, minister of justice, reported on the parades held by the blue shirts last Sunday in defiance of President De Valera's warning prohibiting such parades.

O'Duffy Refuses to Comment.

It was announced that members of the national guard who do not resign immediately will be liable to arrest and arraignment before the tribunal. The tribunal consists of five army officers—Col. Francis Bennett, Col. Daniel McGuiness, Maj. John V. Joyce, Commandant Connor Whelan and Commandant Patrick Tuite. They are the same men who formed the tribunal under the regime of former President Cosgrave.

When informed of the government's proclamation, Gen. O'Duffy said:

"The national guard awaits the verdict of the people. That is all I have to say."

Senator Attacks Policy.

The government's repression of the national guard, which it charges was formed with the intention of setting up an Irish dictatorship, while leaving the Irish republican army unmolested was attacked in the senate tonight. Senator Sir John Keane attacked the government for its handling of the situation created by the national guard. He charged that arms are being borne openly throughout the country and that no action is taken by the government.

"It is common knowledge that within the last fortnight there has been an armed camp on a hill in sight of this city and within 20 to 30 minutes' motor drive from this senate," Sir John said. "In all these matters there have been no trials, no convictions."

Senator Comyn, leader of the government party in the senate, said that the Irish republican army would not be suppressed until the object for which it was instituted had been achieved. That object is the setting up of an all Ireland republic.

Ruttledge, replying to the charges in the senate, said that the government had evidence that the national guard was heavily armed and was importing arms into the Free State.

FLYING NOTES

The fifteenth anniversary of the first air mail flight between Chicago and New York will be celebrated on Sept. 6 at the Fair and by a mass flight of more than two hundred planes over Grant park, where flowers will be dropped on the location where the first mail plane landed in Chicago in honor of the pioneer mail pilots who were killed.

The solo pilot license has been abolished, the aeronautics branch of the department of commerce announced yesterday. The privileges of that grade are extended to student pilots. The next highest grade remains that of private pilot, for which the requirements are unchanged.

TWO "SLEEPING SICKNESS" DEATHS RAISE TOTAL TO 17

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 22.—(AP)—The death of an elderly woman, reported late today and two others tonight sent the total for an epidemic of "sleeping sickness" to 18—about one out of every eleven cases. The woman was Mrs. Fidelia Walker, 78, of St. Louis. Raymond Picquet, 65, and Eileen Monetmann, 3, were the latest victims.

The number of reported cases rose to 182 today, including 145 from St. Louis county and 38 from city of St. Louis.

An extensive study of the disease is under way, Dr. Paul Zentay, assistant city health commissioner, said tonight.

Dr. Ralph Muckenfuss of Washington university, in an effort to produce an immunizing serum, has been inoculating monkeys with various materials from patients but has encountered difficulty in finding an animal susceptible to the disease.

U. S. Sends Expert.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Further to aid St. Louis in what now is recognized as "the largest outbreak of sleeping sickness ever reported in the world in any one given place," the public health service today dispatched a third scientific expert there.

WIFE GRANTED DIVORCE FROM C. P. WHITEHEAD

Mrs. Marion Hughes Whitehead, 22 years old, 11 East Delaware place, was granted a divorce from C. P. [Conkey] Whitehead, millionaire sportsman who is now summering in southern France, yesterday by Circuit Judge Walter J. La Buy.

She was granted a decree after an uncontested hearing at which she testified that her play boy husband had deserted her Nov. 21, 1930. They were married Nov. 14, 1929. Mrs. Whitehead waived alimony inasmuch as a cash settlement, the amount of which was not disclosed, had been made out of court.

Gets "Enough to Pay Debts."

"The settlement was at least sufficient to satisfy my creditors," Mrs. Whitehead said, smilingly, when pressed for the amount she received. She was dressed in a black tailored suit and black beret.

Though Mrs. Whitehead's divorce bill contained only the formal charge of desertion, she had previously declared that their domestic tranquillity was continually ruffled by Conkey's penchant for travel.

Mr. Whitehead was until last year president of the Coca-Cola Bottling company, which is located in Atlanta, Ga., where he has his home, though he spends much of his time aboard his yacht.

Twice Sued for Heart Balm.

He was sued for breach of promise a few months after he separated from Mrs. Whitehead by Miss Selina R. Miller of New York, who demanded $100,000 when he failed to accompany her to the altar. Another suit for $250,000 damages was filed against him in January of 1929 by Frances Porter, former Follies girl of Atlanta and New York, who asked that amount on the complaint that the yachtsman refused to carry out his promises to marry her and to back her in a theatrical career.

THE PRICE OF A QUART Buys More than Oil—If it is the Right Oil

It buys protection for your investment—retarding depreciation and reducing repair cost. It buys more mileage per gallon of gasoline and more efficient lubrication.

Conoco Germ Processed (Paraffin Base) Motor Oil, because of extra oiliness and penetrativeness, is the "right" oil. The "Hidden Quart" stays up in your motor and never drains away, protecting moving parts at the first turn of the starter. No other oil does this—because only Conoco can use this exclusive patented process in North America.

Refined from selected paraffin base crude oil in the most modern refineries, with the aid of the best scientific research, it is a motor oil of the very highest quality—plus the exclusive Germ Process. The cost, no greater than other good oils, brings features they cannot have. Mileage at a total cost of one-fifth of one cent a mile for this oil. Not very much to pay for protection. Think of this when you buy your next fill.

WHERE THE DRAFT IS NEEDED.

Chief Justice Prystalski has asked for more volunteers for service in the Criminal court. That a most necessary drive to clear up the Criminal court docket and administer prompt justice to defendants charged with serious crime should depend upon the will of the individual judge seems to us to need formal correction. The performance of so serious a public service ought not to be governed by the volunteer principle. In war we do not rely upon it, although we make provision for the volunteer. The draft quickly follows and has been necessary as well as more just. We are now in a civil war upon crime, and while we are quite willing to accept and applaud the volunteer, it is certainly a weakness of our judicial organization if we cannot draft judges to meet what is in fact a serious emergency.

The acceleration of criminal justice is essential. It has lately been accomplished through the acknowledgment of public duty of certain of our judges who have volunteered for Criminal court service, but it is unjust both to them and to the community to rely upon volunteering. We suggest that no time should be lost in adopting mandatory rules of court which will automatically provide for a complement of judges in the Criminal court adjustable to the condition of the calendar and at all times sufficient to provide expeditious trial for crime. It is a truism that promptness is an essential to efficacious justice, but it is a truism scandalously ignored, with results as deplorable as they are notorious and inexcusable. Nothing is more discreditable to us as a community or to our system of legal administration than that we should have to rely upon appeals to the sense of social responsibility and to the spirit of personal self-sacrifice to accomplish an efficient functioning of criminal justice.

The community is grateful to the judges who have volunteered in our latest campaign against violent criminality, but it is incumbent upon our bench and bar to adopt and enforce mandatory rules of assignment which will provide at all times for a complement of judges for the Criminal court sufficient to insure prompt trials for all individuals charged with serious crime. If the community is to have protection from crime expeditious justice must be assured at all times rather than be the difficult accomplishment of moments of public indignation.

The present revolt against flagrant criminal violence should not be allowed by bench or bar to pass without the establishment of this capital reform.

NEWS FROM RUSSIA.

News of the deplorable situation in the agricultural provinces of Russia has been seeping through from Russia during recent months and the picture of conditions is not such as the communist propagandists care to have set before the world proletariats. It is not a picture which will look well alongside that which our advocates of recognition are painting for us, especially at a moment when such an authority as Mr. Brookhart is assuring us that Russian credit is the best in the world.

We are not astonished therefore to read the Associated Press dispatch from Moscow that foreign correspondents have just received notice from the soviet foreign office that they are not to travel in the provinces unless they first submit their itinerary and state the purpose of their trip and receive formal permission to travel. William H. Chamberlain, the correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, who has been in Russia eleven years, has just been refused permission to go into the Ukraine, the principal agricultural region of Russia, to see what the harvest looks like, and this in spite of the recent official announcement that Russia has had a bumper crop this season. Also in spite of the bumper crop the price of bread, says the Associated Press dispatch, has just gone up 100 per cent in all government cooperative stores.

Mr. Bookhart, the judicial minded agent who has been selected by Mr. Wallace to go to Russia and tell us about it, will be given every facility to get the information he wants, and his report will be as reliable as his estimate of soviet credit as the best in the world.

A POINT FOR THE PROFESSORIAT.

When Prof. Ogburn was dissatisfied with the consumers' representation in the drafting of the trade codes he resigned from the NRA consumers' board. Now he is back at his desk at the University of Chicago. It is said that his resignation had the effect of bringing about the reorganization in Washington which he desired.

A good deal has been said in derogation of the professoriat, but this incident reveals that there are compensations. The professors can quit without jeopardizing themselves or their families. They can commit a kind of ceremonial hara-kiri on Gen. Johnson's or Mr. Wallace's doorstep and then walk off in perfect health to resume their labors in teaching and research.

It has often been pointed out that it is well, other things being equal, to select public officials who have independent incomes. Such men may be assumed to take office not for the money that may be in it but from a desire to serve. If they find themselves unduly hampered they can and do resign. So did Mr. Ogburn, and so, it is to be hoped, will other professors if they find themselves out of sympathy with the government's policies.

To the extent that the professors in Washington are men of genuine attainment in academic life they may be expected to follow Mr. Ogburn's example under similar circumstances. Lesser figures in the academic world will probably give up their Washington positions with much greater reluctance. A man who is now engaged in telling the mighty of industry and finance where they get off will not lightly return to the less exciting task of telling freshmen about the law of supply and demand.

REMEMBER THE ALAMO.

Today is Texas day at the Fair. It is also Texas day at The Tribune Tower, for today a stone from the Alamo, embedded in the walls of this building, is to be dedicated.

The men who gave their lives in defense of the Alamo died for independence and liberty. The words have been worn threadbare. They have been used so often together that their meanings, once distinct, have become blurred.

Independence is the liberty of states and liberty is the independence of the individual. The eventual victory of the Texans at San Jacinto brought them independence, but it was an independence which shortly afterward they abandoned when they joined the Federal Union. If the defenders of the Alamo died to create a wholly independent state, they died in vain.

The fact, of course, is that the men of the Alamo wanted independence because they wanted liberty. They wished to develop their own resources and live their own lives, free of the hindrances which they feared might be imposed by a government of Spanish traditions. They wished to liberate themselves from the yoke of a capricious and tyrannical state. When the Texans had won their war of independence they turned their attention almost at once to the task of obtaining admission to the Federal Union because they thought that as citizens of the United States they could better preserve the liberties they had won than as citizens of the Republic of Texas.

Any one who knows Texans knows how strongly the tradition of individualism is rooted in the people. As long as this tradition persists the Alamo will be a shrine. When men no longer value liberty the Alamo will be only a quaint old building. The fact is worth remembering in these days when governments the world over are taking upon themselves the right to order the private affairs of individuals, seize their property, and substitute caprice for law. It is profoundly to be hoped that the men and women of Texas will continue to remember the Alamo. They can do no higher service to their fellow citizens of other states.

MUSSOLINI SPELLS IT CHICAGO.

The Fascist government has determined that Chicago shall be spelled Chicago and not Cicago in Italian publications. Cicago had the advantage of conveying to Italian readers something approximating the American pronunciation of the word because ci in Italian is pronounced like chi in English. It is not true, however, that ci in Italian is pronounced exactly like chi in Chicago. The ch in most Indian place names in the St. Lawrence and Mississippi valleys is an inheritance from the French, who pronounce ch as in English we pronounce sh. Frequently the sound was transliterated directly into English, as in Kenosha and Waukesha, but the French spelling still prevails in countless place names, such as Michigan, Cheboygan (Mich.) and Chicago, to name a few. When the Italians authorize the ch spelling of Chicago they are, in fact, paying homage to the French explorers of this region, as, indeed, we are too, in preserving the French spelling.

One of the striking facts of our history is that there is little except these spellings to recall the long dominance of the French in this region. We owe many of our laws and customs and much of our language and civilization to the French, but they were the French who were led by William in the conquest of England and not the French who were ruled by the royal governors of New France.

THE HARD LIQUOR PROBLEM.

[Minneapolis Tribune.]

The certitude of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment brings the problem of the control of spirituous liquors to the fore. We are approaching repeal with no settled policy for the sale of liquors of a higher alcoholic content than 3.2 per cent. And yet the major problem of temperance lies in the liquors whose sale is now prohibited.

That we shall have some form of regulation goes without saying. Whether the experience of the country with prohibition has brought about a sufficiency of opinion to permit the government to go frankly and openly into the liquor business is a probability, though by no means a certainty. Certainly the government will be in the liquor business, like it now is in the cigaret business. Canada and England each take some 60 per cent of retail receipts for liquor, and the Roosevelt administration counts on a whisky tax to help out grandly in the trouble of the treasury.

We have had enough experience with beer to realize its "off sale" distribution in all parts of the city has done away with most of the evils attendant on the old brewery owned saloon. No dispenser of beer is compelled to "push" beer any more than potatoes or soda water. The result is that beer has all but achieved the status of a soft drink and thereby justifying a legislative fiction.

Obviously whisky presents another problem. While the case of buying a bottle or a glass of beer has been conducive to good order rather than otherwise, the reverse will be the case with whisky. There should be no "on sale" licenses for whisky. The selling of whisky should not be considered as a business to be furthered, but solely and strictly as a social problem. The solution of the social problem its consumption creates should outweigh in every respect the financial interests of those in any way interested in its manufacture or distribution.

We have the experience of the Canadian provinces, Sweden, Finland, and other countries to draw on and if our lawmakers can bring themselves to consider the profit item in the problem as the least important, we should be able to make our concession to the drinking habits of the people with the least possible damage to society. The present plight of the whisky bootlegger is evidence of what can be done by a rational handling of the problem. Prohibition was an extreme that failed, and it is equally certain that a policy in the opposite extreme will fail likewise. Profit and the competition incident to gaining it were the causes of much of our pre-prohibition trouble.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

LATE SUMMER

I can be happy though the summer goes.
There is a space of beauty ere the snows,
And lights a flame to make the hedges blaze.
Flamboyant hues and ever purest gold,
And where shall brighter story ere be told
Than speaks along the lanes where summer stands,
For she's a girl now grown to womanhood,
Deep golden tresses and benign and good.
Meet summer just beyond the urban walls,
Mature and sweet within her sylvan halls,
Reluctant in the valley, on the hill.
The morning is a rosebud she may wear,
Appropriate to the riches of her hair.
I trust late summer, placid in repose,
No giddy flights, she good demeanor chose.
Discreet she wends her way to meet the Fall,
An air of peace and beauty over all.

Clarence Milligan.

NOW THEY WANT FORMER PRESIDENT HOOVER to emerge from his comfortable retirement in Palo Alto, Cal., to tell why Detroit banks closed just before the moratorium. Why bring him all the way from California for that? Detroit banks, like many other banks, crashed because the bankers, in the national financial crisis, did not show themselves possessed of so much greater acumen than the rest of us, acumen of which we always had been taught to believe they held a monopoly.

THE MUSIC FESTIVAL.

Stirring music of a 2,000 piece band; beautiful solos falling softly on the twilight air; 5,000 voices massed in one grand chorus; Negro choirs chanting faint spirituals; a mellow voice singing Irish ballads; the audience of 85,000 enthusiastically joining in song; a clear, well rendered cornet solo; the 1,300 little gypsy dancers forming a fluttering rainbow as the colored searchlights played over them; this huge, harmonious, well planned program culminating in a burst of breath-taking fireworks and the strains of "Star-Spangled Banner"; then the good natured crowd being piled systematically onto buses and cars, every one happy with memories of an enjoyable never-to-be-forgotten evening—and the fourth annual CHICAGO TRIBUNE music festival comes to an end.

THE BROOK THAT FAILED.

It came to pass one sad, sad day
Our singing brook dried up;
Its channel now as dry as dust,
We threw away our cup.

The brook had failed, its music stilled,
But we must not forget
That once we cooled our parched lips
When lips and water met.

'Tis better to have given gold
When we had gold to give;
For now we have a blessed fund
On which our souls can live.

'Tis better to have loved and lost
Some sweet and precious one
Than never to have loved at all
When our short life is done.

NO GREATER COLLECTION OF ALL-STAR football material ever was gathered than will appear at Soldiers' field tomorrow night in the East vs. West contest. The name of every participant is familiar to gridiron fans. The question we hear asked most frequently by intending spectators is whether there will be teamwork. Possibly coordinated play will not be as great as if the men were together all season, but the all stars are such outstanding performers there is no reason why their ten days of local practice should not produce at least satisfactory team play. We feel sure Friend Arch, soon to be our boss again, and R. H. L.—were he here—wish us to attend this affair.

HOW DID YOU STAND IT?

THERE has been considerable surprise at the small increase in commitments to insane asylums since the onset of the depression. Probably there has been none. In many states the number of persons sent to such institutions has not grown. In others the small increase has been offset by the decrease in the number cared for in private institutions. These latter have suffered greatly because so much of their former patronage is not able to continue with them for financial reasons, and is to be found in public institutions.

The comparatively small increase in suicides has also been a matter of remark.

The depression and hard times seem to be causing an improvement in physical health and very little, if any, deterioration in mental health. But it is hard on morals, particularly honesty. The increase in commitments to prisons, jails, and workhouses has been very great. Moral disease is very plainly on the increase because of the financial stress. It seems a little harder to cheat without being caught and there is less money to buy immunity. But, after making allowance, there remains a noticeable spread of moral sickness.

Dr. Karl Menninger undertook to find out what proportion of those coming to his place for mental and emotional disturbance had their trouble caused or precipitated by financial stress, and to compare the rate with that which prevailed prior to 1929. He tried to discriminate between those who seemed to be upset by financial disaster and those who were thought by their friends to have "broken" under financial strain. He also tried to discriminate between those who handled their business poorly because they had early-stage paresis or other mental disease, and those who had investments and were guilty of bad business judgment and who then broke down under the strain of worry.

Studies, similar in most ways, have also been made in Elgin, Ill., and in Massachusetts. Dr. Menninger's studies showed a smaller proportion of breakdowns due to financial worries during the depression years than previously, and the other studies are in substantial accord.

What's the reason? There may be more than one, but one seems fairly certain. Those whoopee, jazz years of the boom times were harder on the competitive minds than these later ones have proved. The thrills of hoping, grasping, striving were hard on the mental fabric. Less excitement has proved more wholesome.

A resignation to do the best possible and to accept what comes has made for equanimity and poise. Yearning, ambition, and exalted aiming and grasping were very hard on the mind.

PIMPLES.

A. R. writes: I am a girl 14 years old. My face has many pimples and blackheads. I have tried many creams and salves, but have not been helped. I was told to use as little soap on my face as possible, but this did not help. I even gave up sweets for a while.

REPLY.

When you are somewhat older you will marry. After that pimples will not annoy you very much. There will be other little troubles. Meanwhile the best preventive of pimples is to keep your face spotlessly clean. Your father has no pimples on the skin areas which he shaves daily. If you will lather your face as he does and then scrape it with the back of a knife you will wash out and squeeze out the blackheads. Steaming and washing are good. Massaging the face while in a Turkish bath is good. The heat makes the grease run out. Massaging squeezes it out.

POISON IVY AND VINEGAR.

L. A. D. writes: For poison ivy apply vinegar to the affected parts. For head lice saturate head with one ounce of sassafras oil. It works like magic. This oil can be bought in the drug store.

Why probate when you have nothing, not even insurance or stocks, only (3) a little cottage which belonged to her folks? A claims (4) he has insurance, but made out to his wife as beneficiary. He has $3,500 in stocks, but (5) in his name and that would have to be probated, but (6) insurance would not be, as it is made out to her. A has made a will. She has full power of all his belongings and no bond is required. C claims all must be probated. Who is correct? J. M.

1. A is wrong.
2. Probate can be dispensed with in such cases.
3. Probate would be necessary in order to produce a merchantable title to the real estate.
4. Probate not necessary.
5. The transfer officer of the corporation probably would require probate as to this.
6. Correct.

RECEIVERSHIP.

Brookfield, Ill., Aug. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A forecloses on a $3,000 mortgage. 1. What does a receiver's bond cost? 2. What is the standard commission on rent collected? 3. B [4] after paying $120, told A if he would give him moving expenses he would move, which he did. There were no repairs during the time. Now A received $50 from the receiver and was told he was lucky to get that. 5. What other expenses are there connected in receivership besides insurance bonds and rent commission?

R. P.

1. It is a matter of private contract between the receiver and the surety company. Presumably, the premium would depend in large part on the size of the bond.
2. Take the matter up with the Chicago Real Estate board.
3. We assume that B is the owner of the fee.
4. We assume that this was a part payment on the mortgage.
5. The receiver himself is the best source of information as to what the actual expenses in the case are.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 23, 1917.

AN ATLANTIC PORT.—Surprised by a British warship, the German raider Sea Adler, which for a time roamed the seas with the famous Moewe, has been sunk in the Atlantic. The news was brought here by a British steamer, on board which were a part of the crew of the German ship. The vessel then steamed to England. The raider, according to the report, went down fighting and part of its crew with it.

CHICAGO.—Abrogation of all contracts with consumers for the sale of bituminous coal at the pit mouth probably will be asked by the coal producers of Illinois as their first act under the price slashing order of President Wilson. Between 20 and 30 per cent of the output of the mines of the state is covered by contracts, some of them made recently at higher prices than the scale fixed by the President.

WAR SUMMARY.—Germans open offensive in region of Riga and force Russians to retreat. Russians subjected to heavy bombardment in the direction of Dvinsk. British report further gains in Lens sector. Berlin and Paris report repulse of foe's attack on Verdun front. Heavy fighting raging on Italian front. Vienna disputes claims of Italians. Germans lose three planes in raids over English coast; bombs kill eleven, injure fourteen. Fifteen vessels of more than 1,600 tons were sunk by German submarines last week, in addition to two fishing vessels. A grand total of 801 British vessels has been sunk since unrestricted warfare began.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The outstanding feature in the international situation in Washington yesterday was the disclosure that Russia has presented a statement of her situation to the entente governments and America, indicating that without dependable assurance of immediate, adequate and continuing assistance she will be unable to continue in the war.

CHICAGO.—A cloud of delicate white and yellow butterflies glinted in the sun about the heads of Lieut. Wayne Chatfield-Taylor and his bride, Adele Blow, as they stood at the altar of white satin and flowers during their wedding ceremony yesterday under the trees of Deer Park, the magnificent estate of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Preston Blow of La Salle, Ill. Whatever expectations of beauty and splendor Chicago society had of this much talked of country wedding were far more than fulfilled in what they found.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Senator Gore, who was asked to resign by several hundred of his constituents at Hugo, Okla., because of his amendment to the war revenue bill to prohibit the use of money raised for transporting troops to Europe, replied today. He told the Hugo citizens that if they would have the President and other members of congress resign he would quit and run for reelection.

WORLD'S FAIR QUESTION BOX

Requests for information concerning A Century of Progress will be answered in this column. It is urged that questions be stated briefly.

QUESTION—A group of us are coming to the Fair Saturday and, being without much money, would like an outline of the most important exhibits to see. Would you please prepare such an outline?

ANSWER—Not knowing your tastes, or the things in which you are interested, such an outline would be impossible. Every exhibit at the Fair is of interest to some one and to see them all would require a week or more. The best policy for you to follow is to make a general survey by bus or on foot, and then purchase a guide book in which you can pick out the buildings and exhibits you wish to survey more thoroughly.

QUESTION—Will Chicago day 1893 tickets admit one to the Fair at any time?

THE CASE OF "FUR" SAMMONS.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Your editorial criticizing the federal authorities for the delay in prosecuting the Touhy kidnapers and in contrasting that delay with the practice of Wisconsin authorities comes with ill grace from a mouthpiece of the people of Chicago or Illinois. For more than six years Maryland has endeavored unsuccessfully to obtain "Fur" Sammons from Illinois in order to try him for robbery. Maryland has been blocked at every turn. Indeed the results could not have been different if the entire executive, legislative, and judicial powers of Chicago and Illinois had been employed to keep this public enemy from Maryland's clutches. The latest turn: Sammons was recently arrested in Kansas City, where he had gone after release from an Illinois jail. Chicago and Maryland authorities asked for him. He was returned to Chicago and immediately regained his freedom on bail. If he had been turned over to Maryland he would not have been released on bail, but would have been tried immediately and probably would have started to serve a substantial sentence within two or three weeks after reaching Baltimore just as Willie Niemoth [another Chicago public enemy] did for participation in the same crime.

Why do the people of Illinois tolerate authorities who apparently coöperate in efforts to assure the freedom of a criminal such as Sammons? Since Chicago has no intention of trying him in the near future, why is there not some individual or group in public office in Chicago or Illinois that is willing to assist Maryland in its efforts to land this criminal in jail? Why should you not raise your voice in support of Maryland's claim, and taunt your own local authorities with their gross laxity in this case?

BALTIMORE LAWYER.

REFORMS.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—About 15 years ago we were told that if the red light districts were closed, and if we adopted prohibition, and if women were granted equal rights with men, especially the vote, this country would be second only to heaven.

Well, the red light district was closed in practically every city and town; we had prohibition for nearly 14 years; women have had the vote for about the same time, and what have we?

The only attributes that women have equaled men in are coarseness of manner and smoking. They certainly have not tried to imitate men in modesty or refinement. F. J. McINTYRE.

COURTESY AT ALL TIMES.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—Much has been said about the courtesy existing on the part of public servants during A Century of Progress Exposition. Officer No. 3075, at Washington and State streets, did not have to put on his Century of Progress clothes to be courteous, kind, and altogether a high grade man, because he has exercised these virtues for many years at this point. Would that more of his fellow officers followed his example before and after the Fair! PASSER-BY.

THE VIRGIN OF THE FISH.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—In answer to C. F. H. under heading "Question for Art Students," in your Aug. 19 column: This picture is usually called "The Virgin of the Fish," by Raphael. It is in the Prado museum, Madrid. The size is 9 ft. 11¼ in. by 7 ft. 5¾ in. It was originally painted on wood and transferred to canvas. W. W. RALEIGH.

A FRANTIC MOTHER.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 18.—Last Sunday, after letting my baby play in the bathtub a while as usual, to my horror I discovered him in an unconscious condition, under the water, and for all I knew he was drowned.

While my husband worked with him, I sped to the phone, called our doctor, and upon his advice called the police to ask for the pulmotor squad to come save my baby's life. I want you to know the order of the ensuing conversation.

"Please send the pulmotor out. I found my baby nearly drowned in the bathtub."

She: "Why, why don't you take him out of the tub?"

"I did, of course. Please hurry."

She: "Well, why don't you call your doctor?"

"I did. He said to call you."

She: "Wa-al. Just a minute."

Minutes of waiting. My heart about to burst. Then she came back, and, dear readers, will you believe me? She greeted me like this, "Say, can't you take him out of the tub by yourself?" This when I thought my baby was dying. By swallowing hard I was able to keep harsh words back, and finally obtained her leisurely promise to send some one out.

The policemen were kind, and my baby was saved. But like a stinging memory I can't forget the impudence of that operator.

If she feels funny and just must kid people, does she have to do it when one wants help and at a time when minutes count for so much? And, anyhow, was there any humor in her witty suggestion? What do you think?

THE YOUNG MOTHER.

THE DISCOVERY OF AMERICA.

Philadelphia, Aug. 20.—With my son, who in a few months will be 12 years of age, I recently returned from a trip to Chicago and the World's Fair and, this being my first visit to your city, I want to let the people of Chicago know how much I enjoyed the days spent there.

I had expected to hear soon after my arrival gunshots and witness holdups and the like, as that is the way Chicago is spoken of here in the east. But quite the contrary, everybody in Chicago was very lovely and most polite to visitors, of which you now have so many.

And right here I can cite an instance. When we arrived in Chicago my son had quite a sore eye, probably a cold from sleeping in the Pullman. In the afternoon while visiting the Fair for the first time a lady in our party took my son to the hospital on the Fair grounds, where they gave him some treatment and helped him so much that his eye was soon normal. No charge was made for the service, but a careful record of his name, etc., was kept.

This incident impressed me very much and made me feel most thankful towards your great city.

Also the wonderful parks, and how immaculately clean they are kept, impress the visitor right away and I must say many a city can learn a lesson from Chicago, Philadelphia included.

HERBERT VON HAKE.

THE CRIME DRIVE.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—At last Chicago courts are crime conscious! What a laugh! Has one major gangster come to trial in Chicago since the crime drive? Where are our public enemies No. 1, No. 2, No. 3, No. 4, and No. 5? Are they in town? Or don't they carry guns any more? HOWARD RICHARDSON.

MILK COMPANIES AND PRODUCERS IN DEADLOCK

Meet Again Today; Price Problem Unsolved.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Negotiations between the Chicago milk companies and the Pure Milk association, bargaining agency for 18,000 dairy farmers, looking to a readjustment in prices paid farmers for their milk and cream used in Chicago and suburbs, remained at a standstill last night as the conferees adjourned until 10:30 this morning in the Hotel La Salle.

Throughout the all day meeting yesterday, which followed a similar closed session lasting far into the night Monday, it is understood that a maze of details involved in the present milk market contract between the dealers, farmers and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace was being considered.

Price Question Undecided.

Very little consideration has been given to actual prices for wholesale or retail milk, except that the farmers are insisting upon an advance in prices paid them for milk and for cream. If granted by the milk companies, it is maintained that such a demand would boost retail prices in the Chicago area at least 1 cent per pint and 1 cent per quart from the present prices of 6 cents per pint and 10 cents per quart, approved by Wallace.

Among the complications caused by the farmers' demands, it has developed, are fears that further price increases by the organized milk companies would turn more business to the cut rate independent milk dealers.

Milk Stands Continue Spread.

Despite announcement by W. C. McQueen, local dairy adviser for the government's farm adjustment administration, that the cut rate concerns will be prosecuted, they are continuing to open new milk depots where patrons pay low prices on a cash and carry basis.

McQueen was reported in Washington yesterday laying evidence of violations of the federal milk contract before the administrators. Word last night was that so long as the suit contesting the legality of the contract was pending in Washington the administration would be unable to prosecute violators in the Chicago area.

Spokesmen for the milk companies contend that any change at this time in the method of paying farmers for milk sold as such or used as cream would endanger the standing of the Chicago milk contract. They likewise contend that it would establish an unwise precedent for some sixty other cities where similar milk marketing agreements are being established.

Expect Cream Price Drop.

A further contention, it is understood, is that with butter prices declining sweet cream prices will also decline, and th[illegible]rm consumption by many of the organized milk companies' customers is considerably lower than a year ago.

Under existing methods of paying farmers who supplied Chicago and suburban milk companies, a premium has been paid for milk purchased to be sold as milk on the basis of maximum sales during the year.

Most of the companies, it was disclosed in recent public hearings, have depended largely upon sales of cream, butter, eggs, and byproducts to show a profit and carry the high delivery cost of nearly 4 cents per quart of milk. The farmers now maintain that the milk and cream sales should be separated and each pay its proportionate share of overhead costs. A radical element in the Pure Milk association is asking that farmers be paid 50 per cent of the consumer's dollar, a proposal denounced as "ridiculous" by those in conference here this week.

CARETAKER HURT IN GAS BLAST ON ARMOUR ESTATE

An unusual explosion on the estate of A. Watson Armour, 900 North Waukegan road, Lake Forest, yesterday severely burned a caretaker, Lewis Lubo, 35 years old, and blew out a door and window in a pump house. Lubo was taken to the Alice Home hospital in Lake Forest. He was burned on the face, head, and arms. The blast occurred when natural gas which was being released from a water reservoir collected in the pump house and was ignited by a spark from an automatic pump motor.

USE FIRE HOSE TO BREAK SEINE BOAT BLOCKADE

CONFLANS-STE.-HONORINE, France, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Streaming fire hoses and a concerted drive by marines, police, and mounted guards broke up a blockade of the Seine river today by striking boatmen. Cheered on by their wives and children, the strikers wielded boat hooks to prevent the attackers from climbing aboard the barges. But the fire hoses proved too much.

Three tugloads of marines and 200 armed policemen entered the fight before thirty barges strung across the Seine could be moved. Traffic was tied up for several hundred miles. The strikers retreated and maintained a blockade of the Oise river above its confluence with the Seine.

The boatmen demanded shorter hours and those operating horse and tractor towed barges protested against competition of motor driven craft.

Raise Contributions at Benefits.

Each year the children of Chicago prove they are the best friends the Camp Algonquin and free ice funds have. Yesterday's contributions include money raised by children in four benefits given especially for the funds.

Patricia Snider, 7 years old, 6752 Oglesby avenue, managed her benefit single handed. She set up a lemoade stand and earned $2 which she sent to the free ice fund.

Give Picture Show.

Two picture shows and a candy sale were given in the basement at 6729 Oconto avenue by Jack and Dale Padgitt, Louise and Doris Erickson and Philip Phlum. The neighbor children attended, paying one cent admission. One dollar was raised for the ice fund.

A third benefit for the ice fund was a play directed by Lorraine Heitz and Marjory Brophy. This brought in $4.50. Those taking part were Charlotte and Mary Jean Maher, Zeita Armstrong, Patricia Heitz, Shirley Slotkin and Mary Sange. A $2 gift from V. H. gave the ice fund a total of $1,648.31 for the year.

Junior Fair Raises Funds.

A Junior Fun City fair raised $5 for the Camp Algonquin fund, enough to send a child to the camp for four days. Those managing the fair were Jean, Miriam and John Holtzheimer, James Glott and James McNaughton. The fair was given at 7216 South Shore drive.

Other contributions to the camp fund were $10 from G. Frazer; $5 from the patriotic bureau for Advancement of Patriotism, and $2 from V. H. The total of $22 brings the grand total to $1,843.02. Contributions to both funds may be directed to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower.

Simple Story of Devotion Is Moving Novel

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Mrs. Barry," by Frederick Niven. [Dutton.]

TRAILING clouds of critical glory, "Mrs. Barry" comes from England. Now and again there appears a perfectly simple, touching story of a devotion which demands nothing and faces fate with epic courage. Such a tale has the strange power of twanging the heart strings of even the most blasé . . . if it is truly simple. It must be almost naïve to have that effect on vast hordes of readers. Such naïve simplicity is the essence of "Mrs. Barry." If it were the merest shade more "artistic," if it were written with even the slightest degree of "art," "Mrs. Barry" would never have reached us roseate with critical glory.

FREDERICK NIVEN.

It is because there is unadorned simplicity in its every line that it has won for itself in England a public which makes authors and publishers believe again in Santa Claus.

"Mrs. Barry" is the story of a few months in the lives of a widow and her very young son. Her husband had at one time been wealthy, a cane sugar king. But popularity of beet sugar, a subsequent bank crash, and the death of her husband in quick succession had left her with nothing but two not very strong hands, often paralyzed at their work by a sharp mysterious pain, to make a livelihood for herself and for her little boy. There was nothing spectacular about Mrs. Barry's poverty, just as there is nothing spectacular about the poverty of thousands of people you and I know . . . no REASON for it, no rightness in it, nothing to make it seem to fit into any pattern.

People like Mrs. Barry don't EARN poverty. Perhaps that's why her story has been taken so to the hearts of readers . . . "there, but for the grace of God, go I" . . . how many times have you—and you—said that to yourselves during the last months.

When the book opens Mrs. Barry is doing out the rooms of her two boarders, an engineer who will leave her when his boat sails and a Siamese who is a "steady." The engineer who praises her for her "heavenly omelets," and the Siamese who often frightens her with the look in his heady eyes both came, she feels, in answer to her prayer. They rescued her and her child almost from starvation.

The little boy, Neil, is a perfect angel, but not too perfect. He is a normal, inquiring, eager, hard playing lad who just has the right instincts about things. Throughout the book Neil never does anything to annoy his mother and yet, miraculously, he never annoys the reader by being too good. There is real love and understanding between the boy and his mother, real tenderness, and they live in their necessarily tiny circle, richly happy in each other. Mr. Niven has convinced his readers of that understanding before the first dozen pages are past.

The daily happenings in their circumscribed lives make up most of the book, the touching Christmas which they celebrated with Neil buying for his mother a dime novel which charmed him, the mother's gentle scheming to wheedle, without seeming to, some old clothes for her child from a prosperous friend; her Machiavellian idea of sending the child to call on a friend who was a companion to a great lady, who had previously been taken by the boy; her eager happiness in discovering that she could get free schooling for Neil as the son of a decayed burgess.

On every page there is some manifestation of Mrs. Barry's devotion to her son. On every other page the delightful picture of a small boy who is as unspoiled and as refreshing as a morning breeze.

And when the reader has become convinced that here at last is supreme happiness of unselfish love, that in its very rightness it is self-perpetuating, that nothing ought ever to happen to such a relationship except that it should bear its fruit in generations of fineness, Mrs. Barry is faced with a tragedy so much more devastating than anything that she had ever dreamed of, that if she had gone into hysterics and given Neil a complex which he could never have recovered from as long as he lived, she might have been condoned.

But a person who faces daily tragedy with fineness does not collapse when the inevitable tragedy confronts her. Mrs. Barry with a courage which not only would move mountains, but which moves—to uncontrollable tears—the reader, faces her final tragedy with the simple, epic calm with which she has faced the collapse of her life, the calm which has been able to make of Neil a boy who will, the reader knows, be ready to face life with the same high courage which made his mother a simple if not unsung heroine.

"Mrs. Barry" is not a great book. But it has a quality which many great books lack—it is moving . . . deeply touching. It is rich in sentiment, and in a gentle kind of shy Scotch humor, and as devoid of sentimentality as a Scotch bag pipe.

Expedition to Collect Mountain Flowers for Garden Growers

New York, Aug. 22.—(AP)—An expedition to collect rare American wild flowers to domesticate them will set out tomorrow for the Appalachian mountains from the New York Botanical garden.

It is believed, says the announcement, that these mountains contain blooms known now only to mountaineers, but which may be developed into some of the world's choicest garden flowers. European gardeners have been sending to this country for such flowers for a century. The result is that many European gardens contain native American plants known to Americans only in the wild.

Making the Most of Beautiful Summer Weather

There won't be so very many more days when Miss Antoinette Templeton can enjoy a sun bath on the lawn after a dip in the pool, so she is making the most of this beautiful late summer weather. Last year Miss Templeton, who is the daughter of Mrs. Clifford Frank Templeton of Highland Park, attended school at Ogontz, but her plans for the coming winter are not definite, although it is certain she will not be a debutante. 'Aida' Tonight to Be Climax of Day at Fair

Texans Will Present Opera in English.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

As a climax to Texas day at A Century of Progress, the Texas Grand Opera company will take possession of Soldiers' Field tonight and give a performance of Verdi's festival opera, "Aida."

As nearly as is possible under the circumstances, it will be an all Texas performance. Mrs. John Wesley Graham, the general manager of the company, brings word that the company numbers fifteen hundred. Chorus rehearsals have been in progress since Jan. 1. Some nine hundred Texas singers will comprise this unit of the opera, and there will be several hundred more in the capacities of ballet dancers, soldiers, guards and supernumeraries.

Perhaps to emphasize the fact that the performance is of Texas and not of Italy, the opera will be sung in English. This in itself is unusual. Not for years past, certainly not since 1910, when the first Chicago Opera company was organized, has the work been sung in anything but Italian. The Texas Grand Opera company, however, would seem to be firmly of the opinion that an opera ought to be sung in the language best understood by most of its patrons, and this is a thoroughly commendable idea.

Even the principals, insofar as possible, are Texans either by birth or by residence. Dreda Aves, for instance, the contralto who will sing the rôle of Amneris, rates as a native Texan. She is a member of the Metropolitan Opera company of New York, where she has sung the part many times. Della Samoiloff, who will sing the name part, was at one time a resident of the state. A few years ago she was a member of the Chicago Civic Opera company. Among other claims to fame attained by her is the fact that she was chosen by Mussolini to sing the part in which she will appear tonight at the opening of the Great Royal theater in Rome several seasons ago.

The other principals are of comparable eminence. Radames will be sung by Joseph Wetzel, first tenor in the Philadelphia Opera company. Amonsaro is Martino Rossi, baritone of the Philadelphia and San Carlo organizations. Leo de Hierpolis of the Philadelphia company will sing the part of the king, and the other bass part, Ramfis, the high priest, will be taken by Amund Sjovil, who would seem to be a newcomer but is reported to enjoy high repute on the other side of the Atlantic.

Vittorio Verse will come from the Metropolitan company to conduct the performance, and Giacomo Spadoni, for many years a valued director of the Chicago company, will be the assistant conductor. Serge Ourainsky and some of the members of his organization will head the otherwise Texas ballet corps.

Prices are scaled at the rate correctly called popular. They will range from twenty-five cents to one dollar and a half. The proponents add that no efforts have been spared to make the performance both spectacular and magnificent.

Front Views and Profiles

IT was an avenue shop, where the deep pile of the carpets, the elegance of the lustre chandeliers, the price of the garments, and the hauteur of the sales force combine to make it what is termed "exclusive." A woman dropped in the other day to bring back a bag she had purchased the day before that did not open and shut properly. A male attendant bowed before her, took the bag and presently returned.

NIGHT club note. Perhaps you've had your portrait done while you wait, but have you while you dance? The other evening a group left a party to go dancing. When one couple [Mrs. Higginson Rogers and Edouard Kulikowski] returned to the table after a dance they found their portraits on the tablecloth, done by David Leavitt, who had amused himself thus while they danced. Then when the music started again Mr. Leavitt moved to another place at the table and busied himself with his crayon. By the end of the evening there were four portraits on the tablecloth. And the proprietor obligingly let one of the ladies take the tablecloth home with her.

THIRTY years ago a young Irishman who later became one of Chicago's best known priests and now is a monsignor, was a student at St. Mary's seminary in Baltimore. The seminary is conducted by the Sulpician Fathers—a French order whose mission it is to train aspirants for the priesthood. The young Irishman, not long over from Ireland, had a rich brogue and was the butt of many jokes. One member of the faculty, a Frenchman, took delight in baiting the Irish student. One day he was holding forth on what a bad lot the Irish were and added that if the real truth were known about most of the notorious characters of history they would be found to be Irish.

"Take Mary Magdalene, for example, one of the most notorious of sinners. She was Irish—her real name was Mag Dillon," he said.

"She may have been Irish, father," retorted the young Irishman, "but she had some terrible French ways about her."

TWO young bachelors-about-town groaned the other morning when the doorbell rang at 7 o'clock and a special delivery letter for each was announced.

"I'll bet it means World's Fair visitors, and mine will be worse than yours," said one to the other. It turned out to be a tossup. One letter was from two spinster cousins in rural Canada arriving in town and eager for guidance at the Fair. The other was from the older sister of a long forgotten girl friend, eager for a whirl in Chicago.

THEN there was the tired young couple who sent their child to camp—partly for her own good, partly because they wanted a rest. Last week they sent for the child to come home. Her room has been occupied by a succession of out of town visitors in the city for the Fair.

ADD town types. Every Sunday night one of the dinner guests at a popular downtown restaurant is an elderly man with enormous eyes and tousled gray hair, wearing an old fashioned high stiff collar and tie. He invariably tips the waitress—and it's a different one each Sunday night—75 cents. He is a dish washer in another restaurant in the neighborhood.

MRS. ARTHUR BISSELL JR. was in the furniture department of a loop store when a youngish man, accompanied by two tired looking, middle aged women in print dresses, approached the girl in charge of the decorated rooms. He had a straw hat on the back of his head, his coat was over his arm, and the sleeves of his striped silk shirt were held up by sleeve garters.

"Can you tell me where I will find the Louis XIV., XV., and XVI. dining room furniture?" he asked.

THEN there was the fellow who was arrested the other day for a traffic violation.

"Didn't you know that was a one way street?" queried the judge.

Beauty Shop Owners See Higher Standards as Result of Code

Members of the beauty industry attending the 14th annual convention of the American Cosmeticians association in the Hotel Sherman are looking for the adoption of a NRA code to bring higher standards to the industry, Miss Frances Martell, secretary of the association said yesterday. The code to be proposed by the association has been drafted, she said, and will be brought before the convention tomorrow. After its adoption it will be sent to Washington to be submitted to recovery officials.

Another sign of better times ahead is shown, Miss Martell said, in the extent the 5,000 shop owners here from every state in the Union, are buying new machinery for their shops. Many have reported a better business outlook, she added, in their own communities.

"I tried the soap the Screen Stars use and now—"

says Miss Marian Ayars
Phila. college girl

"I wanted a clearer, lovelier complexion," says Miss Marian Ayars of Philadelphia. "So I tried the soap the screen stars use. Lux Toilet Soap sure does work wonders! At least the boys tell me a skin like mine ought to knock down a contract any day!"

Like Miss Ayars, thousands of women all over the country are following the screen stars' way to complexion beauty. They find Lux Toilet Soap is such a wonderful aid to loveliness!

Now scientists explain WHY. This fragrant, white soap, they say, in addition to its complete freedom from harshness, its ready solubility, contains precious elements Nature puts in skin itself to keep it youthful.

Anita Page, like 9 out of 10 lovely Hollywood stars, uses this simple scientific care. Why don't you try it for clearer, younger-looking skin?

Work 16 Hours in One Day to Make NRA Film

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—El Brendel, Zasu Pitts and Esther Muir were making one of those short reel features all the studios have been asked by the Hays office to make, to popularize the NRA.

They started work in the morning. Sixteen hours later they stopped.

"I thought," said Brendel, "from what the picture plot said, that everybody was expected to work only seven or eight hours a day, but that's just a lot of movie talk, I guess."

In the film Brendel comes home from his job early and his wife thinks he's fired. "Not fired, we work less," he says. Zasu, the tired mama, demures, but when Brendel says: "Well, it's only fair the housewife should work less, too, and so I brought this along to take over part of your duties"—introducing the beautiful Miss Muir. Zasu decides NRA means "No Relief Accepted" in her kitchen, and sweeps Muir out.

They get a laugh here out of the fact Johnny Weismuller, hearing that several Santa Monica lifeguards had a day off, took them down to Balboa beach for a surf boat ride.

Another Chicago girl, Elsie Dvorak, 20, of the Tony Sarg marionettes at the Enchanted theater, Century of Progress, has been added to the list of girls getting final screen tests for possible choice as Alice for Paramount's "Alice in Wonderland." She is 5 feet tall and weighs 90 pounds. Jill Trelawney Chandor, 13, of New York City, is still another addition to the list. She is an English girl and once acted an Alice in Wonderland part before Queen Mary. They are going to run off the tests of the twenty-five girl finalists before an audience of 25 or 30 writers on movie topics here some night this week. Each writer will be asked to recommend his first, second and third choices for Alice. The choices will be made by numbers, not names.

Barbara Barondess, the girl who did so well as the insurgent cellmate of Jean Harlow in "Hold Your Man" is given the part of a Swedish barmaid in Garbo's "Queen Christina" at MGM.

June Clyde is stepping comebackward with the romantic lead in the star studded, knock down and drag out "Hollywood Party" at Metro.

Helen Vinson, for whom the casting directors have decreed an unbroken career of wanton film wickedness, up to this point, breathed a sigh of relief today when told she had a "clean rôle" in "As Husbands Go" at Fox. She plays opposite Warner Baxter. Catharine Doucet and Frank O'Connor, both of them from the stage run "As Husbands Go" are in the cast.

Warner Baxter has discovered that his appendix is on the left, not right side. He discovered that when surgeons made him keep ice packs on it to ward off a threatened operation.

Tom Mix's once famous auto which cost $17,000 when he bought it, sold in an auto bone yard the other day for $250.

William Wyler, a director at Universal, flew to Mexico City last week for a conference there with Elmer Rice, playright, over filming Rice's "Counsellor at Law." Rice became so interested that he flew back to Hollywood with Wyler. Rice also is author of "Left Bank," which the same studio will make.

Many Parties Given Guests from France

Roy McWilliamses Here for Short Stay.

BY JUDITH CASS.

SUCH a round of parties as are being planned for those popular ex-Chicagoans, the Roy McWilliamses, during their fortnight's visit. They arrived Monday and already they are "dated up" for almost every night during their stay with Mrs. McWilliams' brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Belden, in Lake Forest.

The McWilliams' villa, Mendigaina, in Vidart, France, is the scene of interesting and gay parties all the time and all smart Chicagoans who go to that part of the world enjoy their hospitality so it is no wonder that their friends here wish to entertain them royally during their visits in Chicago.

Last night the Beldens entertained at dinner for their guests and tonight Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney is giving a party for them. Tomorrow Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams will pay their first visit to the Fair so they have accepted no invitation for tomorrow night, but on Friday Mrs. Howard Linn is giving one of her delightful dinners for them. The Beldens will be dinner hosts again on Saturday night and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster and Mrs. Byron S. Harvey are planning parties for next week.

Another couple who is being "partied" extensively during their visit to Lake Forest is Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Williams, but most of the affairs being given for them are so small and informal that their hostess, Mrs. Lawrence Williams, prefers not to have them mentioned. Wheeler and Lawrence are brothers and this is the former's first visit to Chicago since he took Miss Margaret Patricia McManus as his bride in Agua Caliente last June.

Take Boat Trip to New York

After ten days in Hollywood, where the handsome young artist has a studio, Mr. Williams and his bride sailed for New York via the Panama canal. On their way west from New York they went to Harbor Point to visit his sister, Mrs. George A. Ranney, and arrived here last Saturday. The date for their departure for the former Miss McManus' home in Winnipeg is uncertain, but Mr. Williams' relatives and friends here know it will be too soon, no matter what it is. Mr. and Mrs. Williams, like most visitors to Chicago this summer, are spending almost every day at the Fair.

The older one grows the more fun it is to have birthday parties thinks William S. Monroe after the charming party his wife gave for him last night at their lovely place, White Gates farm, in Wayne. Mrs. Monroe had invited some of their neighbors and friends from nearby Geneva to come for supper, which was served indoors, and then the whole party adjourned to the playhouse on the estate for dancing and games.

The Monroes' son, Henry S. Monroe, still is in China, in Peiping, with his aunt, Mrs. William J. Calhoun, whose address is such a fascinating sounding one, 10 Ma Ta-Jen Hutung. Young Mr. Monroe will leave China about the middle of September, but Mrs. Monroe tells us she has heard of no plans for Mrs. Calhoun's returning to Chicago any time soon, which is bad news to her many friends here

BLOOD MONEY

SYNOPSIS.

Uncas Cresap and his Chinese servant are found dead in the upper room of Cresap's boathouse on Kettle pond, near the eastern end of Long Island. Gilbert Jonathan Redd, Cresap's stepbrother, keeps a written, private account of developments in the case. A blow on the forehead from a slender, sharp edged implement killed Cresap. The cause of the Chinaman's death is not apparent. Capt. Bray, a special investigator, and an old friend of Redd's, helps the men from the district attorney's office in solving the crime. Redd is a former police reporter. Florence Dane, Cresap's niece and an orphan, lived with him. Redd was fond of Florence's mother. He bought a home near Cresap's in order to protect Florence. Cresap made his fortune in the far east. Redd freely admits to Bray his hatred of Cresap, who was a drunkard and a tyrant. The Chinaman and a dwarf, Sabino, are the most important of the servants, and there seemed to be some secret bond between them and their employer. Bray calls the members of the household together for questioning. He has found, spread out on Cresap's desk, a new will, though unsigned, so the old will stands. Bray confronts Florence with a photograph of a young man.

INSTALLMENT XV.

AN OPPOSED ROMANCE.

Now, the last time before this that I had seen this framed photograph it was occupying a solitary place of honor on Florence's dressing table upstairs, its silver work all polished and shining, and by it, fall flowers in a vase.

At sight of it here, Florence muffled a sharp gasp and huddled closer to me, and, as with my arm around her I comforted her, I was aware out of the tail of my eye that Sabino had turned himself about and was in a crouch and his unwinking basilisk glower was lit with a great hatefulness, a great triumph. Very gladly I could have taken that little monster's thick neck between my two hands and squeezed the breath of life out of him then and there. Perhaps some day I shall gratify my longings by doing that very thing. I think I should enjoy it.

"Yes," she cried, "it does! And by what right did anybody——?"

"Me—me—me!" broke in Sabino, unable longer to contain himself. "I told where it was . . . I told who it was." And vehemently he beat with clenched fists on his deformed barrel of a chest.

"That'll be about all for you, buddy," commanded Bray harshly. "This here is no free for all—this here aims to be a peaceable little dialogue between this young lady and me."

The baleful drumming ceased.

"Me-me-me!" broke in Sabino, unable longer to contain himself. "I told where it was . . ."

"Yes, miss," said Bray, as though there had been no interruption, "I guess I'll have to admit it was me confiscated your picture. It'll come to no harm through us, but I'm afraid we'll have to hang onto it for a spell. What's this nice looking young fellow's name, for instance?"

"You know."

"Please now, miss, you're making this harder on us than what it already is. Mr. Gregory Thorpe, that's the name, eh?"

"Yes."

"And—you'll have to excuse me if I sound impudent—he's your sweetheart, ain't he?"

"He's—he's fond of me."

"And you're fond of him. As a matter of fact now, ain't it so that you two are engaged to each other?"

"We have—" choosing her words she faltered—"we have an understanding."

"An understanding to get married whenever it can be fixed up—is that right?"

Affirmatively she bowed her head.

"Your uncle that's dead—Mr. Uncas Cresap—he didn't care deeply for that idea though?"

"He opposed it—yes."

"He didn't like the notion of your being in love with this young man? Or him being in love with you?"

"No, but with no proper cause."

"Exactly. But opposed. Fact is, it's true, ain't it, that he'd been dead set against the whole thing ever since this boy came down here the past summer and met you?"

"It is."

"And towards the last part of the season you two had to sort of do your courting on the sly, didn't you?"

"You might put it that way."

"Seems like from what I learn, that's the only way I could put it. . . . O yes, Mr. Thorpe's home is out in Ohio, ain't it?"

"Yes—Toledo."

"And you've been corresponding with him out there—privately and unbeknownst to your uncle?"

"O, why torment me like this! You must know that I wrote to him and that he wrote to me—that we both wrote every day. Some one has found that out, some one has told you."

"Yes, miss, p'raps so. But your uncle didn't find out about this here letter writing—or maybe somebody tipped him off—until about two-three days ago; and then he raised a hullabaloo over it, ranted around, made a fuss?"

"He made a scene with me."

"As to how, please?"

"Denounced me, vilified Gregory most shamefully."

"Made threats, too, didn't he?"

"Yes, of a sort—against Gregory."

"But the worst threat of all he made against you?"

"I don't think I understand."

"Pardon me once more, but I think you do. The big threat he made was against you—the threat that he'd disinherit you, that he'd fix his will over so that instead of getting practically all he had when he died, barring maybe a small gift to somebody here and somebody there, you'd be cut off without a cent?"

The badgered child threw up her head.

"Do you two men think I cared about that?" she countered.

"I'll be honest, and tell you, miss, that I, for one, don't believe you would care. But all the same, after he'd declared his disagreeable intentions, you slipped out and you sent this here young man of yours word—telephone or telegraph perhaps—telling him what was afoot and asking him to come on right away." He didn't make a question of this, he made a direct accusation of it.

"I wired him day before yesterday."

"And he got aboard the next train?"

"He drove across country—in a car."

"His own car?"

"He doesn't own a car. He can't afford to own a car. He borrowed one from a friend."

"O ho! He's not a wealthy young man, then?" He reflected on this admission and then—I could read his processes like a printed page—stored them away in his mind. "By the bye, miss, just to keep the record straight, I wonder if you could tell me what sort of a car this here loaned car was?"

She told him—a Folker runabout, a two seater, painted green, with an Ohio license tag.

Here was my opportunity to give Florence a respite from his attack on her breached defenses.

"I can describe him," I said. He nodded and I went ahead with it roughly: "About my height, six feet, that is, and in build not unlike me, although possibly more slender; reddish hair, gray eyes, rather florid complexion, engaging manners, well educated, quick and impulsive in his movements." I prolonged the rigmarole of it until Bray shut me off.

"That's aplenty," he stated and resumed his heckling of Florence:

"Miss, to save time I'm going to recapitulate a few things that, seems like to me, ought to've happened, and if I should happen to go wrong, check me up, please, and if I should happen to be right, why just let me trundle along: Getting this here word from you, the young man comes to New York hell bent for leather. Soon as he arrives he gets in touch with you. I'm assuming that, but it's reasonable to assume it. He drives on down here to Bridgeton. That would naturally be in the forepart of yesterday. You meet him somewheres—by arrangement. By the way, miss, just where was it you met him?"

"Over across on Van Houk's Neck."

Peppermint Is Become Staid, Adult Dessert

BY MARY MEADE.

Ever since we were small girls and boys with a flair for striped candy bags we've had a lover's passion for peppermint. We gloated over it in round flat "lozengers" and sighed rapturously as we lingeringly licked its stripes in wonderful candy canes. Then we proceeded to grow up and discover what coolly delightful things peppermint candy ice cream and smooth after-dinner peppermint patties can do to receptive palates.

CHOCOLATE PEPPERMINT ICEBOX CAKE.

1 pint whipping cream
¾ teaspoon mint extract
2 level tablespoons powdered sugar
Green coloring
1 teaspoon vanilla
18 large size chocolate wafers

Whip one and one-half cups of the cream, add the mint extract, one tablespoon of powdered sugar, and a few drops of green coloring—enough to give a delicate, pale green tint. Spread one-quarter inch of this between the chocolate wafers, standing them on edge to make a continuous roll. Wrap the roll in waxed paper and let stand in the refrigerator over night. To serve place the roll on a serving platter with the remainder of the cream, whipped stiff and blended with the vanilla and the other tablespoon of powdered sugar. For an attractive finish to this it is possible to save out a little of this last batch of whipped cream, add a drop of mint extract and a very little green coloring, and press it through a pastry tube to pipe the roll. Slice diagonally to show rows of green and brown. This recipe serves eight to ten, but may easily be reduced.

PEPPERMINT ICE CREAM—TWO WAYS.

Also peppermint ice cream, which seems to cost plenty when collected at the confectioner's, takes many fewer pennies and not overly long to concoct at home. There are two alternatives. We may start from scratch and make it as follows, or we may simply purchase vanilla ice cream at the store, let it stand till workable, stir in one cup of crushed, old fashioned red and white stick peppermint for every three cups of ice cream, and then refreeze it in refrigerator trays or ice and salt. Or this is the recipe if we would do the whole thing without aid from the corner store:

2 tablespoons granulated gelatin
¾ cup milk
2 cups whipping cream, whipped

Let the gelatin soak for five minutes in the cold water. Meanwhile crush the candy, which should be the crumbly stick kind, and dissolve it in the milk in a double boiler. Add the gelatin and chill the mixture. Fold in the whipped cream and turn into a refrigerator pan or freezer. If a refrigerator is used, stir the mixture when mushy and again twice at half hour intervals. Then let stand in the trays till frozen completely.

And thirdly—something that I maintain is grand-elegant, not to mention su-well, is:

PEPPERMINT CANDY CAKE

1-3 cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, separated
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
1-3 teaspoon salt
1⅔ cup pastry flour
2-3 cup sour milk

Cream the butter and sugar, then add the beaten egg yolks and continue beating two minutes. Sift the flour, measure, and then sift again twice with the baking powder, soda, and salt. Add this to the egg mixture alternately with the sour milk, blending thoroughly. Beat one minute, then fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Prepare two eight inch layer cake pans by greasing them very thoroughly and then dusting them with flour. Pour the batter into them and sprinkle each layer with the crushed candy. During baking the pieces will sink to the bottom of the pans and melt, but don't let that bother you. Simply be sure to turn the layers out on a rack immediately upon removing from the oven. They should be baked in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) for about one-half hour. When the layers have cooled, put the bottoms of the two layers together, spreading between them and over the whole cake a fluffy white icing. While the icing is still fresh, sprinkle over it the second one-third cup of crushed peppermint candy.

Or here's a suggestion: If you would prefer your candy in creamy lumps through the cake, wait till the layers have been in the oven eight minutes exactly, then sprinkle the crushed candy evenly over them and continue baking as before. Either way gives you a deliciously different cake.

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

(Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.)

THE CLOWN DIES.

Pipo, the clown, who had for years entertained millions of people, lay on his side on the ground of his dressing tent—dead from a single bullet wound in the head. The .38 caliber revolver, which lay near his outflung hands bearing those enormous padded gloves known to thousands of circus goers as part of his grotesque makeup, was brand new.

Prof. Fordney, who had been called to the scene picked it up, carefully broke the barrel and saw that only one shot had been fired—and that recently.

He questioned Jack Munger, circus manager, who stated that when Pipo had not responded to his call he personally went to the dressing tent and found him as he now was. The news rapidly traveled, but he assured the professor that nothing had been disturbed. He had seen to that.

"He seemed a bit despondent lately," Munger volunteered, "but I don't understand why he completely made up first—then committed suicide!"

"No," he replied to Fordney's question, "no one seemingly had heard the shot." He offered as a reason the cheering and noise from the big tent.

While the police surgeon, a garrulous little man, went about his business of examining the body, the professor gave his attention to the shell from which the fatal bullet had been fired. He then called in Wilma Viccio, famed bare back rider and Pipo's sweetheart. After talking with her a moment, he turned to the doctor who was still kneeling beside the body and said, "This is not suicide, surgeon. It's murder!"

HOW DID HE KNOW?

What You Are Governs Way You Treat Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

The doctor was talking on the telephone.

"Give my love to all the family," he finished, "especially to Ellin." He waited a moment for the answer, then hung up with a grin.

"Ellin is 4," he explained, "and the answer I got was, 'Indeed, I will not give your love especially to Ellin. Ever since we came home from a visit to you she's been saying, "Dr. Bruce is a very nice man."'"

These two men, who are great friends and who both have children, have many discussions about the bringing up of children. The one who refused to give "My love especially to Ellin" is a rather eminent psycho-neurologist. He doesn't believe in much emotion between parent and children, or between any grownups and children. He thinks that complexes and fixations develop that have to be outlived or broken down for the child's good.

The other man, a professional man of wide experience, believes that love, praise, and the showing of affection are essential not only to the happiness, but to the well-being and development of children and human beings in general.

This sort of discussion between men of this caliber always interests me. The reason is this—that it shows how definitely a scientist's outlook is colored by the kind of person he is. The man who is cool and governed almost completely by his mentality is going to interpret the findings of his own scientific work through his own temperament. The man who is impulsive, whose life centers largely in those he loves, bases his philosophy of life on his temperament.

So it is with parents a great deal, I think. Everything has to filter through each parent's personality, and the resulting child management is colored by what each mother or father is.

who always look forward to her infrequent visits.

Those who visit the orient look forward to visiting her in her old temple, too, and many are the Chicagoans who have enjoyed her hospitality in the Chinese city.

Party Tonight for Merricks

A pleasant party on the social calendars of some of the smart young marrieds is a buffet supper Mr. and Mrs. C. Benson Dushane Jr. are giving tonight at their Scott street residence for Mrs. Dushane's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Merrick. The Merricks, whose home is in Baltimore, where the Dushanes lived until a few years ago, are here to visit their relatives and to see the Fair, and like all visitors to Chicago this summer, they are being kept busy every moment, day and night.

A guest on the north shore who is being entertained at numerous delightful informal parties is Miss Edith Thomas who is visiting the parents of her fiancé, Norman B. Johnson, in Evanston. Mr. and Mrs. William B. Johnson and Miss Helen Johnson, the parents and sister of young Mr. Johnson, and all his friends are helping him make Miss Thomas' visit such a pleasant one that she will welcome coming to Evanston to live. No date for the wedding has been set.

Sharing in many of the festivities for Miss Thomas are Mr. and Mrs. Horace Remington, Mrs. Johnson's brother and sister-in-law, who have just returned from 9 years in Sydney Australia, and are living temporarily at 999 Lake Shore drive. They plan to go abroad in mid-September and upon their return will make Chicago their headquarters, although they will not spend all their time here for Mr Remington's business requires frequent foreign jaunts.

Narcissa Swift to Give Luncheon

A number of Miss Narcissa Swift's friends will be driving out to her home in Lake Forest on Labor day for a luncheon party she is giving. Miss Swift and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alden B. Swift, and the other members of the family, Miss Lydia Swift and Nathan B. Swift, will be moving into their Lake Shore drive apartment around the first of October.

Mr. and Mrs. Potter Lewis Smith of Barrington are being congratulated upon the birth of a daughter last Monday at the Evanston hospital. The name for the baby has not been chosen, but it probably will be reminiscent of Mrs. Smith's French ancestry, just as is the name of the elder Smith child, Renault, who is now six and a half years old. Mrs. Smith is the former Miss Nadine Reno.

Those two tennis minded cousins, Miss Mary Reed and Miss Jean Schweppe, were invited yesterday to be co-chairmen of the Onwentsia woman's committee that is to plan a four day round of entertainment for the visiting Australian and American Davis cup stars coming to play a series of public matches on Sept. 12 and 13 on the Onwentsia courts.

And certainly they are qualified by virtue of their own tennis rank. On Sunday Miss Reed took for herself the Onwentsia championship while Miss Schweppe placed second.

Other members of this select group named yesterday by Charles S. Garland who is arranging the matches and Joseph M. Cudahy, president of the board of governors of Onwentsia, include Mrs. George Corson Ellis, Mrs. James B. Forgan, Mrs. Phelps Kelley, Mrs. George F. McLaughlin, Miss Margaret McLennan, and Mrs. Donald F. Welles.

To supplement this group a men's committee also has been appointed. The membership of this is composed of Gilbert E. Porter III., Dustin Grannis, Joseph C. Belden Jr., Phelps Kelley, and Mr. Garland.

Hunting Season to Open Today

When the hunting season for members of the Longmeadow Hounds of Winnetka opens this morning at 6:40 o'clock the pack will include three couples of English hounds and one couple of Welch hounds from the Warrenton pack of Virginia, secured through Col. Albert E. Peirce, the former master who now is residing at Canterbury farms in Warrenton.

This makes the Longmeadow pack number 15½ couples and Clark J. Lawrence, the new M. F. H., reports that the hounds are in excellent condition, having been roaded three and four mornings a week since the middle of July. Donald F. McPherson is hunt secretary; Howard W. Fenton, treasurer; Harry Nott, huntsman; William B. McIlvaine Jr., and Randell Poindexter, whippers, and Ernest Hicks, field master.

A number of the boxes at tonight's performance of "Aïda" to be given in Soldiers' field in connection with Texas day at A Century of Progress will be occupied by Chicago socialites, most of whom will entertain their guests at dinner preceding the performance, which starts at 8:30 o'clock. Mrs. Moses Wentworth, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe, and Mrs. John L. Senior are a few of those who have taken boxes.

Fair Visitors Entertained at Century Club

Perfect Weather Makes Terrace Popular.

BY ELEANOR PAGE.

The delightful weather yesterday brought a good crowd of lunchers to the sunny terrace of the Century club at A Century of Progress. Mrs. Potter D'Orsay Palmer, smart in a silk frock of blue background with enormous white polka dots and a jaunty white hat, enjoyed a cooling drink in the "Peter Arno" room with her blonde sister, Miss Mathilde Martinez de Hoz, and Theodore Hardeen before they went in to luncheon.

Miss Alice Bremner, the picture of fashion in a sheer blue dress with lingerie touches at the neck and wrists, was showing the Fair to her very attractive house guest, Miss Lucul Constantin of Tulsa, Okla., who is in town for a week. Miss Emily Goehst, in yellow, was helping Miss Bremner entertain Miss Constantin and was also boosting the show that the College club is producing in the Children's theater on the Enchanted island at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Sept. 7, in which Miss Goehst, Miss Dorothy de Riemer, Dr. Carroll Johnson, and Roland Fernand have leading parts. The title of the play is "The Stepmother," and Arnold Bennett wrote it.

A most charming woman turned out to be Mrs. Thomas M. Priestley of Madison, Wis. She wore a sheer suit of brown and white stripes and was lunching with her daughter, Jane, and John C. Macfarland of Pasadena and his daughter, Anne, and the girls' friend, Miss Elizabeth Douglass of St. Joseph, Mo. They are all here for a few days of sightseeing.

The guests who had come perhaps the farthest of any yet registered at the club were Mr. and Mrs. W. Alan Gibbing of Bombay, India. Martin C. Schwab introduced them, and Mrs. Schwab, who preferred her hors d'oeuvres inside the club rather than out on the terrace, was attractively attired in black and white, with a large black hat.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The ambassador of France, Andre de Laboulaye, will return to Washington tomorrow from Magnolia, Mass., where he went last week with Mme. de Laboulaye, who will remain at the resort with the younger members of her family until September.

The minister of the Irish Free State, Michael MacWhite, and Mrs. MacWhite, who have been at their home in Ireland since the latter part of June, are planning to return to the capital in September.

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—If you're looking ahead to fall parties, Paris has a new kind of party dress to replace the crisp organdies we wore this summer. It is the lace trimmed frock. Paris likes to make it in the new hardy velvets, but silks are also used. Laces as stiff and starchy looking as organdy are what they use over here to trim dressy daytime frocks.

You could never see anything more charming than these party clothes that come in the choice shades of autumn—wine red, taupe, navy, nut brown, pansy blue and black, highlighted with white, ecru, gray, beige, or ivory colored laces.

Dressmakers go easy on the lace they use with a single dress. Some of the nicest dresses in dark velvet are treated to a lone bow of lace at the neck. Martial et Armand put three tier lace sleeves in a wine red velvet party frock, which is shown today, and this dress sports two pairs of gloves—one lace to match the sleeves and the other in velvet to match the dress.

You can see in our sketch how simple this model is. It has a sleeveless surpliced blouse which ties in a soft bow at the back of the waistline. The three tiers of white Irish crochet lace are stiffened so they rise up like wings. The skirt is straight and slim looking, with seams in the center fore and aft. The front seam has a small godet set in halfway down to make room for dancing and walking. Curved tucks make a tour of the hipline at each side.

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

This dress shows new sleeve interest in modish high shoulders. Its lines are decidedly slenderizing and every detail is up-to-the-minute. Black satin crêpe will be stunning for this model, using white marocain crêpe for the very pretty collar.

The pattern, No. 2813, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure.

Colored Wool Fashions New Street Frocks

Dashing Costumes Shown in City's Shops.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Dashing, daring, and just about the smoothest things you can wrap around your anatomy . . . these new thin wool street dresses, made in colored wools that will probably stop traffic.

Sultry, dusky old golds, made with long slim silhouettes, with tortoise shell clamps racing down the side to hold the thing in place . . . with high neckline contrasted with a swanky flared ascot furpiece of ocelot fur . . . dull almond greens made with a cleverly draped collar and snootily edged with brown fluffy fud . . . smoke grays, slashed with canary yellow, buttoned with glittering gold metal buttons that are buttons.

None of the small demure strictly utilitarian buttons are used this fall. The biggest buttons you can grab decorate the smartest clothes, or you fasten your clothes with coat size clamps, clips, and buckles.

Brilliant reds and eye compelling shades of deep coral are enlivened further with gayly striped ascot scarfs ruffled onto a narrow piece of wool the same shade as the dress.

And speaking of stripes, keep your fashion eye wide open for new stripes that will enter the town almost any time now . . . gay and gawdy affairs, that would make a Bedouin chief ache with envy . . . the stripes are wide and easy to see . . . plenty of color contrast for dark colored topcoats and all the smart new swagger coats of fuzzy wools.

Striped fabrics are available in one shop . . . splashing wide stuff in smooth washable flannels and the wool jerseys . . . stunning looking materials for separate suit blouses that contrast all the newest dark grays, browns, and black fall suits.

Golden Poppies.

BY NANCY CABOT.

California poppies of a gay yellow and deeply serrated green leaves bob from the checkered basket of brown and yellow fabric. A background of soft mellow old ivory will harmonize perfectly and help to emphasize the "Golden Poppies," placing them in striking relief.

For a quilt pattern of this design, send 5 cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service office, One South Dearborn.

Whiteman Drops His Burden and Tells the World How He Did It

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Every one is familiar with the tale of Paul Whiteman with his 303 pounds of a couple of years ago and the red headed girl [Margaret Livingston]—now Mrs. Whiteman, who refused him till his waistline got down to arm spanning circumference. But every one may not be familiar with Mr. Whiteman's experience with freak diets before he got himself down to scientific study of foods and food combinations.

In "Whiteman's Burden" [Viking] Mr. Whiteman tells that his 303 did not sit lightly upon his mind [nor elsewhere].

"Once," he says, "I decided to get back my shape if it killed me. It nearly did. For two weeks I lived on apples, and never again do I want to be so nearly dead as I felt then.

"No sooner had I recovered from the ill effects of that piece of folly than I went on the lamb chop and pineapple diet, only to surcharge my system with such an amount of acid that I grew bumps and boils all over me."

Later Mr. Whiteman tried out the baked potato and buttermilk cure, the grapefruit regimen, the 'no starch and no sweets system'—but always with bad results. He confesses having tried pills and powder, ointments and sweats—and, if I recall correctly, an operation to remove fat.

"So, you see," Mr. Whiteman says, "I didn't carry those extra pounds about with me because I was attached to them."

His 100 pound reduction came about through a carefully planned diet. Reading it, as it appears in "Whiteman's Burden," you and I would think it pretty hearty eating. A one day lunch and dinner picked at random contain one helping of cheese soufflé, vegetable salad, a dish of orange ice, and coffee substitute, for luncheon. Dinner shows lamb stew with all kinds of vegetables, fruit salad, lemon jelly with whipped cream, and demi-tasse.

SOX WIN TWO GAMES FROM BOSTON, 8-1, 4-0

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Preparations for one of football's greatest games, a test between the stars of the west and the central states at Soldiers' field tomorrow night, neared completion last night at Dyche stadium, where both squads have been training for ten days. The contest, which will bring together many of the headliners of the 1932 college season, has exceeded expectations in advance ticket sale, not only because of the personnel of the teams, but bause of the growing intersectional rivalry.

JACK RILEY.

In reality this east-west battle will feature Southern California players directed by Coach Howard Jones and stars of the western conference and Notre Dame, who have been assembled by Dick Hanley of Northwestern. Probably seven of the starting players for the west will be from Southern California.

Certainly the key positions will be filled by former Trojans, including Gaius Shaver, one of the greatest players developed by Coach Jones, and the pair of tackles, Ernie Smith and Ray Brown, who were outstanding in Southern California's drive to a national championship last fall.

Big Ten Joins Notre Dame.

For this reason the boys from the Big Ten and from Notre Dame rightly think in terms of Southern California rather than of the Pacific coast. Joe Kurth and Jim Harris, who rank with the greatest of Notre Dame linemen, ask no more than another chance at Smith and Brown. Jack Riley, Northwestern's all-American tackle, not to include other Wildcats and Big Ten players, have joined in common cause against Southern California.

Last night's drill of the eastern eleven, as on the previous night, was far more rugged than the final practices of Jones' squad. Players who are slated to take the field for the kickoff fought through a hard scrimmage to retain their positions. Those on the "second team" cut loose in a final effort to convince Hanley they should start.

Coaches in Session.

With the meeting yesterday afternoon at the Orrington hotel, Evanston, of the National Football Coaches association, Northwestern became the football capital of the country. Several hundred coaches, in addition to those now in attendance at the coaching school, registered for the afternoon lectures. They were joined later by the players of the all-star teams, who had been the guests of the Chicago Rotary club at luncheon at the Palmer house.

Among the coaches who registered yesterday for the two day meeting of the association were:

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

THE best football material that can be recruited from the central states tomorrow night meets an all-star lineup from the Pacific coast in what has been billed as the East-West gridiron classic of A Century of Progress Exposition.

A more appropriate name would have been "Keeping Up with the Joneses."

The western squad has a few representatives of Stanford, Washington, California, and St. Mary's, but essentially it is a Southern California eleven. The coach is Howard Jones, who has had charge of the Trojans since they became nationally famous on the football field.

Dick Hanley, who has earned a place among the leading coaches of the country by his success at Northwestern and before that at Haskell institute, will direct the eastern team. He has had considerable experience in handling all-star aggregations, and it will be interesting to see how his men fare against the pupils of Mr. Jones.

Without meaning to belittle the caliber of the eastern team or the skill of Mr. Hanley, it is our impression that they are going against the toughest combination in football—Southern California and Howard Jones.

This man Jones has wrecked the hopes and aspirations of several gridiron notables. Pop Warner gave up trying to beat him and resigned from Stanford to try his formations in the east. Warner complained he was not getting the kind of material he needed. Obviously the kind of a material he needed were linesmen who could break through the Trojan wall an backs who could squirm loose. In effect, it was saying he could not win unless he had something to win with.

You might interpret his remarks to mean that the importance of a coach is overemphasized. The deans at any university would accept this slant, but we never have subscribed to the opinion that Pete the butcher could develop winning teams if he had All-American men at his disposal. There must be more to coaching than that.

The fact is that they always pay off on a winner, and the standing of a coach rises or falls in ratio to the success of the teams he handles. On this basis there can be no question of the status of Jones. He is the drum major of the parade, the big name among the nation's gridiron leaders.

There was only one man Jones couldn't whip—Knute Rockne, but then who could? Teams coached by Jones have won 20 out of 21 games since the last time they went up against a Rockne eleven.

Unless the situation changes soon you will hear less of the Warner system and the Notre Dame system and more of the Jones system.

Turn about is fair play, so it may do football no harm to have a new image on the hill.

DUDLEY SHOOTS 73 IN WESTERN OPEN PRACTICE

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The nine consecutive days of major league golf to be supplied by the western open tournament at Olympia Fields and the women's national championship at Exmoor are causing excitement not only among Chicago district fans, but also among the actors in the two big shows, several of whom are already on the lot for rehearsals.

Nearly 50 of the entrants in the western yesterday went over the No. 1 or No. 4 courses at Olympia Fields, both of which will be used in the 72 hole tournament to be played Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Ed Dudley of Wilmington, Del., the Ryder cup star who held the western title in 1931, turned in one of the best cards of the day, a 73 on the No. 4 course. Abe Espinosa of Cog-Hill, who won the western at North Shore in 1928, came home with a 75 over the same layout. On the No. 1 course, Johnny Fischer, University of Michigan star, equaled par of 72, while the veteran MacDonald Smith took a 74.

Women Peril Par.

The women stars who will compete in the women's national at Exmoor, beginning next Monday and continuing through Saturday, went out to Beverly yesterday to pay tribute to the defending champion, Virginia Van Wie, who was the guest of honor at a party and round of golf given by her fellow members. A few, however, stayed at Exmoor to test the scene of the tournament, and Mrs. J. G. Whittig of the Rancho club of Los Angeles, came through with the best practice round to date, a par 40—39—79. Aniela Gorczyca, the southern champion from Fort Worth, Tex., went around in 84, and Janet Willard of the home club, periled par with an 82. A few more rounds such as these, and the 36 year old record of 77 in the national qualifying round is liable to be clipped.

The pairings for the western bracket include a number of the greatest names, professional and amateur, in the game. The tournament will be played over the No. 1 and No. 4 courses, with those going over the No. 1 course on Friday being shifted to the No. 4 layout on Saturday. The final 36 holes will be played Sunday on the No. 4 course only.

Play Starts at 10 A. M.

S. L. Reinhardt Jr. of Northmoor and Dick Martin of Sunset Valley will lead the field away on the No. 1 course at 10 o'clock Friday morning, and at the same hour Art Sweet of Ridgemoor and Gus Fetz, the home made golfer, will be teeing off on No. 4.

None of the favorites for the title will get down to business until after 12:45 o'clock. The featured twosomes on the No. 1 course include Johnny Lehman of Olympia Fields and Bob MacDonald; Don Armstrong of Aurora and Chick Faltus of Lincolnshire; Al Watrous of Detroit and Rod Munday of Santa Rosa, Cal.; Gene Sarazen and Al Espinosa of Akron, O.; Ed Dudley and Leo Diegel; Johnny Fischer and Johnny Farrell, and Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr and Ralph Guldahl of St. Louis.

On No. 4 will be Mac Smith and Reggie Myles of Bedford, O.; Johnny Revolta of Menominee, Mich., and Guy Paulsen of Fort Wayne, Ind.; Tommy Armour of Medinah and Mortie Dutra of Detroit; Jim Foulis of Ruth Lake, and Harry Hampton of Beverly; Harry Cooper of Glen Oak and Willie Goggin of Salada Beach, Cal., and Jock Hutchison of Glen View and Chick Evans of Edgewater.

Equipoise Arrives and Tries Out Track for Gold Cup Race

Equipoise is in town.

That news was enough to send the cold chills up and down the back bones of the owners of eligibles to the $25,000 added Gold Cup to be run tomorrow at Hawthorne.

EQUIPOISE.

Equipoise was unloaded at Hawthorne shortly before 11 o'clock yesterday morning after a fast trip here from New York as a passenger on the Twentieth Century Limited.

He apparently enjoyed the ride on the extra fare train from down east, for Dr. Joseph Kaiser, the Hawthorne veterinarian, gave him an examination soon after he was put into his stall, deeply bedded down in straw.

It Was a Picnic.

"The train ride must have been a picnic for Equipoise," Dr. Kaiser said. "I've looked at a lot of horses shipped from New York to Chicago for stake engagements, but never have found one that was in better condition or in better mood than Equipoise was when he arrived this morning."

Other horsemen expressed the same opinion. They liked the looks of Equipoise and made no secret about it. They began wagering on him. The early betting for the Gold Cup found Equipoise at 3 to 5 to win the cup. The Norman W. Church entry of Gallant Sir and Plucky Play was the second choice at 5 to 2. Indian Runner was at 4 to 1. Mr. Khayyam, the American Derby winner, was at 10 to 1.

On the other eligibles anybody speculatively inclined could write his own ticket.

Has a Good Rest.

Equipoise's trip here was uneventful, except that he got a good rest, according to the attendants in his private express car. He went to sleep about 1 o'clock, according to the attendants, and didn't wake up until the Century began to roll into the Chicago railroad yards.

Equipoise got in a few winks of sleep yesterday afternoon while an all claiming race program was being run off at Hawthorne. Hundreds of visitors tried to get a glimpse at him, but Trainer Tom Healey, who came on with the big horse, would not let him be disturbed.

Late in the afternoon Equipoise was galloped slowly around the Hawthorne track, and he may be sent out for a short speed test this morning after being thoroughly acquainted with every foot of the Hawthorne running strip.

Equipoise will not linger in Chicago long after he fills his engagements in the Gold Cup. He will leave for Saratoga on Friday or Saturday and will run in the Saratoga Gold Cup which is at a mile and three-quarters. This race is to be decided Sept. 2.

He's Five Now.

Equipoise, now getting along a little in years—he is rounding out his fifth year—has won all of his five starts this season. He won the Philadelphia handicap in Maryland and the Metropolitan and the Suburban handicaps at Belmont Park, the Arlington handicap at Arlington Park in Chicago and the Wilson Memorial at Saratoga.

He won all these engagements easily and in most of them gave away many pounds of weight to all his rivals. The Hawthorne Gold Cup, being a weight for age affair, finds Equipoise carrying 126 pounds. He is at equal scale weights with all his rivals.

Equipoise will command most of the attention at Hawthorne until he goes for the Gold Cup. This might be his last appearance in Chicago. Should he head Sun Beau's world's money winning record of $376,744 before the end of the year he will be retired to the stud.

May See Him in 1934.

Should he fail to catch up with the mighty Sun Beau, which won the Hawthorne Gold Cup three times, he more than likely will be back to the races next year, running in the Arlington handicap and the Hawthorne Gold Cup.

Even his staunchest admirers hope he doesn't catch Sun Beau this year. They want to see him back in action again next year. They want to get a thrill out of the sensational stretch runs he makes and has made ever since he started running with horses when he was a 2 year old.

WEATHER MAN IS STILL LOYAL TO WANDERING CUBS

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 22.—The weather man seems to be one of the few friends who hasn't walked out on the sorely pressed Cubs. He gallantly dashed to their rescue again today at New York by furnishing more rain that made it impossible to stage the double header with the Giants.

It was a break for the staggering Cubs in more ways than one. It avoided the burning up temporarily of two pitchers who will be greatly needed for the six battles to be waged here with the blustering Phillies in the next four days. It also caused today's pair of washed out games to be transferred to Chicago next month and the world knows that the Cubs can do far better on their own lot than on some other team's playing property. Moreover the two twin bills in Chicago should attract worth while gates, the home club collecting all over 24 cents on each admission.

Giants Want to Play.

Except for the financial feature, the Giants took a different slant on today's delay. They wanted to play and to this end didn't cancel the show until the last minute. They realize that double headers in Chicago are a man's size job and they are not yet conceding themselves a pennant, even with their fat lead over the other contenders. Twin bills make it impossible for Bill Terry to work in turn the four pitchers who have kept the team pegged in first place.

After this strenuous program the Giants must tour the west, where three of the present pennant possibilities will be lurking to dust them off. It is this arrangement in the schedule that causes Frankie Frisch, recently elevated to the management of the Cardinals, to believe that his team still has an excellent chance.

Outlook Is Tough.

A perusal of the present flag situation and the future possibilities indicate that too much faith cannot be placed in Frisch's expectations. The same gloomy outlook holds for the other Giant chasers. Consider the Cubs' situation. They have 14 games to play before returning home Sept. 3. They have 23 games at home, and close in St. Louis with two games.

It is giving the Cubs a break to say they'll win half of the 14 remaining on the present trip. Should they win those seven and then win all their 25 remaining games, which they won't do, they would have a standing of 94 wins and 60 losses. The Giants can accomplish the same final standing by winning 26 out of 43. If the Giants take only 21, or less than half their remaining battles, they probably will finish on top.

Bush to Pitch Today.

Tomorrow's scheduled program with the reckless Phillies will be topped by Guy Bush, who was slated for half of the pitching job at New York today. Roy Snipe Hansen or Ed Holly, both ex-Cubs, may serve to their one time mates. For the double bill Thursday Manager Grimm will place his trust in Lon Warneke and Bud Tinning.

De Palma Will Drive in Two Races at Elgin

Ralph De Palma, veteran driver, will appear in two races at Elgin next Saturday when the National Automobile road races are to be revived, it became known yesterday. De Palma's tentative entry in the stock car race, which is to be the first event on the program and which will be held in the morning starting at 10 o'clock, received the indorsement of officials. His entry in the feature event, which starts at 2 p. m., is the De Palma-Miller special.

Field of 14 Cars Will Start.

Two other entries which had qualified with the closing of the lists last Saturday were also passed on favorably. They are the nominations, also in the stock car race, of Ted Chamberlain of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Sam Palmer of Indianapolis.

The addition of the three entries brings the field of starters for the first race to 14 cars.

Drivers due today and tomorrow are De Palma, Fred Frame, Lou Moore, Phil Shafer, Joe Russo, J. M. Lewis, Harry Hunt, Sam Palmer, Ted Chamberlain, Clay Barringer, Wilbur Shaw, and George Lyons. Tomorrow the time trials will be held.

Expect Crowd of 60,000.

Officials of the Elgin National Auto Road Race association, under whose auspices the revival is to be held, were assured yesterday that everything will be in readiness for the accommodation of the large crowds expected Saturday. The grandstand is well under way and the judges' stand is nearing completion. It is expected that more than sixty thousand will see the races. The attendance at the last race in 1920, won by Ralph De Palma, was 70,000.

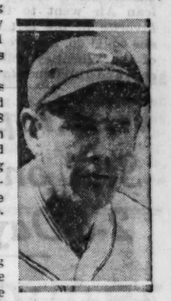
The main grandstand will overlook Britton's hill, where the highest speed on the course is usually achieved. It is about a quarter of a mile from the turn nearest the city of Elgin proper. Choice parking spaces are at this location, although spaces are available all around the eight mile course.

LYONS' THREE SINGLES PACE OPENING ATTACK

Heving Hurls 6 Hit Shutout.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox won two games from the Boston Red Sox yesterday, the pair equaling the number they had won in 11 previous starts against the Bostonese. Ted Lyons pitched and batted valiantly for an 8 to 1 decision in the first game and Joe Heving rang up a six hit shutout, 4 to 0, in the sundown enterprise.



TED LYONS.

The Chicagoans instead of being tired from the great 18 inning tie game they played with the Yankees Monday, seemed all pepped up and determined to slay the Red Sox, who hitherto in their relations with the White Sox have been the most overwhelming jinx team in either league. Prior to yesterday the Sox were the only team in either of the majors which hadn't defeated each of its enemies at least four times. The fact that the Comiskeys had accomplished only two victories over the seventh placers therefore was especially aggravating.

Simmons Has Bad Luck.

The White Sox rammed out 15 hits in the first game, including doubles by Haas, Dykes, Kress, Hayes and Grube. Every Comiskeyite excepting Simmons made at least one hit in this contest. Al was a victim of some tough luck, however. After grounding out to Hodapp in the first inning the expensive Milwaukeean knocked four straight flies which were caught by Johnson. One was off the wall and two others required shoestring catches. Lyons hit singles his first three times up, figuring in three of the four scoring innings. It was Lyons' ninth victory of the year.

The Red Sox developed only one scoring threat against Heving. Jolley led off the seventh with a double, but Hodapp popped to Appling. Then, after Gooch had walked, Warstler hit into a double play. It was Heving's fourth victory of the year.

FIRST GAME

The Red Sox got off to a one run lead in the first inning, which lasted through the Chicago half of the inning, but was blotted out with a White Sox run in the second inning.

Lyons perhaps remembered the horrible support he got in the first inning of his start last Sunday and was a bit nervous at the outset. After McManus had beat out an infield single with one down, Lyons loosed a wild pitch of such magnitude that the Boston boss was able to reach third. McManus paused there while Hayes was throwing out Cook, but scored on Johnson's double to right. Ferrell ended the inning with a fly to Swanson.

Haas' double and Dykes' infield single with one out had a Chicago threat afoot in the White Sox's first, but Simmons tapped to Hodapp and Appling fanned, and the Red Sox remained ahead.

Lyons Goes to Bat.

The first inning fadeout of his mates seemed to arouse Lyons, not only as a pitcher but as a batter also. Kress was safe on McManus' low throw to start the Chicago second and stopped at second on Hayes' single to left. The pair moved up on Grube's sacrifice. Then Lyons lined a single to right, Kress scored the tying run with ease, and Hayes should have tallied also, but he fell for Ferrell's nonchal-

SIX FAVORITES LOSE IN MUD AT SARATOGA

SunArcher and Snap Back Whip Tambour.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—A heavy track and a drizzle of rain contributed to the downfall of favorites today, Tambour administering the worst shock to form when she was defeated at 3 to 5. The Preston M. Burch mare had won two in a row previous to today and was considered a certain winner by many, but she was a poor third to Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Sun Archer and Mrs. Isabel Sloane's Snap Back, which finished as named. All six public choices were defeated.

There was only a nose between Sun Archer and Snap Back at the end of the mile and an eighth. It was the 31st running of the Champlain handicap and only four accepted the weights. Larranaga ran last almost the entire distance with his top impost of 124 pounds.

Mr. Kilmer looked to have a good chance for a double when his American Air went to the post an even favorite in the last event. The best she could do, however, was third, back of the Wheatley stable's Dusky Princess and Brookmeade stable's Omayya.

Westrope Is Still on That 2-a-Day Time

Jockey Westrope, who has been riding on an average of two winners a day ever since the Hawthorne season opened, got his two winners early yesterday when he kicked Cabouse and Hickory Lad home in the first two races. He just missed making it three in a row when Foxiana beat out his mount, Sun Teatime, in the third race.

Jockey Westrope will quit the Chicago racing scene at the close of the Hawthorne season on Sept. 2. He will go from Chicago to the Rockingham park track in New Hampshire, and not far from Boston. According to present plans, he will wind up the season in Maryland during the fall.

All the cheap horses on the Hawthorne track were given a chance to earn a meal ticket yesterday. The best horses running could have been claimed for $1,500. The selling platers ran pretty well to form, the favorites winning in a majority of the races.

The best race on the program was the sixth, a dash at a mile and a sixteenth, in which Uncommon Gold, heavily backed choice, beat Blue Law and the early leader, Gaillardia, by two lengths. Ruder was in the saddle on Uncommon Gold and let him trail Gaillardia until heading into the stretch. Then Uncommon Gold took the lead and was in easy command of the situation until the finish.

Jockeys Sonny Workman and Pete Walls, who will ride Equipoise and Mr. Khayyam in the Hawthorne Gold cup, will leave Saratoga today for the trip west.

CHIEF BUNTING was hustled along from the start, saved ground throughout, and weakened in final drive.

HICKORY LAD, lucky to keep up in the early crowding, saved ground until stretch, whereafter, coming out and racing around MASKED PRINCE, he slowly wore down WOODLANDER, winning under vigorous riding. WOODLANDER moved up fast in first quarter, took a short lead on stretch turn, and held on stubbornly after being headed. MISS FLIP, crowded back on far turn, finished well in a good effort.

Winner trained by C. Pound. Went to post at 3:12½. At post 3 minutes. Start good from gate. Won handily; second and third driving.

FOXIANA, going in her best form and showing the most speed from the start, was under light restraint until reaching the stretch, where she continued well, winning without need of strong pressure. SUN TEATIME saved ground throughout and held on gamely in an even effort. STREET SINGER, under strong urging the closing three-eighths, could not improve his position, but also held on courageously.

McLaughlin. Went to post at 3:38. At post 1¼ minutes. Start good from gate. Won driving; second and third same.

GUNFIRE, worked his way clear before entering the quarter, was strongly restrained when rounding the turn and, holding on well under strong handling, outstayed PROMETHEUS. Latter, well ridden and never a great distance back, sustained through between horses after saving ground on stretch turn and was wearing down the winner. TEXAS KNIGHT, under strong restraint for a half mile, saved ground in the stretch and finished well.

Latter rallied to strong urging after reaching stretch and, closing with a rush, was getting to the winner. HER ELEGANCE, a strong factor throughout, weakened in the final drive, but outstayed INDIAN BOY. Latter held on fairly well.

ROSS, LEVINSKY LEAVE TO FINISH DRILLS IN CAMPS

Two of Chicago's leading boxers—Barney Ross, lightweight champion, and King Levinsky—left yesterday for their respective training camps to finish training for bouts next month. Ross went to New York, where he defends his lightweight and junior welterweight title against Tony Canzoneri on Sept. 12 and Levinsky departed for Grand Beach, Mich., to resume preparations for a match with Jack Sharkey, former heavyweight champion, at White Sox ball park Sept. 15.

Ross was accompanied by his comanagers, Sam Pian and Art Winch, Trainer Izzy Kline, and Tony Palazzola. He will drill at New York tomorrow and Friday. On Friday night he will go to his outdoor camp at Lake Swannanoa, N. J., where Max Schmeling, who lost the heavyweight title to Sharkey, trained for his losing bout with Max Baer. Barney will begin workouts at Lake Swannanoa on Saturday. He will be joined by Al De Nave and Young Walker, Chicago sparring partners, Monday.

Levinsky left town shortly after Ross. Seal Harris, heavyweight sparring partner, Tony Cancela, a stablemate, and Harold Steinman, associate of Mrs. Lena Levy in the management of King, were included in the Levinsky party. Levinsky will begin drills at Grand Beach today. A ring, punching bag stands, and all other necessary equipment have been installed at the Michigan camp, where THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE Golden Gloves champions prepared for the international contests with Ireland at Soldiers' field.

Karl Ogren, north side middleweight, and Joe Mendoza of the south side will meet in a 10 round bout tonight at Northwest stadium, 4848 Irving Park boulevard. Ogren has won six straight matches. Jack Moran, local 160 pound fighter, is matched with Bill O'Connell of Streator, Ill., in the six round semi-final. Tony Muscarello, north side junior lightweight, boxes Joey Bozak of Blue Island in the main encounter at four rounds. In his latest appearance, on June 27, he knocked out Johnny Gaito for his eighth straight victory. Other bouts:

Mickey Joy vs. Pete Verri [4].
George Haberski vs. Hugh Allen [4].

Henry Firpo, Louisville, Ky., boxer, will arrive today for an eight round encounter tomorrow at Shewbridge field against Ray Tramblie of Rockford. The match originally was scheduled last Thursday and when inclement weather caused a week's postponement Firpo returned to Louisville. Tramblie finished training yesterday by

TIGERS TRIUMPH OVER SENATORS ON HOMER, 10-8

Greenberg's Hit in Ninth Brings Victory.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Hank Greenberg, Detroit Tiger first baseman, today put a story book finish on a thriller that gave the Tigers a 10 to 8 decision over the league leading Washington Senators and broke their thirteen game winning streak.

With the score tied and two out in the ninth inning, and the winning run on second base, Greenberg came to bat. Thomas had just relieved Crowder on the mound and succeeded in fanning Walker. Greenberg watched a strike and a ball and then lifted the third pitch over the left field bleachers, scoring Gehringer ahead of him.

It was not Greenberg's first appearance in the rôle of hero, for in the sixth the Tiger slugger sent the ball over the fence, for his first homer, scoring Gehringer ahead of him, and himself bringing in the tying run. In the ninth inning Gehringer's double with Fox on second had tied the score.

ATHLETICS, 7; BROWNS, 6.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Philadelphia batters collected three home runs today, while West was the only St. Louis representative to get a homer, and the Athletics won, 7 to 6.

It was the fifth straight defeat for Rogers Hornsby's last place Browns. Two Philadelphia homers came in the eighth. McNair hit the first, Cramer and Foxx scoring ahead of the shortstop. Higgins duplicated the feat a moment later with none on base. Finley was the other home run hitter.

Aided by West's homer, the Browns scored five runs in the eighth, but their rallies then and in the ninth fell just short of victory. Score:

BRAVES, 5; PIRATES, 4

Boston, Mass., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Wally Berger made only one hit today, but it was a screaming home run into the left field bleachers in the fourteenth inning and gave the Boston Braves a 5 to 4 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates and undisputed possession of second place, seven games back of the Giants, who were idle. The defeat dropped the Pirates into a tie for fourth place.

The homer, Berger's twenty-second of the season, gave the Braves their fourth straight over the Pirates and decided a brilliant pitching duel between Fred Frankhouse, who went the route for Boston, and Waite Hoyt, who took the mound in the fourth after Hal Smith had yielded to a pinch hitter.

Owners Back Inter-League Ball Series

New York, Aug. 22.—(AP)—The reaction among baseball leaders today, especially in the National league, was distinctly favorable to the proposal of William L. Veeck, president of the Chicago Cubs, for a radical departure in schedule making by which the two big baseball circuits would try out a mid-season series of inter-league games in 1934.

Officials of four other National League clubs, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Brooklyn, and Philadelphia, agreed at least that the proposal calls for serious consideration as a definite measure to help revive interest and improve finances. Support also came from American leaguers, but it was less general.

Presidents of two clubs, Alva Bradley of Cleveland, and Stephen W. McKeever of Brooklyn came out flatly in favor of the inter-league plan.

McKeever, Bradley Willing.

"It's a good scheme," McKeever said. "We need some such stimulant and I am in favor of it."

"I heartily agree we should have some system of inter-league games," said Bradley. "In fact, I've avocated a definite plan for such games. For instances, I believe inter-league games should be worked into the regular schedule, in the middle of the season. Four such games in a season for each team in the league would give the fans a good idea of comparative skill."

Sam Breadon, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, declared: "It sounds like an interesting experiment and is well worth looking into. It might increase attendance in both leagues and help take up the midseason slack Veeck mentions."

The Pittsburgh Pirates are "open minded" on the proposal, according to President William Benswanger, who added it deserved serious consideration and was preferable to a split season in the majors.

Navin Disagrees.

President Gerald Nugent of the Phillies, likewise is willing to discuss the idea, believing it would attract more baseball interest, but suggested it "has its bad points."

While conceding some advantages in the interleague plan, especially for one club towns, Frank J. Navin, president of the Detroit club, expressed disagreement with Veeck on the general subject of baseball's declining interest. Navin said the falling off in attendance was no greater than in other forms of entertainment, predicted a recovery with a business upswing and put himself on record as favoring the "status quo."

Midseason is the proper time for interleague competition, in the opinion of John A. Heydler, president of the National league, who shares the view of Veeck that the critical condition of baseball's business this year calls for aggressive action.

"Veeck is a progressive," said Heydler, "his views certainly will carry much weight in any plans we make for next year. Certainly we cannot afford to stand pat, as he says, and rely on a return of the good old days."

SHIRES, LINDSEY, WILSON APPEAL IN SALARY CASE

Durham, N. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Art Shires, Charles Wilson, and James Lindsey, members of the Rochester International league club, who were fined for violating the salary limit of the American association while they were playing with Columbus, have appealed the decision to the executive committee of the National Association of Minor Leagues.

Shires was fined $200, while Wilson and Lindsey were fined $100 each. Gordon Slade, now a member of the St. Louis Cardinals, also was fined $200, but no word has been received from him. The fines were imposed upon the players by W. G. Bramham, president of the National Association of Minor Leagues.

ance trick and failed to slide. Swanson walked, but Haas fanned.

The Chicago Sox pulled away for keeps in the fourth, and again Lyons' bat played a part. Kress doubled and scored on Hayes' double. Grube attempted to sacrifice and popped to Rhodes. Lyons singled to center, scoring Hayes. Swanson again walked and Haas singled to center, Lyons scoring and Swanson reaching third. Swanson scored on Dykes' infield out and Simmons knocked a fly to Johnson, the second of four in a row which the Boston right fielder got from Al's bat.

Simmons Flies Out Again.

Two more runs were acquired in the sixth, with Lyon's bat still playing a heavy part in production. Grube doubled to left and stopped at third on Lyons' third single. Swanson singled to right, scoring Grube and putting Lyons on third. Evar advanced to second on Johnson's throw to third. Rhodes threw out Haas and Dykes flied to Cooke, Lyons scoring. Simmons again flied to Johnson.

The Chicagoans rang up one in the eighth just for fun. Swanson beat out an infield single and went from first to third on Haas' bunt. Dykes doubled over third, scoring Swanson. Simmons became the only Sox to go hitless when he knocked his fourth fly to Johnson. Appling popped to Werber.

After the score was tied in the second inning Lyons didn't seem to have a care in the world. From the third on he allowed only four hits, no two of which came in the same inning. Ted walked only one batsman, McManus. This came at the start of the sixth, but Marty never advanced.

SECOND GAME

The Red Sox were retired in order in the first inning of the second game, but the White Sox stopped out for a run. Swanson opened with a single to center and went to second on Haas' sacrifice. Swanson stole third and went on home when Gooch threw the ball into left field trying to catch him. Werber threw out Dykes, but Simmons was safe on Warstler's fumble. Hodapp threw out Appling.

The Bostons made two hits in the second inning but didn't get a man to second. Jolley singled to center with one down and was out, Berry to Hayes, when the hit and run play went awry. Hodapp beat out a single to Appling and was forced by Gooch.

Heving launched the third with a single to left and stopped at second on Swanson's second single to center. The runners advanced on Haas' second sacrifice. Dykes bounced to Warstler, who threw to Werber in time to get Swanson. Heving scored on the maneuver and Dykes pulled up at first. Simmons beat out an infield single, his first hit in ten trips to the plate. Dykes stopping at second. Appling then flied to Johnson.

Wild Throws Help.

The Sox got a lot of action in the fifth with a modicum of hitting. After two were out Haas singled to center. Dykes walked, and the two runners moved up a notch on Brown's wild pitch. The fourth ball to Simmons was another wild pitch. Haas scored on the heave, but when Dykes tried to get in also he was out, Gooch to Brown.

Jones and Durham to Face Boston in Twin Bill Today

The White Sox and the Red Sox will play the second of their series of three successive double headers today. Jones and Durham are slated to pitch for the Sox, while Bob Kline and Curtis Fullerton, the latter just purchased, will go for the visitors.

Plans for Ted Lyons day to be celebrated at Comiskey park are going on apace with arrangements for all sorts of pregame didoes, including some circus acts. There will be clowns on the program despite the prejudice against clowns in ball parks. Every time a clown starts tumbling about ball players are liable to interpret the manifestation as something personal.

The statisticians were busy yesterday reviewing some of the things that happened in Monday's remarkable tie game between the Sox and Yankees. Most of the talk was about 45 year old Red Faber. In 13 2-3 innings of relief pitching against the first place Senators and the second place Yanks, Red not only allowed no runs—he didn't let a runner get past second. Forty-five batsmen who faced him accomplished a grand total of four singles.

General Manager Eddie Collins is not with the Red Sox. He is out scouting for men to replace four of his best men who are out for the season with injuries.

CHICAGO LEGION TEAM READY FOR SECTIONAL TRIAL

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The National Tea post baseball team of Chicago today began preparations for its game in the American Legion's western sectional tournament which will be held at Topeka, Kas., Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The Chicagoans won the regional title at Springfield, Mo., yesterday, defeating Kansas City, 5 to 2.

Other teams which will compete for the title and the right to meet the eastern champion at New Orleans are Louisville, Colo., Stockton, Cal., Fargo, N. D., Woodburn, Ore., and Ada, Okla. The eastern sectional series at Springfield, O., started today.

MOBILE NINE WINS.

Springfield, O., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Teams from Mobile, Ala., and Springfield, O., survived first round play in the eastern sectional American Legion junior baseball tournament before 3,000 today. Springfield defeated Reading, Pa., 8 to 4, and Mobile whipped Sanford, Me., 5 to 2 in 14 innings.

Springfield will meet Mobile, and Trenton, N. J., plays Gastonia, N. C., in tomorrow's second round games. The latter two teams held first round byes. Tomorrow's two winners will meet Thursday for a place in the Legion's little world series at New Orleans.

Cagle, Kelly Buy Brooklyn Pro Eleven

New York, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Sale of the Brooklyn Dodgers of the National Professional Football league to Chris Cagle and John [Shipwreck] Kelly was announced tonight by Dr. Harry A. March, the league's eastern representative.

The purchase price, Dr. March said, was "between $25,000 and $50,000." The club had been owned by William V. Dwyer, owner also of the New York Americans of the National Hockey league.

The new owners are veteran players who have established national reputations in both college and pro ranks—Cagle with the Army and Kelly with the University of Kentucky. Both were with the New York Giants of the National league last season.

The club was run last year by Benny Friedman, former University of Michigan quarterback. Friedman's future status with the Dodgers remains in doubt.

The sale still must be approved by Joe Carr, president of the league, before it becomes official.

INDIANAPOLIS HAS PRO TEAM.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—A professional football club will play here this autumn, it was announced tonight, with Joe Dienhart, former Notre Dame and Butler star, as coach. Dienhart coached the Cathedral High school basketball team which last year won the national Catholic high school basketball tournament at Chicago.

The team will play either at the Butler university stadium or at Perry stadium, Indianapolis American Association baseball park. The schedule as arranged thus far:

Sept. 13, night, Portsmouth Spartans, here.
Sept. 20, night, Chicago Cardinals, here.
Sept. 27, New York Giants, here.
Oct. 4, night, Cincinnati, here.

Thereafter a Sunday afternoon schedule will be played.

GEORGIAN JOINS SPARTANS.

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—R. C. Maddox, former guard on the University of Georgia football team, signed today to play with the Portsmouth, O., National Professional Football league club during the 1933 season. Maddox previously had agreed to play with the Charlotte Bantams, but told officials he signed a contract with the Spartans.

THREE GIANTS SIGN.

New York, Aug. 22.—(AP)—The New York Giants' football roster for 1933 reached 20 players today with the receipt of three contracts. They were sent by Hank Reese of Temple university, Dick Marsh of the University of Oklahoma, and Bill Seigel of Sterling [Kansas] college. Marsh and Seigel are guards, Reese a center.

COURT UPHOLDS GOLFER'S RIGHT TO RETRIEVE BALL

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Valley View Golf course, near Omaha, isn't known as the duffer's paradise, but District Judge Grank M. Dineen has come to the aid of those who play there.

The Armbrust brothers, Emil and Otto A., who have farms adjoining the course, went into court recently and obtained a temporary injunction to keep golfers off their premises.

Today Judge Dineen refused to make the injunction permanent, ruling that if a golfer goes into the rough it's his privilege to go after his ball, even if on private property. However, the judge warned, the golfer is liable to civil action if he does any damage in retrieving his ball.

Mr. Pack Speaks His Mind About That Brown Jug

Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The refusal of Oscar Munson, custodian of the University of Minnesota's athletic equipment, to believe that the little brown jug discovered here Sunday night was the genuine trophy of Minnesota-Michigan football games brought a sharp retort from Phil Pack, Michigan publicity man, today.

"Minnesota has won only two games from Michigan since 1893, and our friend Oscar hasn't even seen the jug since 1929, when Minnesota turned it back, after having won it in 1927," Pack said. "There was no broken handle on the jug when Michigan got it back in 1929 and there is no broken handle now. The jug is now in the vault, and it won't come out of hiding until and if Minnesota beats Michigan. Mr. Munson, now a venerable gentleman, may not live to see it back in Minneapolis, and he will have to show a pass signed by President Roosevelt to get within ten feet of it until then."

All-Stars of Grid Clash Tomorrow

of athletics of the western conference, and a majority of the conference officials also were in attendance.

Noted Coaches Speak.

Those who spoke during yesterday's program were:

Glenn [Pop] Warner, Temple university, "Building Up an Offense."

Clark Shaughnessy, Chicago, "Forward Pass Offense."

Bernie Bierman, Minnesota, "Team Speed."

Howard Jones, Southern California, "Line Play."

Dick Hanley, Northwestern, "Suggested Improvements for Offense."

The coaches attended a dinner at the hotel at 6 o'clock last night at which Fielding H. Yost, director of athletics at Michigan, led in a discussion of football rules.

The coaches yesterday were intensely interested in the all-star game. Many expressed views for and against the special forward passing rule to be used in the game which permits the throwing of forward passes at any point behind the scrimmage line. The present college rule requires the passer to be at least five yards behind the line of scrimmage.

Some For, Some Against.

Several were inclined to believe that the passer will not have sufficient protection and time in which to spot the receivers. It also follows that the passer probably will not have the protection now afforded him under the five yard rule. The game tomorrow night will help settle the controversy.

Advance sale was announced yesterday at 15,000. The kickoff is scheduled for 8:30. In event of rain, the game will be played Saturday afternoon at Dyche stadium.

Yankees Buy Infielder from Baltimore Orioles

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Charles Knapp, president of the Baltimore club of the International Baseball league, announced today that Don Heffner, 22 year old second baseman on the local club, had been sold to the New York Yankees. The terms of the transaction were not made public, but the Baltimore Orioles were reported to have received a sizable amount of money and four players.

Miss Hicks' 83 Leads Stars at Beverly

Several of the entrants in the women's national golf championship next week at Exmoor played yesterday at Beverly in a tournament sponsored by the club in honor of Virginia Van Wie, national title holder.

Helen Hicks of Inwood, N. Y., was the life of the party in scoring with 44—39—83, five over par. The eastern star was paired with Van Wie, who had 45—42—87. In between were Rena Nelson, Exmoor, 43—42—85, and Mrs. H. Austin Pardue, Indian Hill, 46—40—86. Miss Lucille Robinson of Des Moines, who defeated Miss Van Wie in the women's western championship at Oak Park, had 42—46—88.

Miss Hicks started with three putts and was trapped at the second hole. On the other hand, Miss Van Wie had a birdie at the first, but was three over par at the second as the result of trap trouble.

Champion Gets Eagle.

The former champion had a birdie at the ninth, 429 yards, but Miss Van Wie had an eagle, her brassie second dropping a foot from the pin. Virginia thereafter was in a couple of traps and used an extra putt at the seventeenth green.

The cards:

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 22.—With business approaching a standstill at times, bond price movements were without definite direction today. Prime issues enjoyed a period of strength, but were as inactive as stocks.

Price changes in the railroad division were narrow, although there were some fairly sharp declines, and the industrial division was quiet. U. S. government issues were dull and firm.

Second grade bonds were inclined to softness, but the volume of business was so restricted that lack of interest in the market, instead of negative news, was apparently the influencing factor.

On a small turnover Consolidated Gas 5½s lost ground, but traders were not inclined to attribute this to the electric rate cut ruling of the public service commission so much as to the fact that bond traders in the dull market were looking for price concessions.

Foreign government issues also were irregular, with United Kingdom 5½s the most active and easing fractionally from the best levels. French 7s gained fractionally to 140 at one time and German 7s lost ½ a point to 72⅛ while Italian 7s at 97¼ were fractionally lower. Argentine 6s gained some ground.

INSURANCE CO. TAKES TITLE TO 232 E. WALTON

The ten story Newville apartments at 232 East Walton place have been taken back by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company in lieu of foreclosure, to satisfy a $525,000 mortgage on which interest payments were defaulted Aug. 1, 1932. Title was conveyed by the 232 East Walton Place Building corporation, of which George B. Harrington is president, to the insurance company by quitclaim deed. Follansbee, Schorey & Schupp were attorneys.

Title to the sixteen story 210 East Pearson street building was conveyed yesterday by George W. Bodmer and wife, Carolina, to the American National Bank and Trust company, trustee. This was a step in a reorganization which will be effected by means of a liquidation trust. This was a Metropolitan Securities company bond issue.

Youngstown Sheet and Tube.

Investors' Guide: I would appreciate it very much if you would send me your report on Youngstown Sheet and Tube.—S. D. J.

Answer: Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, a fully integrated steel producer, ranks as the fifth largest steel company in the country. Finishing capacity amounts to about 2,575,000 tons, of which 1,495,000 tons is accounted for by production of pipe. The remainder is practically all bars, most of which go to the automobile industry.

Dependence on the oil and gas industries, which are the largest consumers of pipe, prevents much diversification of output, such as is usually found in large steel companies. Pipes and steel for automobile manufacturers normally account for about 60 per cent of total output.

There was an abnormal demand for pipe for natural gas and oil through 1930. Youngstown got its share of the business, but other concerns, such as A. O. Smith, Republic Steel, National Tube, and others, were enabled to get a stronger foothold in the field. They now offer increased competition.

General business pickup since the banking crisis last March enabled the company to finish the second quarter of 1933 with net loss of $2,208,000, against loss of $3,473,000 for the first quarter and loss of $6,347,000 for the first half of 1932.

Sales of $31,739,000 for 1932 were about half of 1931 sales, and compared with $111,058,000 for 1930 and $161,628,000 for 1929. Loss in 1932 totaled $13,273,000, against loss of $7,041,000 in 1931. Previously the company had reported profits each year since 1921. Profit in 1930 was $7,036,000, or $5.17 per common share, against $17.28 per common share for 1929.

At the close of 1932 cash assets alone of more than $14,000,000 compared with total current liabilities of $4,279,000.

Funded debt, due 1970 and 1978, amounts to $89,967,000. There are outstanding 150,000 shares of $100 par 5½ per cent preferred and 1,200,000 shares of no par common. Nothing has been paid on the preferred since April 1, 1932.

Both the preferred and common are speculative.

Deflation.

Investors' Guide: If the dollar is deflated what will be the result on government bonds?—P. S.

Since deflation of the dollar is merely another way of implying that the purchasing power of each dollar would be decreased, holders of government bonds would not be benefited by deflation. The interest received on their holdings would be the same as before, measured in terms of dollars, but each dollar would purchase less.

SECURITIES ACT IS BOOMERANG TO INVESTORS

Good Issues Barred; Gyp Artists Profit.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

The federal securities act of 1933, passed at the special session of congress to protect investors, is rapidly turning out to be a boomerang.

The results to date have been the bootlegging of securities, constriction of credit for legitimate purposes, and the blocking of certain payments to investors.

Fearful of new and strange penalties, bankers whose job it is to keep credit flowing are sitting on their hands, while gyp artists continue to ply their trade.

The bank and the reputable investment house, with capital and reputation at stake, dare not risk excursions into the unknown and unexplored mazes of the securities act, but the high pressure artist with nothing to risk rushes into the breach with his offerings, as he has done in the past.

Block German Payments.

The latest hardship suffered by investors as a result of the provisions of the new law is the blocking of payments to American holders of German bonds.

American bankers representing these holders of German bonds are holding a series of meetings this week at the federal reserve bank in New York trying to find a way by which Americans can receive payments, but to date they have been unsuccessful.

After threatening a complete moratorium until the end of the year, Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the reich bank, announced last month a plan whereby interest on German external bonds would be paid 50 per cent in cash and 50 per cent in scrip issued by the "Konversionskasse," a bank set up for the purpose. The German government promised to make a market for this scrip, and the proceeds can be used in payment of goods bought in Germany for export.

Should Get 75 Per Cent Cash.

The net result of this plan, according to the Chicago bankers, will be that holders of German bonds having interest payments due them during the rest of this year should get approximately 75 per cent cash.

German, Swiss, French, and English holders of such bonds are ready to receive payment, but payments to American holders are blocked by the provisions of the new securities act. Attorneys for the fiscal agents in this country have announced that under the provisions of the new law the scrip constitutes a new offering and as such would have to be qualified with the federal trade commission.

American bankers acting as fiscal agents say they cannot take the risk of guaranteeing all the information concerning the scrip given out by the Germans. They say they would be civilly and criminally liable under the law if they assumed the responsibility.

The German bonds in question are those of municipalities and private corporations. The bonds of the Dawes and Young issues are not affected.

Funds Piling Up.

Already funds for American holders of German bonds are accumulating behind the barrier. On Aug. 1 interest was due on the city of Munich 6 per cent gold loan of 1927. No way has been found to get this money to American investors.

As for the gyp artists, these gentry continue to operate despite the efforts of the state and federal authorities. To the bond department on one large Chicago bank yesterday came a widow with a list of $100,000 of various stocks that she had purchased through a dealer who had overcharged her.

Meanwhile the securities business in the United States has practically dried up. A few municipal issues are being sold, but corporate and railroad financing has stopped almost entirely. Quite a few stocks, notably brewery issues, were put out prior to the effective date of the new securities act on July 27, but since then there have been no offerings.

Can't Assume All Liability.

Directors and officers of big corporations which need credit cannot jeopardize their liberty and their fortunes by assuming all the liability demanded in the act.

This leaves two alternatives for their companies when it becomes necessary to do financing—either go to the Reconstruction Finance corporation for a handout or go into receivership.

Vast amounts of corporate bonds will mature during the next two or three years. When they mature new bonds must be sold. Unless they can be sold the companies may wind up in the sheriff's hands whether they are fundamentally sound or not.

That is why there is so much anxiety at present in investment banking circles and why, already, a movement is growing to implore congress to amend the rigorous new law—a law which seems to presuppose that all financing is crooked and that the way to stop crookedness is to stop financing.

Cities in East Finance Easier than in West

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The part which geographical position, reputation, proximity to money markets and possibly prejudice play in arranging municipal financing is discernible in the financing experience of cities located in widely separated sections of the country. Generally, the east has the edge over the west in the matter of advantageous terms, according to authorities on municipal finance in La Salle street.

An example in which some of the above mentioned factors were at work was cited in the experiences of two cities, which recently placed small bond issues on the market. The same financial house handled both issues.

One of the cities was Newburgh, N. Y., 60 miles from New York City, and the other was St. Joseph, Mo., 63 miles from Kansas City.

East Gets Better Rates.

Newburgh's issue consisted of $296,000 of 4 per cent bonds maturing from 1934 to 1953. That of St. Joseph consisted of $120,000 of 4½ per cent bonds due from 1938 to 1953. The Newburgh bonds were sold on a basis yielding from 2 per cent in 1934 to 3.80 per cent in 1953, while the St. Joseph bonds were sold on a basis yielding from 3.75 per cent in 1938—the first maturity—to 4 per cent in 1953.

While the near maturities might be expected to sell at a lower yield basis than the more distant ones, the Newburgh maturity in 1938 was sold on a basis to yield 3.50 per cent, while the St. Joseph 1938 maturity was sold to yield 3.75 per cent. In all subsequent maturities the eastern city gets off easier in the amount of interest it must pay than does the western city.

Status of Cities Compared.

Newburgh, population [1930], 31,240; assessed valuation, $41,105,000; net debt, including the new issue, $2,320,015; the new bonds issued for various municipal purposes. Newburgh was incorporated as a city in 1865 and is described as a manufacturing community.

St. Joseph, population [1930], 80,944; estimated value of all property, $87,390,251; assessed valuation, $67,223,270; net debt, $3,949,823. In addition the school district debt as of June 1, 1932, was $2,567,000. St. Joseph is reported as having an especially good record with regards to tax collections. Tax delinquency even in depression years has been negligible. Further, both the city government and the school district have operated well within their revenues, closing the last three fiscal years with substantial balances. The new bonds were issued to refund a like amount.

Sees St. Joseph Penalized.

One authority on municipals stated that the record made by St. Joseph with regard to its finances has been exceptional and in view of this the city should be able to borrow money on as favorable terms at least as the eastern city.

"The east always gets the edge," he remarked, "whether deserved or not."

It was pointed out, however, that a large part of municipal loans is made by eastern interests and naturally they will be more favorably disposed towards cities with which they are acquainted than toward the more distant municipalities. Further, many of the large buyers of municipals—such as insurance companies—are located in th east. Purchasers are more disposed to buy the securities of cities with which they are acquainted.

DOLLAR GAINS SMALL FRACTION IN DULL TRADING

New York, Aug. 22.—(AP)—The American dollar was moderately firm today in extremely quiet foreign exchange trading. Dealers said the market was unusually thin, but that there were no signs of rumored "stabilization" of dollar rates.

In gold value the dollar closed at 73.37 cents, compared with 73.20 yesterday.

The British pound sterling sagged 1½ cents at $4.49½ for cables, the French franc eased 1¼ points to 5.34 cents, Dutch guilders were off one-fifth of a cent at 55.05 cents, and Swiss francs, Belgian belgas, the Scandinavians, Canadian dollars and far eastern currencies were a trifle lower.

ROW AT ARMOUR MEETING OVER STOCK CHANGE

Adjourn to Sept. 1 After Clashes.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The rafters of the Armour & Co. gymnasium in the Union Stock yards rang with protest of minority stockholders yesterday as President T. George Lee forced through a motion adjourning until Sept. 1 the special meeting called to ratify the management's capital reorganization plan.

T. GEORGE LEE. [Assoc. Press Photo.]

Adjournment came as the climax to a disorderly meeting marked by acrimonious bickering between the chair and protesting stockholders over the merits of the proposed reorganization. A majority of the 350 stockholders present at the meeting were outspoken in their objections.

New Plan Barely Fails.

The management failed by a slim margin to muster two-thirds of the outstanding shares necessary to ratify the proposed reorganization. The adjournment was taken for the avowed purpose of giving the holders of the 35 per cent of the stock not represented at the meeting a chance to express their views.

A rump session of stockholders was held by those opposed to the recapitalization during the recess of the regular meeting. The regular meeting was first called to order by President Lee at 11 a. m. and recessed a few minutes later until 2 p. m. to give the secretary a chance to tally the proxies.

Loud protests arose from the floor when Lee gaveled through the motion ordering the recess. Charges that the management was attempting to choke off discussion of the plan were voiced by several stockholders.

Stockholders Protest.

"This is not meat matter, but a pure skinning in high finance," cried Gustav H. Hansen, a retired Milwaukee butcher, in registering his disapproval of the method of procedure. The recess was ordered, however, despite the noisy protests, with Philip H. Reed, secretary of the company and chairman of the proxy committee, voting 2,850,000 shares in favor of the recess motion. Reed's voting of the proxy committee's holding also brought objections, but they were of no avail.

It was when the recess was gaveled through that the rump session was organized. The moving spirits were M. W. Borders, formerly an Armour director and one time counsel for Morris & Co., and Charles F. Tuttle, New York, chairman of a "stockholders protective committee." Tuttle was represented by his attorney, John L. Kraus II.

The organizers of the rump session claimed they held proxies representing approximately 350,000 shares of stock. They declared that they would hold out against the plan and if it was put through without their consent they would demand that company buy in their stock for cash.

Meeting in Disorder.

The rump session was conducted with even less order than the regular meeting. Attempts were made to perfect some organization among the minority stockholders with only moderate success. The objectors signed their names to a formal protest and declared their intention to get together later.

When the regular meeting was called to order again a motion to adjourn until Sept. 1 was made immediately by I. M. Hoagland, vice president of Armour. Attorney Borders countered with an amendment to the motion that the meeting be recessed for 60 days to give stockholders a chance to find out what "their rights were." The amendment was voted down and the management's proposal for 10 day adjournment was carried by a large majority.

In a formal statement issued after the meeting President Lee said that the proxy committee had approximately 65 per cent of the outstanding stock in their hands committed in favor of the plan. To ratify 66 2-3 of the stock is necessary.

There are 4,572,313 shares of combined preferred, class A and class B stock out. The management now holds approximately 2,850,000 shares or less than the 3,048,208 necessary two-thirds.

Big Grain 'Co-op' Has Loss as U. S. Cuts Off Wheat Fees

BY PAUL POTTER.

Deprived of the fat commissions on millions of bushels of grain bought and sold for the federal government during its grain stabilization activities under the farm board, the Farmers' National Grain corporation operated at a loss of about a half million dollars during the year ended May 31. This was disclosed yesterday by George S. Milnor, general manager, at the fourth annual meeting of the 27 grain cooperative stockholders at the Palmer house yesterday.

Despite this loss, Milnor asserted that the corporation, which was created by the farm board with a capitalization of $20,000,000 and which has never been obliged to pay more than 2½ per cent for its borrowings from the federal treasury, is still solvent.

Still Has Million Balance.

He said there was a favorable balance of nearly $1,000,000 remaining from the profits of previous years, when it was the sole agency for stabilization trades totaling nearly 200,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Milnor pointed out that the corporation handled a total of 160,754,732 bushels of grain during the fiscal year 1932-1933. Unprofitable branches that have been closed, plus storage space and salary reductions of 10 to 40 per cent, were said to have been made to improve its financial position for the current fiscal year. Although a detailed report of the financial condition was printed by Walter I. Beam, treasurer, for the stockholders, none was permitted to become public.

The corporation still owes the nation's taxpayers more than $16,000,000, which debt was funded before the farm board came under Democratic control, for a period of ten years at the interest rate of one-eighth of 1 per cent.

The corporation throughout its existence has been permitted to charge its borrowers 6 per cent on funds obtained from the government at less than 3 per cent.

C. E. Huff, former Kansas pastor, who has served as president of the corporation nearly three years, pointed out adverse business conditions under which the corporation had labored during the year. He pointed out the loss of trading privileges on the Chicago Board of Trade when its subsidiary corporation, the Updike Grain company, was taken from the clearing house association of the exchange, and that the corporation itself had been denied such a membership. This denial, by rules of the clearing house association, was made because the corporation refused to submit its financial statements, as do member grain firms.

Huff Reelected President.

Huff was reelected president of the corporation in a meeting of the new board of directors last night following the stockholders' meeting. W. H. Settle, Indianapolis, was elected first vice president. Milnor vice president and general manager, and Beam vice president and treasurer. Lyle Hague was reelected secretary. New directors elected included L. J. Taber, Columbus, O., pastor of the National grange, and L. T. Mayhugh, Running Water, Tex.

In a bitter denunciation of the present methods of distributing grain, Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, told the stockholders that "present channels of distribution have failed to provide the farmer with a steady, dependable market."

GRAIN PRICES PUSH FORWARD IN QUIET TRADE

Wheat Up Fraction; Rye Rises Limit.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The grain markets yesterday gave signs of reflecting what the trade regards as a strong domestic situation. Prices moved slowly upward after a small early decline and the upturn did not culminate until December wheat had sold at 93¼ cents, or 2⅞ cents above the inside figure made shortly after the opening.

Rye surprised the trade by advancing 5 cents, the maximum amount permitted under the exchange regulations, and maintained the greater part of the bulge.

Profit taking caused a recession in other grains from the extreme top, but wheat finished ⅝ to ¾ cent higher; oats were up ½ to ⅝ cent; rye, 4½ to 4⅞ cents, and barley, 1¼ to 2 cents. On the other hand, corn was ⅜ to ½ cent lower.

Closing Prices Shown.

September wheat was selling at 88⅜ to 88½ cents at the close and December was 91¾ to 91⅞ cents. September corn was 52⅜ cents and December, 57 to 57⅛ cents. December oats finished at 40¼ cents; Decem-

I-C Bank to Open Monday; Gets Capital

The I. C. Bank and Trust company, 53d street and Lake Park avenue, will reopen for business Monday morning after being closed since the beginning of the national bank moratorium last March.

Approximately half, or $150,000, of the bank's deposits will be made available by the opening, the remaining funds being temporarily waived by depositors.

Reorganized After Receivership.

It is the first state bank to be reorganized after being in receivership, it was said. The bank has been in receivership since April 28.

The capital of the bank is being reduced from $300,000 to $200,000. This was effected by the surrender by shareholders of one-third of their stock, which is being canceled. In addition the stockholders donated another one-third of their stock, which is being sold. This sale will bring $100,000 of new money, which is $20,000 in excess of the amount required by the state auditor, officials said.

New Stock Subscribed.

Approximately 98 per cent of the new stock was taken by present stockholders and directors. The directors furnished 76 per cent of the new cash and the stockholders 22 per cent. The remaining 2 per cent was advanced by depositors. It was stated that 90 per cent of the depositors with accounts of $100 or more had agreed to the deposit waiver, which cuts the demand deposit liabilities in half.

Jay W. Hays will continue as president of the new bank. Lawrence Klein, a former director, will return to the board.

STOCKS HIGHER ON BUYING WAVE IN FINAL HOUR

Motors, Rails Lead Upward Move.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 22.—Interest in the stock market was again largely professional today. The weight of opinion likewise was once more on the long side, but commitments betrayed a great deal of caution, and few issues got more than a point or so above their previous closing levels. Turnover at 1,960,000 shares was somewhat better than that of yesterday.

On the whole the market followed pretty much the same pattern as that of yesterday. The tendency up to the final hour was mainly to drift. Then the strong arm squad got busy and polished off things, enabling the list to go into the overnight record looking like it had really tried to do something.

Chrysler at New High.

Among the groups motors were again well liked, with Chrysler and General Motors vying for leadership. Dealings in the last named stock accounted for almost 10 per cent of the market's total, while Chrysler went to a new high on heavy turnover under the spur of official optimism. A higher up of the corporation got into the Europe to Cut Duty if Own Crop Is Protected.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Unlike every other international get-together that has met in London, the world wheat conference, reassembled under the chairmanship of the Canadian prime minister, R. B. Bennett, has not yet developed an acute attack of "crisis-

Work today was devoted to committee considerations of the price at which importing nations are willing to lower tariffs and to possibilities for establishing a permanent world wheat headquarters. The technical committee debated the first question and the advisory committee the second. Considerable progress was reported by the latter committee.

Cut Tariff if Price Rises.

Importers who are trying to foster home production, which costs much more than the world price of wheat, have heretofore enabled their own farmers to raise grain at a profit through tariffs. They are willing to lower these walls as the world price climbs toward their own production costs.

The committee also was concerned with what the prosperity price level should be and under what terms it will be stated. The conference is generally leaning toward a gold unit per bushel. There is a further snag because importers want the prosperity price to be maintained for six months before they let down barriers, whereas the exporters are urging that three months are ample.

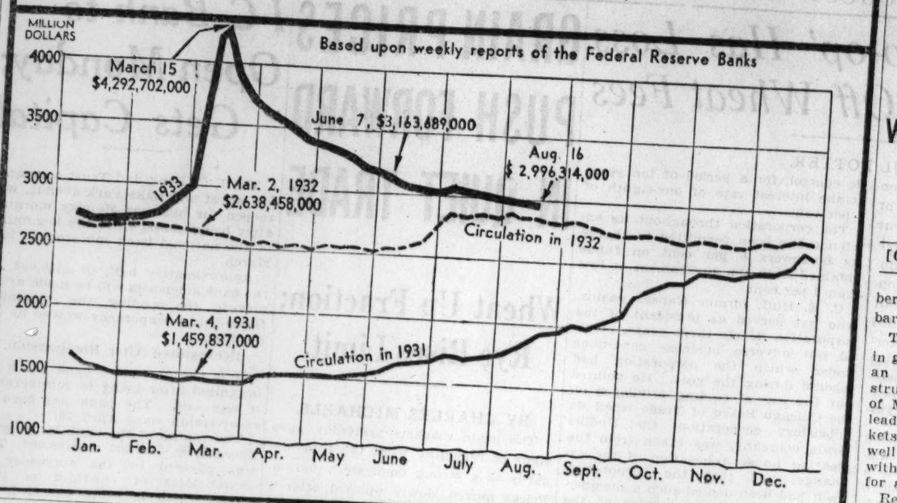
Whichever side wins the importers will agree, if the conference is successful, to lower their tariffs after the world wheat price has reached an agreed level and remained there for a stated interval.

Expect Replies to Plan.

Both committees will sit again tomorrow morning. In the afternoon they are expected to have their reports ready for the plenary session of the conference. At the same time most of the delegates of the 31 countries represented are expected to have their instructions on the draft text formally issued yesterday to the conference by the "big four" producers—the United States, Canada, Argentina, and Australia.

With the exception of a few minor alterations this draft has been in the hands of all governments for the last fortnight. F. E. Murphy, head of the American delegation, is optimistic that most of the governments will have their answers ready and that many of the delegates sent here merely as observers will tomorrow hold greater power.

FEDERAL RESERVE NOTES IN CIRCULATION



ROOSEVELT PICKS AID TO TRY OIL CONTROL CASES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—(AP)—J. Howard Marshall of the interior department today was appointed a special assistant to the attorney general in charge of oil cases as part of the federal government's effort to control petroleum production.

Marshall was named as the interior department prepared to bring action in the federal court in east Texas against some operators believed to have violated recent federal orders prohibiting interstate shipment of crude oil or its products produced in violation of state laws and regulations.

For some weeks Marshall has been in the east Texas and Oklahoma City oil fields surveying conditions and compiling information for use in prosecuting violators. His new appointment was recommended by Secretary Ickes to enable him to sit in for the prosecution in federal courts in the oil areas. Marshall formerly was attached to the Yale school of law.

Pending the formal filing of informations in the east Texas federal court interior department officials declined to disclose the names of persons against whom its charges will be brought. The recent oil shipment prohibitory order provides a $1,000 fine and 6 months in jail for each violation.

BUTTER TRADING SO FAR EXCEEDS ALL LAST YEAR'S

Sale of 261 cars of butter futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday carried the total trading for the year to 21,213 cars, nearly 200 cars above the 12 months total of 1932. The sales have more than doubled the volume in the same period last year.

In 1930, the year in which butter trading was heaviest on the exchange, sales at the end of August were 19,270 cars. The heavy commitments in the November and December deliveries would indicate that this year's sales should break the 1930 record.

Egg sales to date are 23,567 cars, 4,500 cars less than the total for 1932. The total should be passed before the middle of September.

OIL OUTPUT OFF 23,100 BARRELS A DAY FOR WEEK

New York, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Daily average gross crude oil production in the United States decreased 23,100 barrels in the week ended Aug. 19, totaling 2,766,500 barrels, the American Petroleum institute's weekly summary indicates. Daily average production east of California decreased 21,200 barrels to 2,261,300 barrels.

Refineries operated at 75.2 per cent of capacity and reported daily average runs of crude oil to stills as 2,488,000 barrels. In the preceding week refineries operated at 70.7 per cent of capacity and ran 2,339,000 barrels a day. Daily average output of cracked gasoline was 487,000 barrels, compared with 473,000 barrels in the preceding week.

RUSSIAN REPORT OF GOOD WHEAT CROP DOUBTED

Recent official advices from Russia, according to Broomhall's Review, reported good crops being harvested, but the rigid censorship now in force, restricting the movement of foreign correspondents through many rural districts of Russia, causes doubt as to the veracity of these reports.

Newspapers yesterday carried reports of famine in the Ukraine and North Caucasus. Private reports recently declared the quality of winter wheat disappointing. About one-third of the acreage is winter wheat.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—The Tennessee Valley Authority filed a protest with the federal power commission today to the granting of a license to the Southern Industries and Utilities, Inc., to proceed with the construction of a power project on the Tennessee river between the mouth of river and a point 73 miles southwest, near the town of Aurora in Marshall county, Ky. The power company has applied for an operating permit of 50 years. The estimated cost of the project is about $35,000,000.

The Tennessee valley authority opposes the project on the ground that it conflicts with the Tennessee river program of the government, the authority taking the position that congress, when it passed the Muscle Shoals act, intended that the Tennessee Valley Authority, being charged with the public's interest, should have exclusive jurisdiction in all future developments on the Tennessee river and its tributaries.

The power commission will set an early date for a hearing on the protest. It is the first test of the authority's opposition to further exploitation of water power in the Tennessee valley pending the working out of a definite conservation policy.

PARLEY SEEKS OUTLET FOR N.W. WHEAT SURPLUS

Portland, Ore., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Federal officials, wheat producers, exporters and millers sought some form of agreement today through which a 40,000,000 bushel wheat surplus can be lifted from the Pacific northwest through subsidized exportation.

It was expected a definite working plan would be developed soon and submitted to the secretary of agriculture for approval. Later it would be offered to growers and dealers at a meeting here.

At least two separate proposals were before the executive committee, and it was believed the three members of the federal agricultural adjustment administration who are conducting the hearing, have a third plan which may be submitted should there be a deadlock on the other two.

The exporters suggested a flat bounty to be paid the producer from money derived from the processing tax equal to the difference between the domestic price and the lower foreign market price.

Producers asked for a "pool" plan, although it was described as a "consortium." Under this proposal all northwest grain would be grouped and sold as markets can be found, in either foreign or domestic trade.

NATIONAL TEA CO. SALES INCREASE OVER YEAR AGO

A gain of $32,949, or .70 per cent, in consolidated sales was shown by the National Tea company for the four weeks ending Aug. 12, it was announced yesterday. Sales for the period amounted to $4,731,997, against $4,698,048 for the corresponding four weeks in 1932.

For the thirty-two weeks ending Aug. 12 sales were $38,863,378, compared with $41,502,283 for the same period of 1932, a decrease of 6.36 per cent. The number of stores in operation declined 9 per cent from 1,449 to 1,319 as of Aug. 12, 1933.

PROCTER, GAMBLE RAISE HOURLY PAY 10% AS OF AUG. 1

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 22.—(AP)—The Procter and Gamble company today announced an increase of 10 per cent, retroactive to Aug. 1, in the hourly wage paid employés in its plants throughout the country. Approximately 10,000 employés paid by the hour are affected, an announcement said.

The increase was given because of increasing living costs, and because of uncertainty as to when an NRA code for the soap industry will be approved. Any adjustments necessary under that code, it was said, will be made retroactively also.

FLOUR ADVANCES AT MINNEAPOLIS WITH NEW TRADE

Flour prices in Minneapolis were advanced 5 to 15 cents Monday, as demand for family patents increased and new business came into the market. A greater volume of shipping instructions is being received by mills.

Fancy family patent remained unchanged at $7.35, but family patent advanced 10 cents to $6.25 to $6.35. Graham standard was quoted at $6 to $6.10, an advance of 10 cents, and pure white rye at $4.55 to $4.65, up 15 cents. Heavier mill feeds continue in fair demand.

Philadelphia Rapid Transit Restores Employes' Pay Cut

Philadelphia, Aug. 22.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Rapid Transit company today announced ten thousand employés are to be given wage increases of 8 1-3 per cent beginning Sept. 1. The increase will add $800,000 to the annual pay roll and means that the basic wage of trainmen will be raised from 60 to 65 cents an hour, the company stated. Last April 15 the pay of trainmen was cut to 60 cents from 65 cents.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw, was firmer today and prices ⅛ cent higher to the basis of 3.56c for spots. At this level an outport refiner bought 13,500 bags of Philippine for August-September shipment, and despite the advance offerings continued light with holders inclined to hold back and await the outcome of the allotment plan. Futures firmed up in sympathy with the higher spot market with final prices 4 to 6 points net higher. Sales were 29,800 tons. Prices rallied 4 to 6 points from the early levels and closed at about the best of the session. Prices follow:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	close.	Prev.
September	1.38	1.43	1.38	1.43	1.39
December	1.48	1.53	1.48	1.53	1.48
January	1.51	1.56	1.51	1.56	1.48

July	1.69	1.73	1.69	1.73	1.68

In refined there were only moderate withdrawals, while new business was light and supplied through second hands. Prices were listed at 4.70 by refiners, with second hands quoted around 4.50c.

HIDE FUTURES.

Interest in hide futures in New York was limited, with sales of 240,000 lbs. Prices were 10 points lower to 20 points higher. Closing bids: September, 12.40c; December, 12.40c; March, 12.65c; June, 12.85c.

GRAIN PRICES PUSH FORWARD IN QUIET TRADE

Wheat Gains Fractionally —Rye Rises Limit.

The aggregate speculative business in grains was not large, but there was an absence of what the trade construed as the hysterical fluctuations of Monday. The head of one of the leading houses asserted that the markets appeared to have become fairly well stabilized, and likely to fluctuate within comparatively narrow limits for a while.

Reports from the London wheat conference were regarded as more like a discussion of world's politics than a meeting of grain experts. The belief was expressed that statutory law has temporarily displaced economic law as a price controlling factor.

Millers Buy Wheat and Rye.

Millers were credited with having been fair buyers of both wheat and rye futures. Millers were said to have been forced to draw on terminal markets for supplies of winter wheat, owing to the limited movement in the southwest. The two northwestern spring wheat markets received 859,000 bushels yesterday out of total arrival at the 13 "primary points" of 1,003,000 bushels.

At Kansas City No. 2 hard winter was quoted at ½ cent over the September future, while at interior Kansas markets premiums of 2 to 3 cents over September were paid. Only 25 cars were reported as having been received at the four leading southwestern points from country shippers.

The tremendous loss in supplies of wheat and other grains in North America, coupled with decreased acreage and a poor start for the new crops in Argentine and Australia, has changed the entire picture of the grain markets recently according to the Bartlett Frazier company.

Brokers Analyze Conditions.

In a summary of conditions the firm expressed the belief that at the present stage of world economic recovery the question of supply and stocks is not the basis of price determination. The demand factor, it is said, has more weight in determining future prices than supply. It is not so visible as statistics on stocks, but it will continue to exert upward pressure upon the price structure.

"The demand for staple foods during the last three years, it is claimed, has been upon a depression basis governed by enforced economics of the world population and with an absolute minimum of use by that large part of the population entirely without current income.

Predicts Higher Prices.

"To believe now that price recovery has reached its limit it is necessary to believe that not only the American program but the world recovery already under way is due to collapse," said the statement. "Prices have responded in some part to the change in prospective grain supplies, but the full effect of demand is yet to be experienced.

"What has already been accomplished in the way of business revival will be felt in cumulative measure in the immediate future through steadied and continued upward price trend in farm and food products."

Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade had a short meeting yesterday afternoon but no important business transpired. It is said that work on the code is progressing, but there are so many angles to be considered that it will take considerable time. Nothing was done in the way of changing the regulation regarding price fluctuations.

STOCKS ADVANCE ON BUYING WAVE IN FINAL HOUR

Motors and Rails Lead Upward Move.

morning newspaper headlines by predicting that a 4,000,000 car year probably is not far distant. Nash moved up a peg behind the leaders and Auburn attracted something of a following.

Excellent July earnings statements by the Union Pacific and the Norfolk and Western, coupled with the indication of further improvement in the car loadings figures next Saturday, encouraged the rails, and Atchison, New York Central, and Union Pacific did better than the mill run.

Rubbers Aided by Price Rise.

Something of the same sort of stimulant was enjoyed by the rubbers under the label of ballyhoo predictions of another impending rise in tire prices. Some of the biggest dealers of the country are shaving the boosts they tagged on their wares a couple of months ago—the cuts being made as usual in the form of "liberal allowances" for trade-in tires—but the dope never seems to work when the market is showing any sort of a disposition to go forward. Gains in the group, however, were mainly fractional.

Copper shares were rather soft for the most part, although some of the companies confess they will be able to make a living under the code.

News of the government's determination to subsidize the meat packing industry from the live stock producer up to [but not including] the consumer provoked some buying of packing shares for a while, but the end found the group muddling along with the rest.

Liquor Issues Irregular.

Liquor shares were mixed most of the time, with considerable profit taking from yesterday's runup in evidence at intervals. National Distillers was sluggish and closed unchanged.

Merchandise issues met with some demand, and the utilities held firm in spite of the rate cuts blowing their way.

Sporadic activity again occurred in the amusement share group. Some traders think the movie companies are going to be cut in on that "added buying power" which the NRA program is supposed to bring very early in the deal.

In the absence of any definite news to account for it some observers thought the final hour runup was due to reports of an aggressive credit inflation drive which the federal reserve banks are supposed to be starting through the heavy purchases of government bonds. According to the reports the buying of governments is meant as an answer to the agitation for currency inflation or dollar debasement without further delay.

EASTMAN KODAK EARNINGS GAIN OVER LAST YEAR

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Net profits of $4,148,624 for the 24 weeks ending June 17, 1933, were reported today by the Eastman Kodak company. This represents an increase of $617,009 over profits for the same period last year.

The net profit for the 1933 period is equivalent, after allowing for preferred dividends to $7.84 a share on common stock, as compared with $1.57 for the 1932 period.

In a letter to stockholders, William G. Stuber, president of the company, explained the increased profits were due to economies in operation and improvement in returns of foreign subsidiaries "attributable in large part to appreciation of foreign currencies in relation to dollar exchange."

Gross profit for the 1933 period, before allowing for depreciation and income taxes was $7,852,752. In 1932 the gross profit for the same period was $7,122,234. This year $2,711,739 was charged off for depreciation and $772,389 for United States and foreign income taxes. Last year the depreciation charge was $2,667,332 and income taxes $723,292.

GENERAL MOTORS SUED ON PATENT BY BUDD WHEEL

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 22.—(AP)—The General Motors corporation and three subsidiaries today were named defendants in a patent suit filed in the federal court by the Budd Wheel company. Besides General Motors, the defendants are Buick Motor company, the Olds Motor Works, and Buick-Olds-Pontiac Sales company.

The defendant concerns are accused in the petition of obtaining data on the new, so-called "artillery wheel" made by the Budd company, and in turn using the technical data to manufacture their own wheels. The court is asked to issue an injunction restraining the defendant companies from continuing the asserted violation of the Budd patents. The court also is petitioned to award decrees for damages and profits.

Estimates Sales of Autos Around 1,500,000 for '33

Sales of new automobiles for 1933 should approximate 1,500,000 units, according to an analysis by the Chrysler corporation. This total would be about half way between the totals for 1932 and 1931.

HEAVY HOGS RISE DESPITE TAX TO AID LIGHT KINDS

The hog market showed some uncertainty early yesterday when prices ruled lower in top classes, but strength cropped up later, and the close was fully steady to as much as 5 cents higher than the average of the preceding session. Most of the late strength came in the weighty butchers and sows that have had the hardest sledding the last three weeks.

There was not much pressure from either side of the trade, both buyers and sellers apparently being willing to mark time. News was rather mixed, but inclined toward bullishness in most instances, the trade agreed, particularly the late reports from grain and hog products markets. Opening sluggish and weak to 5 cents lower, the hog market gradually strengthened and more than recovered the earlier losses in the 250 pound averages and heavier swine, the upturn in lard having a favorable effect on the big type at the close. Light finished active at early prices.

Top Price 5 Cents Lower.

Top sales of 180 to 225 pound hogs were made at $4.60, or 5 cents under the highest mark Monday. The general average remained unchanged at $3.90. Butchers averaging 300 to 408 pounds sold late at $3.30 to $3.90, while bulk of the 275 to 550 pound packing sows cashed at $2.90 to $3.45.

Owing to the government's plan to pay $6 to $9.50 per cwt for 25 to 100 pound pigs, which is to be inaugurated today, there were practically none of these kinds offered on the market yesterday. The commercial value of most extremely light pigs is only $2.50 to $3.25 per cwt, according to packers.

To reach the goal of 4,000,000, it will be necessary for the government to have pigs slaughtered for them at the rate of about 117,500 head a day over the entire country between now and Oct. 1. Hog receipts are running lighter this week, and the general movement is behind July and also under the June receipts. During the first 22 days of this month Chicago handled a total of 387,000 hogs. This compared with 449,000 for the first 22 days of July and with 497,000 two months ago.

Cattle Steady Under Pressure.

Cattle receipts overran the estimates yesterday, but the market maintained a mostly steady price basis and finished in a stronger position than on the previous day's close. Some early weakness in long-fed stock, which comprised the bulk of the crop on the market, vanished later. Most action was found in the cattle averaging under 1,000 pounds at $5.50 and below, some at this price looking "high" when compared to long-fed steers that had to go at $8 to $8.50.

Comparatively little was of the class eligible to more than $6.75. One consignment of 1,431 pound steers topped the market at $7.30 to Swift. Butcher stock made up a small part of the receipts and sold fully steady.

Lambs were plentiful again yesterday and sold steady to 25 cents lower, but fairly decent action featured the closing rounds in westerns. A scattering of natives to packers topped the market at $7.50. Bulk of both natives and westerns sold at $7.25 and below.

FEDERAL BUYING OF HOGS SPURS PROVISION MARKET

Provision traders regarded the movement on the part of the government to inaugurate its purchasing of hogs, beginning today, as a good factor and more disposition to buy futures resulted in a fairly good trade, with net gains of 12½ to 15 cents on the active futures in lard that were traded in and an advance of 5 to 7½ cents on bellies futures. Cash lard was up 20 cents to $5.62½ for regular; leaf advanced 12½ cents to $4.87½; loose also moved up 12½ cents to $4.92½. Cash bellies were $6.42. Prices follow:
